Congressional Committees Hit By Court Ruling

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled today that Congressional committees have no authority to compel witnesses to expose former Communists simply for the sake of exposure.

Dividing 2-1, the court voided the contempt of Congress conviction of John T. Watkins, Rock Island, Ill., labor leader. In an appearance before the House Un-American Activities Committee, he had refused to say whether certain fellow union members with whom he associated between 1942 and 1947 were Communists.

The court held such questions could be asked only in pursuit of a valid legislative purpose—that is, with a view to proposing remedial legislation—and it found no such purpose.

Decision Could Be Upset

The decision, unless appealed and overturned by the Supreme Court, would hit hardest the Un-American Activities Committee and the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

These committees often demand that witnesses name past Communist associates no matter how long ago.

The appeals court majority said that since Congress has no powers of law enforcement it would have no power, in the absence of a valid legislative purpose, "to expose former Communists, even if there were a law requiring that former Communists be exposed."

The dissenting judge said the decision "puts us in the position of a court of appeals over Congress and its committees ... and limiting the scope of such inquiries to what this court thinks that scope should be."

Watkins Helped Reds

Watkins was formerly connected with the Farm Equipment Workers Union. The House committee questioned him in April 1954 as to the presence of Communists in the union between 1942 and 1947.

Watkins testified he had never been a card-carrying Communist but that he had cooperated with Communists and participated in Communist activity. He refused to identify former Communist associates.

Watkins was convicted by U.S. District Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy in May, 1955. He was fined $500 and given a year's suspended jail sentence.

Ike Demos May Be Barred From 'Bama Primary

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 26 (AP)—Democrats who voted for President Eisenhower in 1952 may be barred from running as candidates in the party primaries in Alabama again this year.

The State Democratic Executive Committee meets at Montgomery Saturday to adopt ground rules for the May 1 primary and the runoff May 29, and high-ranking party leaders propose to reach back four years in writing the 1956 loyalty oath.

One committee officer who would not be quoted by name said a resolution reportedly backed by Chairman Roy Mayhall of Jasper will be introduced to compel candidates to sign a pledge that they did not oppose the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket in 1952.

GOP Polled Record Vote

That would disqualify as candidates thousands of Democrats who abandoned the traditional straight ticket voting and cast their ballots for Eisenhower. The Democrats carried the state with 275,075 votes in the presidential election that year, but the GOP polled a record 148,231 votes.

Eisenhower Democrats were barred from seeking office in the party primaries in 1954, but the state committee went back only two years to exact the loyalty oath.

To keep them off the ballot this year, the committee would have to reach back four years, something never before done in Alabama.

Candidates in every party election since 1930 have had to swear they did not oppose the party nominees in the last preceding general election, but until this year the record has been opened only for two years back.

Sterner Policy Advocated

Party leaders advocating a sterner policy now and claiming enough votes on the committee to put it through argue that 1954 was a non-presidential year and readoption of the customary two-year pledge would let the insurgent Democrats who voted the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket run as Democrats this spring.

Even if the rebellious Democrats are permitted to run, they almost certainly will be required to promise support for the regular Democratic presidential ticket this year.

Mollet Agrees To Try To Form French Cabinet

PARIS, Jan. 26 (AP)—Socialist Guy Mollet agreed today to try to become the first premier of France under the National Assembly elected Jan. 2.

If the Assembly approves him, he will be the first Socialist to head the French government in more than eight years.

Mollet, a worried little man of 50 who used to teach high school English, was closeted with President Rene Coty for 90 minutes, then emerged and told reporters:

"The President did me the honor of asking me to form a Cabinet. I did not want to make him wait, and gave him my consent at once."

Had Expected Call

Mollet has been expecting the call for two weeks and has already done a good deal of the preliminary work. He has announced he will form a "minority Cabinet" from the ranks of the "Republican Front." His main ally in this grouping is former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, who is expected to get an important post. Besides the Radical party of Mendes-France, two minor groups will also be represented.

Dissension Reported

There were reports of dissension within the alliance tonight. Mendes-France was said to be insisting on the job of foreign minister, while Monnet wants him to take charge of economic affairs instead.

Mollet has said that the next premier should make a short trip to Algeria in an effort to end the 15-month-old guerrilla revolt against French rule. He has promised to hold free elections there and open talks with the victors on a new relationship with France.

Parrott Leaves His Estate To Hospital

LANCASTER, Wis., Jan. 26 (AP)—A garrulous parrot named Talker has left his $1,000 estate to the Lancaster Memorial Hospital.

The death of Talker was disclosed by Union State Bank officers here who have been administering the $1,000 trust fund set up for the parrot by Mrs. Lulu Williams, his owner, who died a year and a half ago.

She had stipulated in her will that the residue of the fund would go to the hospital upon Talker's death.

Talker, who was placed in the Vilas Park Zoo at Madison, had been living off interest from the fund. Zoo officials used the money to buy him apples and nuts and whatever else parrots need.

Mrs. Roosevelt Says She Favors Adlai

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said today she favors Adlai Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The widow of Franklin D. Roosevelt was asked by a reporter whether she planned to work in the 1956 presidential campaign. "No," she replied, "but I am for Stevenson."

No News Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower will not hold a news conference next week.

Announcing this today, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the reason is that the President will be meeting the first three days of the week with British Prime Minister Eden.

"Forgotten" Book Will Be Published By H. L. Mencken

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP) — "It will be nice being denounced again," H. L. Mencken observed.

The aging author settled himself comfortably in an easy chair encircled by cigar smoke and told of the book he put together in 1948, then "forgot."

It was published in May, Mencken said, and he looks forward with pleasure to the heated replies his barbed epigrams will bring.

He flecked a speck of ash from his shirt, sipped his drink and explained in deadpan fashion:

"You see, the book is controversial."

He dismissed with a wave of his hand the vibrant controversy that lights up the thousands of essays and scores of other books he has produced in his 75 years.

This one, he believes, may be "more so."

The book, to be called "Minority Report," was created before a cerebral hemorrhage laid him low and limited his powers of communication. It is, as he says, a "notebook" containing essays of varying lengths on a variety of subject matter.

"I scribbled ideas down as they occurred to me. Then after I'd gotten it all off my chest I put a title on the whole hodgepodge and wrote a preface for it," Mencken said.

The material was stuffed into a folder and buried in the huge pile of correspondence, notes and other papers. For seven years it gathered dust.

Several weeks ago, Mencken's secretary found the manuscript. It was among a pile of papers headed for the Enoch Pratt Library for inclusion in the Mencken room.

The author recalled the project and authorized his brother, August, to contact publisher Alfred Knopf.

House Demos Introduce Big Highway Bill

Measure Provides 51½ Billion Program Covering 13 Years

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP) — House Democratic leaders introduced their highway construction bill today—a 51½-billion-dollar program covering 13 years of road-building.

They omitted financing provisions at this time. New taxes are being considered to provide the money.

The total includes 25 billion dollars to be paid by the federal government for modernization and expansion of a 40,000-mile system of interstate highways. The states would contribute about 2¾ billion to this project.

States Would Match Funds

Regular federal aid to highways would be increased so that the federal government would be putting up $11,375,000,000 for this program in 13 years. The states would put up a like amount on the regular matching basis.

In addition, the federal government would spend about a billion dollars for access roads over the whole length of the program.

Rep. Fallon (D-Md), chairman of the Roads subcommittee of the House Public Works Committee, introduced the measure.

The staff of the House Ways and Means Committee, where the tax legislation originates, is working on tax increases to finance the highway program. New tax revenues under consideration are reported to total between 14 and 17 billion dollars.

Tax Increase Opposed

Opposition to tax increase, particularly from truckers, caused trouble when highway legislation was considered in 1955.

The House defeated last year's 48-billion-dollar highway construction bill, which provided increased taxes on gasoline, tires, tubes, and buses.

The House also defeated the administration plan for a 38-billion dollar program over a 10-year period, to be financed mainly by a 21-billion-dollar bond issue outside the debt limit. The administration dropped that plan this year. President Eisenhower has urged highway legislation with "an adequate plan of financing."

The Senate has passed a bill providing a five-year, 18-billion-dollar highway spending program. This bill had no financing provision, however.

Negro Is Slain In 2-Man 'Raid'

LONGVIEW, Tex., Jan. 26 (AP)—Murder charges were filed today against two men in what Dist. Atty. Ralph Prince called "a case of two irresponsible boys who were attempting to have some fun by scaring Negroes."

Texas Ranger Bob Crowder accused the two — Dean Ross, 22, and Joe Simpson, 21 — of killing one Negro, wounding two others, and firing into a Negro school bus and Negro home last Oct. 22.

The shootings occurred after 11 p.m. near Longview in Gregg County.

Crowder said Ross told him in a statement that he and Simpson had been drinking beer and "the thought occurred to us, 'Let's make a raid.'"

Crowder said the two men fired from their speeding car into a cafe where Negroes were dancing, riddled an unoccupied Negro school bus, and then fired into the home of John Beckworth, a Negro and a brother of a school principal.

John Earl Reese, 16, was killed. Wounded in the cafe and dance hall were two Negro girls, Josie Nelson, 13, and her sister, Johnnie, 15.

Chrysler Chairman Will Relinquish Post

DETROIT, Jan. 26 (AP)—K. T. Keller, board chairman of Chrysler Corp. announced today he will not seek re-election to that office at the next directors' meeting April 17.

Keller, long a stalwart of the auto industry, former master mechanic and right hand of the late Walter P. Chrysler, was 70 on Nov. 27. He has held the post of board chairman since Nov. 4, 1950, when the office was created, and Keller relinquished the presidency in favor of Lester L. (Tex) Colbert.

Keller indicated that he will continue in a consultative capacity.

President Asks War On Disease Be Stepped Up

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower called for a stepped up attack on cancer, heart disease and other ailments today but put off renewing his request for federal reinsurance of health insurance plans.

The President said he would revive the reinsurance proposal if "practical and useful methods" cannot be developed along other lines.

What the administration is now considering, he said, is legislative action which would permit private insurance companies to pool their risks so as to "offer broader benefits and expanded coverage on reasonable terms. ..."

Secretary Folsom of the Health, Education and Welfare Department said the administration should know within two months whether the private companies are sufficiently interested.

Five-Point Program

In a special message to Congress supplementing his budget requests for the fiscal year starting July 1, Eisenhower laid down a five-point program which he said offers promise for "a renewed and reinvigorated attack on our health problems."

Recent years have brought "notable advances in the unending struggle against disease and disability," the President said, but much remains unknown.

Eisenhower proposed:

1. A 28 per cent increase in federal funds for basic medical research to a total of $126,525,000.

2. A new program for grants, totaling 250 million dollars over the next five years, for construction of medical research and training facilities. These grants would go to state, local and private institutions which supply "at least equal amounts in matching funds."

More Doctors Needed

3. Further steps to alleviate health personnel shortage. No specific amount was recommended for this, but Eisenhower said the number of physicians being graduated from medical schools is barely keeping pace with the increase in population, and the number of dentists and nurses is diminishing in relation to population.

4. Action to strengthen certain other basic health services throughout the nation.

5. Measures "which will help our people meet the costs of medical care."

Congressional Gold Medal Awarded Salk

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk was awarded a congressional gold medal and the official thanks of the nation today for his development of the Salk polio vaccine.

Presenting the medal to the slender, 41-year-old University of Pittsburgh scientist, Secretary of Welfare Folsom told him the Salk vaccine is "a great landmark in the war against polio."

Folsom also read a letter in which President Eisenhower told Dr. Salk that "the entire nation joins me in lasting gratitude and appreciation."

Dr. Salk, who worked for six years on the vaccine, sometimes as much as 18 to 24 hours a day, gave credit to "those whose contributions came before, but whose lot it was not to become a symbol for honor."

Model Who Drew Line By Wearing Sandals Is Fired

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26 (AP)—Vincent Nesbert, a dean at the Art Institute of Pittsburgh, told today of firing a reluctant model who, while posing in the nude, insisted on wearing her sandals.

"When I told her the students were there to paint her toes as well as her face and form, she kept talking about 'having to draw the line somewhere,'" Nesbert related. He did not disclose her name.

"What did I do? Why I told her to go home," Nesbert added. "Art, after all, is art."

Reds Bombard Isle And Mass Invasion Craft

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 26 (AP) — Red China's mainland guns blasted Kaoteng last night and invasion craft are massing just north of that tiny Matsu group island, the official Central News Agency said today.

Communist batteries fired 133 shells into the island in the heaviest bombardment of any Matsus in the vest pocket war, the agency reported.

Earlier in the day, the Reds had fired 22 rounds at Kaoteng across the four miles of water that separated the island from the mainland. Nationalist quarters predicted further Red shellings as the build-up continues near the Matsu group, 100 miles northwest of Formosa.

The Interior Ministry's Tatao News Agency said without confirmation elsewhere that Russia had given approval Jan. 10 in Peiping to a Chinese Communist invasion of Nationalist offshore islands.

The report, true or not, coincides with the Nationalist insistence that the Communists are bent on attacking the Matsus and Quemoy—across Formosa Strait—regardless.

Baby Dropped To Safety

TORONTO, Jan. 26 (AP)—A father saved his 14-month-old son from being trapped today in a fire by dropping him out a second-story window.

Vincenzo Cianfrini said the baby was caught by an unidentified man. The man caught the baby and then gave it to its mother, who had escaped earlier with another child, Fiorella, 4.

Mitchell Reports Labor Bills Held Up In Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP) — A long-developing feud over the way the House Labor Committee has handled administration proposals broke into the open today.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell told a news conference that Chairman Barden (D-NC) has been bottling up many legislative plans of President Eisenhower without letting them go to hearings.

Barden laughed when he heard of Mitchell's remarks and said, "Somebody should have whispered to the gentleman that I didn't come up here to be dictated to by him or any other administrator."

Running Fire

"If he'd spend more time administering the laws he already has instead of trying to run Congress, we'd be better off," Barden added.

This prompted a further statement from Mitchell that he was "glad to be able to report to Congressman Barden that labor standard laws have been more vigorously enforced by this administration than ever before. ... It is my job to 'foster, promote and develop,' the welfare of wage earners and I will continue to do so."

Bill Prospects "Dim"

Mitchell got into the subject when newsmen asked what he thought of the chances of administration labor plans being approved by Congress this session.

Mitchell said the prospects were dim because so many proposals had languished in the House Labor Committee last year without hearings and he had no reason to believe the situation would be any different this year.

GOP Lawmakers Pay Tribute To M'Arthur

43½-Inch Rainfall

HONOLULU, Jan. 26 (AP) — The northern end of Kauai Island was blocked off today by floods which dumped more than 43½ inches of rain in some sections in 48 hours ending at 8 a.m. One person drowned.

Feeling Grows McKeldin May Enter State Primary

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 26 (AP) — The possibility grew stronger today that Gov. McKeldin might enter his name as a presidential candidate in Maryland's May 7 primary election.

Talk that he would grew stronger among the governor's associates with announcement that Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), the Senate Republican leader, was ready to file in Maryland as well as four other states.

McKeldin, a strong backer of President Eisenhower's and the man who nominated him in the 1952 convention, has consistently assailed Republican right wingers.

Any action by McKeldin would hinge on whether Eisenhower decides to run again. If he doesn't and Knowland becomes a Maryland candidate, the governor would oppose him, associates believe.

On the other hand, it is doubtful, McKeldin would run should a candidate with Eisenhower's blessings enter his name in the Maryland primary.

The governor, when asked earlier who he favored as presidential nominee in case the President doesn't seek renomination, said he favors the President's brother, Milton; Chief Justice Earl Warren; former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey or Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, who now commands the North Atlantic Treaty Organization military forces—a position the President once held.

A victory in Maryland's primary would bind the state's 24 votes to a candidate on the first ballot at next summer's convention and as long after as the delegates believed that candidate had a chance.

7-Inch Deluge Forces 1,500 From Homes

Long Beach Area Threatened; Plants And Schools Close

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 (AP) — With 1,500 already evacuated throughout southern California, a brimming flood control channel in the heart of Long Beach posed a serious threat today to some 500 homes in the area.

The storm, which began about 6 a. m. yesterday, brought 7.16 inches of rain to this city, advancing the season's total to 9.80, far ahead of the normal 6.92 for this date.

Soldiers from Ft. MacArthur worked with Army engineers to bolster the levee along the Los Angeles River Channel. Police started a door-to-door warning of residents, asking them to leave their homes in case the water should go over the banks.

Crest of the floodwaters had been expected early tonight, but the rain slackened. Some residents who expressed a desire to return to their homes were advised against it. Police said a resumption of heavy rainfall would bring immediate danger.

River Sandbagged

Col. Arthur H. Frye Jr., Los Angeles district Army engineer, said 150 workers plus soldiers were sandbagging the Los Angeles River in Long Beach to prevent flood water from eroding the old levee.

The danger area was upstream from where the channel was paved from Carson Street to 20th Street last summer.

Col. Frye also said the outlet gates at the Whittier Narros Dam was closed in an effort to reduce the flow of water from the Rio Hondo.

Rains were expected to moderate tonight. However, the Weather Bureau said a new storm now off the Oregon coast might reach here by the weekend.

Schools, Plants Close

Next to persons forced from flooded home, traffic and telephone communications suffered the most severely from the deluge. More than 1,000 intersections were flooded and closed.

A half-million Los Angeles city school children got a half-day holiday because of the storm. Three huge aircraft plants, North American, Douglas and Lockheed, sent their workers home and told the night shifts not to report for work.

A dozen or more homes were moved from their foundations southwest of the city. The seacoast suburb of Venice was hardest hit. More than 150 houses there were flooded with up to two feet of water. A hundred persons, most of them elderly, were rescued.

Prince Rainier Says Grace Kelly Will Quit Films

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26 (AP)—Grace Kelly's marriage to Prince Rainier of Monaco will mean the end of her acting career, he said today.

He received the Hollywood press in the baronial Bel-Air home he has rented for his month's visit here and appeared to put an end to questions about his fiancee's film future.

"I think it would be better if she did not attempt to continue in films," he replied. "I have to live there (in Monaco) and she would live here. That wouldn't work out."

Asked if he would approve Miss Kelly's making films in Europe, he answered "I don't think so."

He added that he has discussed the matter with the actress and she is in agreement. This may come as a shock to MGM, which still has a four-year contract with her.

Three Die In Crash Of Private Airplane

SMITHTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 26 (AP)—A twin-engined private plane crashed and burned two miles west of here today, killing all three men aboard. One report was that the craft exploded in the air.

The six-place Lockheed Ventura was owned by Cities Service Oil Co.

The dead, all Long Islanders, were Bernard J. Malloy of Bohemia, assistant chief pilot for Cities Service for 10 years, Capt. Raymond Hamberg of Malverne, and copilot Hugo D. Filangeri of Patchogue.

Mollet Agrees To Try To Form French Cabinet

PARIS, Jan. 26 (AP)—Socialist Guy Mollet agreed today to try to become the first premier of France under the National Assembly elected Jan. 2.

If the Assembly approves him, he will be the first Socialist to head the French government in more than eight years.

Mollet, a worried little man of 50 who used to teach high school English, was closeted with President Rene Coty for 90 minutes, then emerged and told reporters:

"The President did me the honor of asking me to form a Cabinet. I did not want to make him wait, and gave him my consent at once."

Had Expected Call

Mollet has been expecting the call for two weeks and has already done a good deal of the preliminary work. He has announced he will form a "minority Cabinet" from the ranks of the "Republican Front." His main ally in this grouping is former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, who is expected to get an important post. Besides the Radical party of Mendes-France, two minor groups will also be represented.

Dissension Reported

There were reports of dissension within the alliance tonight. Mendes-France was said to be insisting on the job of foreign minister, while Monnet wants him to take charge of economic affairs instead.

Mollet has said that the next premier should make a short trip to Algeria in an effort to end the 15-month-old guerrilla revolt against French rule. He has promised to hold free elections there and open talks with the victors on a new relationship with France.

Mrs. Roosevelt Says She Favors Adlai

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 26 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said today she favors Adlai Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The widow of Franklin D. Roosevelt was asked by a reporter whether she planned to work in the 1956 presidential campaign. "No," she replied, "but I am for Stevenson."

No News Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower will not hold a news conference next week.

Announcing this today, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the reason is that the President will be meeting the first three days of the week with British Prime Minister Eden.

House Demos Introduce Big Highway Bill

Measure Provides 51½ Billion Program Covering 13 Years

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP) — House Democratic leaders introduced their highway construction bill today—a 51½-billion-dollar program covering 13 years of road-building.

They omitted financing provisions at this time. New taxes are being considered to provide the money.

The total includes 25 billion dollars to be paid by the federal government for modernization and expansion of a 40,000-mile system of interstate highways. The states would contribute about 2¾ billion to this project.

States Would Match Funds

Regular federal aid to highways would be increased so that the federal government would be putting up $11,375,000,000 for this program in 13 years. The states would put up a like amount on the regular matching basis.

In addition, the federal government would spend about a billion dollars for access roads over the whole length of the program.

Rep. Fallon (D-Md), chairman of the Roads subcommittee of the House Public Works Committee, introduced the measure.

The staff of the House Ways and Means Committee, where the tax legislation originates, is working on tax increases to finance the highway program. New tax revenues under consideration are reported to total between 14 and 17 billion dollars.

Tax Increase Opposed

Opposition to tax increase, particularly from truckers, caused trouble when highway legislation was considered in 1955.

The House defeated last year's 48-billion-dollar highway construction bill, which provided increased taxes on gasoline, tires, tubes, and buses.

The House also defeated the administration plan for a 38-billion dollar program over a 10-year period, to be financed mainly by a 21-billion-dollar bond issue outside the debt limit. The administration dropped that plan this year. President Eisenhower has urged highway legislation with "an adequate plan of financing."

The Senate has passed a bill providing a five-year, 18-billion-dollar highway spending program. This bill had no financing provision, however.

Negro Is Slain In 2-Man 'Raid'

LONGVIEW, Tex., Jan. 26 (AP)—Murder charges were filed today against two men in what Dist. Atty. Ralph Prince called "a case of two irresponsible boys who were attempting to have some fun by scaring Negroes."

Texas Ranger Bob Crowder accused the two — Dean Ross, 22, and Joe Simpson, 21 — of killing one Negro, wounding two others, and firing into a Negro school bus and Negro home last Oct. 22.

The shootings occurred after 11 p.m. near Longview in Gregg County.

Crowder said Ross told him in a statement that he and Simpson had been drinking beer and "the thought occurred to us, 'Let's make a raid.'"

Crowder said the two men fired from their speeding car into a cafe where Negroes were dancing, riddled an unoccupied Negro school bus, and then fired into the home of John Beckworth, a Negro and a brother of a school principal.

John Earl Reese, 16, was killed. Wounded in the cafe and dance hall were two Negro girls, Josie Nelson, 13, and her sister, Johnnie, 15.

Chrysler Chairman Will Relinquish Post

DETROIT, Jan. 26 (AP)—K. T. Keller, board chairman of Chrysler Corp. announced today he will not seek re-election to that office at the next directors' meeting April 17.

Keller, long a stalwart of the auto industry, former master mechanic and right hand of the late Walter P. Chrysler, was 70 on Nov. 27. He has held the post of board chairman since Nov. 4, 1950, when the office was created, and Keller relinquished the presidency in favor of Lester L. (Tex) Colbert.

Keller indicated that he will continue in a consultative capacity.

Dr. Salk Presented Gold Medal

Marion Folsom (right), secretary of health, education and welfare, presents a gold medal awarded by Congress to Dr. Jonas Salk, honored yesterday for his successful research in developing a polio vaccine. ## President Asks War On Disease Be Stepped Up

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—President Eisenhower called for a stepped up attack on cancer, heart disease and other ailments today but put off renewing his request for federal reinsurance of health insurance plans.

The President said he would revive the reinsurance proposal if "practical and useful methods" cannot be developed along other lines.

What the administration is now considering, he said, is legislative action which would permit private insurance companies to pool their risks so as to "offer broader benefits and expanded coverage on reasonable terms. ..."

Secretary Folsom of the Health, Education and Welfare Department said the administration should know within two months whether the private companies are sufficiently interested.

Five-Point Program

In a special message to Congress supplementing his budget requests for the fiscal year starting July 1, Eisenhower laid down a five-point program which he said offers promise for "a renewed and reinvigorated attack on our health problems."

Recent years have brought "notable advances in the unending struggle against disease and disability," the President said, but much remains unknown.

Eisenhower proposed:

1. A 28 per cent increase in federal funds for basic medical research to a total of $126,525,000.

2. A new program for grants, totaling 250 million dollars over the next five years, for construction of medical research and training facilities. These grants would go to state, local and private institutions which supply "at least equal amounts in matching funds."

More Doctors Needed

3. Further steps to alleviate health personnel shortage. No specific amount was recommended for this, but Eisenhower said the number of physicians being graduated from medical schools is barely keeping pace with the increase in population, and the number of dentists and nurses is diminishing in relation to population.

4. Action to strengthen certain other basic health services throughout the nation.

5. Measures "which will help our people meet the costs of medical care."

Congressional Gold Medal Awarded Salk

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk was awarded a congressional gold medal and the official thanks of the nation today for his development of the Salk polio vaccine.

Presenting the medal to the slender, 41-year-old University of Pittsburgh scientist, Secretary of Welfare Folsom told him the Salk vaccine is "a great landmark in the war against polio."

Folsom also read a letter in which President Eisenhower told Dr. Salk that "the entire nation joins me in lasting gratitude and appreciation."

Dr. Salk, who worked for six years on the vaccine, sometimes as much as 18 to 24 hours a day, gave credit to "those whose contributions came before, but whose lot it was not to become a symbol for honor."

Model Who Drew Line By Wearing Sandals Is Fired

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26 (AP)—Vincent Nesbert, a dean at the Art Institute of Pittsburgh, told today of firing a reluctant model who, while posing in the nude, insisted on wearing her sandals.

"When I told her the students were there to paint her toes as well as her face and form, she kept talking about 'having to draw the line somewhere,'" Nesbert related. He did not disclose her name.

"What did I do? Why I told her to go home," Nesbert added.

Reds Bombard Isle And Mass Invasion Craft

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 26 (AP) — Red China's mainland guns blasted Kaoteng last night and invasion craft are massing just north of that tiny Matsu group island, the official Central News Agency said today.

Communist batteries fired 133 shells into the island in the heaviest bombardment of any Matsus in the vest pocket war, the agency reported.

Earlier in the day, the Reds had fired 22 rounds at Kaoteng across the four miles of water that separated the island from the mainland. Nationalist quarters predicted further Red shellings as the build-up continues near the Matsu group, 100 miles northwest of Formosa.

The Interior Ministry's Tatao News Agency said without confirmation elsewhere that Russia had given approval Jan. 10 in Peiping to a Chinese Communist invasion of Nationalist offshore islands.

The report, true or not, coincides with the Nationalist insistence that the Communists are bent on attacking the Matsus and Quemoy—across Formosa Strait—regardless.

Baby Dropped To Safety

TORONTO, Jan. 26 (AP)—A father saved his 14-month-old son from being trapped today in a fire by dropping him out a second-story window.

Vincenzo Cianfrini said the baby was caught by an unidentified man. The man caught the baby and then gave it to its mother, who had escaped earlier with another child, Fiorella, 4.

Feeling Grows McKeldin May Enter State Primary

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 26 (AP) — The possibility grew stronger today that Gov. McKeldin might enter his name as a presidential candidate in Maryland's May 7 primary election.

Talk that he would grew stronger among the governor's associates with announcement that Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), the Senate Republican leader, was ready to file in Maryland as well as four other states.

McKeldin, a strong backer of President Eisenhower's and the man who nominated him in the 1952 convention, has consistently assailed Republican right wingers.

Any action by McKeldin would hinge on whether Eisenhower decides to run again. If he doesn't and Knowland becomes a Maryland candidate, the governor would oppose him, associates believe.

On the other hand, it is doubtful, McKeldin would run should a candidate with Eisenhower's blessings enter his name in the Maryland primary.

The governor, when asked earlier who he favored as presidential nominee in case the President doesn't seek renomination, said he favors the President's brother, Milton; Chief Justice Earl Warren; former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey or Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, who now commands the North Atlantic Treaty Organization military forces—a position the President once held.

A victory in Maryland's primary would bind the state's 24 votes to a candidate on the first ballot at next summer's convention and as long after as the delegates believed that candidate had a chance.

Mitchell Reports Labor Bills Held Up In Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP) — A long-developing feud over the way the House Labor Committee has handled administration proposals broke into the open today.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell told a news conference that Chairman Barden (D-NC) has been bottling up many legislative plans of President Eisenhower without letting them go to hearings.

Barden laughed when he heard of Mitchell's remarks and said, "Somebody should have whispered to the gentleman that I didn't come up here to be dictated to by him or any other administrator."

Running Fire

"If he'd spend more time administering the laws he already has instead of trying to run Congress, we'd be better off," Barden added.

This prompted a further statement from Mitchell that he was "glad to be able to report to Congressman Barden that labor standard laws have been more vigorously enforced by this administration than ever before. ... It is my job to 'foster, promote and develop,' the welfare of wage earners and I will continue to do so."

Bill Prospects "Dim"

Mitchell got into the subject when newsmen asked what he thought of the chances of administration labor plans being approved by Congress this session.

Mitchell said the prospects were dim because so many proposals had languished in the House Labor Committee last year without hearings and he had no reason to believe the situation would be any different this year.

GOP Lawmakers Pay Tribute To M'Arthur

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Republican Congress members today paid tribute to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, celebrating his 76th birthday.

43½-Inch Rainfall

HONOLULU, Jan. 26 (AP) — The northern end of Kauai Island was blocked off today by floods which dumped more than 43½ inches of rain in some sections in 48 hours ending at 8 a.m. One person drowned.

7-Inch Deluge Forces 1,500 From Homes

Long Beach Area Threatened; Plants And Schools Close

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 (AP) — With 1,500 already evacuated throughout southern California, a brimming flood control channel in the heart of Long Beach posed a serious threat today to some 500 homes in the area.

The storm, which began about 6 a. m. yesterday, brought 7.16 inches of rain to this city, advancing the season's total to 9.80, far ahead of the normal 6.92 for this date.

Soldiers from Ft. MacArthur worked with Army engineers to bolster the levee along the Los Angeles River Channel. Police started a door-to-door warning of residents, asking them to leave their homes in case the water should go over the banks.

Crest of the floodwaters had been expected early tonight, but the rain slackened. Some residents who expressed a desire to return to their homes were advised against it. Police said a resumption of heavy rainfall would bring immediate danger.

River Sandbagged

Col. Arthur H. Frye Jr., Los Angeles district Army engineer, said 150 workers plus soldiers were sandbagging the Los Angeles River in Long Beach to prevent flood water from eroding the old levee.

The danger area was upstream from where the channel was paved from Carson Street to 20th Street last summer.

Col. Frye also said the outlet gates at the Whittier Narros Dam was closed in an effort to reduce the flow of water from the Rio Hondo.

Rains were expected to moderate tonight. However, the Weather Bureau said a new storm now off the Oregon coast might reach here by the weekend.

Schools, Plants Close

Next to persons forced from flooded home, traffic and telephone communications suffered the most severely from the deluge. More than 1,000 intersections were flooded and closed.

A half-million Los Angeles city school children got a half-day holiday because of the storm. Three huge aircraft plants, North American, Douglas and Lockheed, sent their workers home and told the night shifts not to report for work.

A dozen or more homes were moved from their foundations southwest of the city. The seacoast suburb of Venice was hardest hit. More than 150 houses there were flooded with up to two feet of water. A hundred persons, most of them elderly, were rescued.

Prince Rainier Says Grace Kelly Will Quit Films

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26 (AP)—Grace Kelly's marriage to Prince Rainier of Monaco will mean the end of her acting career, he said today.

He received the Hollywood press in the baronial Bel-Air home he has rented for his month's visit here and appeared to put an end to questions about his fiancee's film future.

"I think it would be better if she did not attempt to continue in films," he replied. "I have to live there (in Monaco) and she would live here. That wouldn't work out."

Asked if he would approve Miss Kelly's making films in Europe, he answered "I don't think so."

He added that he has discussed the matter with the actress and she is in agreement. This may come as a shock to MGM, which still has a four-year contract with her.

Three Die In Crash Of Private Airplane

SMITHTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 26 (AP)—A twin-engined private plane crashed and burned two miles west of here today, killing all three men aboard. One report was that the craft exploded in the air.

The six-place Lockheed Ventura was owned by Cities Service Oil Co.

The dead, all Long Islanders, were Bernard J. Malloy of Bohemia, assistant chief pilot for Cities Service for 10 years, Capt. Raymond Hamberg of Malverne, and copilot Hugo D. Filangeri of Patchogue.

McCarthy Tells Court He Didn't Employ Hughes

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (D-Wis said today he doesn't know Paul R. Hughes and never employed him. Hughes is charged with trying to peddle phony anti-McCarthy information to the senator's political enemies.

McCarthy spent just eight minutes on the witness stand at Hughes' federal court trial for perjury.

Hughes is accused of falsely claiming he was employed by McCarthy's Senate Investigating subcommittee, and thus was in a position to get the inside dope on alleged "illegal activities" of the committee.

Hughes "Doesn't Strike Bell"

Asked if he knew Hughes, McCarthy said, "No, I do not . . . I don't think so. I see so many people in passing but he doesn't strike a bell."

McCarthy was asked if he ever employed Hughes as an investigator for his committee. "Not while I was chairman," the senator said.

Under cross-examination by defense counsel Martin Erdmann, McCarthy conceded many persons had volunteered information to his committee and it was conceivable he didn't know who all of them were.

Rauh's Reputation "Bad"

Erdmann then asked McCarthy if he had ever discussed the reputation for "truthfulness, honesty and morality" of Joseph L. Rauh, a Washington lawyer and chairman of the pro-New Deal Americans for Democratic Action.

"May I say," McCarthy said, "I have never discussed his personal morals but as for truthfulness and honesty, he has a bad reputation."

Rauh, an outspoken foe of McCarthy, has testified that he was taken in for a time by Hughes' bogus McCarthy information, paid Hughes $8,500 during that period, and tried to interest the Washington Post and Times-Herald in publishing the material.

Assateague Island Offer Called Fraud By Brewster

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP)—Daniel Brewster, lawyer and state delegate from Baltimore County, called an offer to give the state 540 acres for a public park, if a bridge to Assateague Island is built, a fraud.

"Isn't the offer a fraud because it is somebody else's property?" Brewster asked Robert Walker, engineer for a corporation asking Public Service Commission permission to build a toll bridge.

"Isn't it an attempt to put sugar coating on—" Brewster demanded before he was interrupted by Thomas Johnson, counsel for the Assateague Island Bridge Corp.

Brewster is representing the Cecil Amusement Co. which claims to hold title to some of the 540 acres.

Walker was given a patent to the land by the State for about $3,000 after he said it assumed any titles had been "abandoned." He called some of the claims "shoestring" which were based on "half lots being given as merchandise prizes in Baltimore years ago."

Walker claims to own the 540 acres now equally with Leon Ackerman, real estate developer. He said he was inclined to give the land away to the State only if permission was given to build the private toll bridge.

Ackerman had told the commission at a previous hearing he favored the offer regardless of who built the bridge.

Walker said he would go along only if the state built the bridge promptly and didn't charge tolls. In that case, he said it might be justified because it would enhnace the value of other land he owns on the island.

School Slapping Incident Closed

DETROIT, Jan. 26 (AP) — The child-slapping incident at the Priest School in Detroit apparently was ended today.

William Bolio, an assistant prosecutor, informed Mrs. Jennie Marzack, mother of the child, that there was no basis for a warrant against the teacher, Mrs. Patria Ling.

Mrs. Ling slapped 8-year-old Barbara Marzack and instructed other children in the class who had been pushed, slapped or shoved by Barbara to retaliate.

Harris Moreau, president of the Detroit Teachers Assn., said Mrs. Ling "was acting for the best interests not only of the child but of all the children in the class" when she slapped Barbara.

D'Alesandro Strives To Avert BTC Strike

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro disclosed tonight he has made a "concrete proposal" which if accepted would compromise differences of the Baltimore Transit Co. and its employes and avert a threatened strike.

The mayor would not disclose details of his proposal.

The mayor stepped into the prolonged dispute when it appeared that little, if any, progress was being made toward narrowing the breach between the company and the transit workers union which represents bus, streetcar and trolley operators and maintenance men.

All the states except Idaho observe Washington's birthday as a legal or public holiday.

Pair Arrested With Suitcase Of Marijuana

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP) — Customs agents arrested two men at a downtown bus station today and seized a suitcase packed with marijuana the agents valued at from $50,000 to $100,000.

J. H. Wilchester, Baltimore customs agent, said the shipment apparently was intended for a local narcotics ring and was believed to be the largest ever seized here.

He identified the arrested men as Raymond Hernandez, 31, of nearby Silver Spring, Md., and Mercedes Rafael Lujano, 20, of San Antonio, Tex. They have been booked on charges of unlawful possession of marijuana, Wilchester said.

He reported the pair drove up to the bus station and asked a porter to go inside and pick up the suitcase. Wilchester said they gave the porter a claim check, and the porter tipped off Wilchester and two other agents who had been watching the suitcase for eight hours.

Hernandez and Lujang were said to have been nabbed as they supervised the loading of the bag in the trunk of their 1954 Cadillac.

Federal authorities said there were 43½ pounds of marijuana in what handlers call a "highly manicured," crushed condition ready for packing into cigarets.

They said the cigarets retail at 50 cents to $1.50 each, depending on their scarcity.

General Assembly Demos To Caucus On Wednesday

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP) — T. Barton Harrington, state Democratic chairman, today called upon party colleagues in the General Assembly to caucus Wednesday morning.

However, House and Senate members are expected to select their leaders at informal meetings Tuesday night.

Del. John C. Luber (D-Balto 5th) is considered a safe bet to repeat as speaker of the House. Forces which opposed Luber last year have shown no signs of renewing their unsuccessful efforts.

Del. Melvin H. Derr (R-Frederick) has announced he will not be a candidate to succeed himself as House minority leader. Republicans are outmanned 98-25 in the House and 21-8 in the Senate.

Dels. Fred Driscoll (R-Allegany), George R. Hughes Jr. (R-Allegany), Jacob B. Berkson (R-Washington) and Milton K. Larmore (R-Wicomico) are among those reported interested in the post.

In the Senate, Sen. Harry T. Phoebus (R-Somerset) and Jacob R. Ramsburg (R-Frederick) are prominently mentioned for the minority leadership.

Phoebus took over the job between sessions after the resignation of Robert B. Kimble of Allegany County to become head of the Department of Employment Security.

Veterinarian Hurt In 4-Way Smashup

HAGERSTOWN, Jan. 26 (AP)—Dr. Edward L. Vail, Hagerstown veterinarian, was injured today in a highway accident involving a loaded school bus and three automobiles near here.

State Trooper Harry Bowman said the four-way smashup began after the school bus pulled onto the Sharpsburg Pike north of Hagerstown was struck by an automobile.

A second car stopped to avoid plowing into the wreckage and was hit from behind by the third, sending it into the other side of the bus.

Vail, a passenger in the third automobile, suffered a fractured right hip and was reported the only person seriously injured.

U. Of Md. Regents OK Building Plan

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP) — The University of Maryland Board of Regents today gave qualified assent to a bill for the General Assembly to enable construction of dormitories and other projects on a self-liquidating basis.

The regents conditioned their approval on an OK from the board's building committee.

Board members made it clear, however, they felt the State ought to finance needed construction at the university rather than require more self-liquidating projects.

University President Wilson H. Elkins presented the proposed legislation. He told the board he had been given to understand that the chances of State financing of additional dormitories were slim.

Dr. Elkins said the university will have to turn down students for want of dormitory space in the next scholastic year.

He said if the legislation passes, the university could at least plan the needed facilities. He said introduction of the measure might also force from the Legislature an expression of its policy on future financing of buildings.

Annual 60-Day Session Sought

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP)—Two Baltimore delegates plan to introduce legislation which would convene the General Assembly for 60 days each year.

Under existing conditions the State law-making body meets for 30 days in even years and for 90 days in odd numbered years.

Dels. Maurice Cardin and Marvin Mandel, Fifth District Democrats, said their bill places no restrictions on the type of legislation which can be passed.

Only State-wide fiscal matters and those deemed of an emergency nature or in the general public welfare may be passed in the short session under existing law.

PSC Asks BTC Report

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP) — The Maryland Public Service Commission today asked the Baltimore Transit Co. to give a report on contract negotiations with the transit workers union.

PSC Chairman Stanford Hoff said the transit firm hoped for success but could make no definite report on what agreement might be made.

The Taj Mahal was erected for the favorite wife of the emperor of India, Shah Jahan.

'Save Symphony' Leader Urges Officers Resign

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP) — The resignation of "all officers and directors" of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra was asked today along with the appointment of a reorganization committee in a last ditch "save the orchestra" movement.

The request came from Edward M. Hanrahan Jr., a member of a reorganization committee appointed two weeks ago by Eugene S. Williams, symphony president. Hanrahan made his request in a letter to Williams.

Under Hanrahan's proposal, the new reorganization committee, unlike the existing one, would exclude current board members of the symphony. He said the action was necessary to restore confidence through a complete corporate reorganization.

"It is still not too late for Mr. Freccia, (Massimo Freccia, the conductor) himself, and the public spirited businessmen of this community to change their minds and consider saving the symphony, and immediately, through last minute action," Hanrahan wrote.

He suggested that the current officers serve on an interim basis until the group is reorganized.

Hanrahan suggested that the "official symphony reorganization committee" by appointed by the Greater Baltimore Committee subcommittee on symphony problems.

Mayor D'Alesandro has called an emergency meeting tomorrow morning of members of the Greater Baltimore Committee and other civic leaders to make a last minute attempt to put over the orchestra's $100 per plate dinner Monday night.

The dinner committee has sold about $41,000 worth of tickets but must sell $20,000 more to keep the orchestra going.

Hanrahan declared the reorganization effort begun by Williams two weeks ago with a committee partly composed of board members "should be abandoned."

He said the committee resulting from this effort had a "nebulous and limited scope of authority and composition."

Hanrahan told Williams the course of action suggested would be a "courageous demonstration, typical of your selfless, thankless, unrelenting fight to preserve our symphony."

The 1912 eruption of Mount Katmai, Alaska, was heard 750 miles.

Judge Enters Race

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 26 (AP)—Judge John Raymond Fletcher, former State senator from Prince Georges County, today filed as a candidate for the 7th Circuit bench he was appointed to more than a year ago.

Change Recognized

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee has recognized that the Navy no longer keeps a deck under the feet of every sailor. The committee sent to the House with a favorable report a bill modifying the century-old rule that every line officer must pass an examination in seagoing abilities before being promoted.

U. Of Md. Regents OK Building Plan

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP) — The University of Maryland Board of Regents today gave qualified assent to a bill for the General Assembly to enable construction of dormitories and other projects on a self-liquidating basis.

The regents conditioned their approval on an OK from the board's building committee.

Board members made it clear, however, they felt the State ought to finance needed construction at the university rather than require more self-liquidating projects.

University President Wilson H. Elkins presented the proposed legislation. He told the board he had been given to understand that the chances of State financing of additional dormitories were slim.

Dr. Elkins said the university will have to turn down students for want of dormitory space in the next scholastic year.

He said if the legislation passes, the university could at least plan the needed facilities. He said introduction of the measure might also force from the Legislature an expression of its policy on future financing of buildings.

Annual 60-Day Session Sought

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP)—Two Baltimore delegates plan to introduce legislation which would convene the General Assembly for 60 days each year.

Under existing conditions the State law-making body meets for 30 days in even years and for 90 days in odd numbered years.

Dels. Maurice Cardin and Marvin Mandel, Fifth District Democrats, said their bill places no restrictions on the type of legislation which can be passed.

Only State-wide fiscal matters and those deemed of an emergency nature or in the general public welfare may be passed in the short session under existing law.

PSC Asks BTC Report

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP) — The Maryland Public Service Commission today asked the Baltimore Transit Co. to give a report on contract negotiations with the transit workers union.

PSC Chairman Stanford Hoff said the transit firm hoped for success but could make no definite report on what agreement might be made.

'Save Symphony' Leader Urges Officers Resign

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP) — The resignation of "all officers and directors" of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra was asked today along with the appointment of a reorganization committee in a last ditch "save the orchestra" movement.

The request came from Edward M. Hanrahan Jr., a member of a reorganization committee appointed two weeks ago by Eugene S. Williams, symphony president. Hanrahan made his request in a letter to Williams.

Under Hanrahan's proposal, the new reorganization committee, unlike the existing one, would exclude current board members of the symphony. He said the action was necessary to restore confidence through a complete corporate reorganization.

"It is still not too late for Mr. Freccia, (Massimo Freccia, the conductor) himself, and the public spirited businessmen of this community to change their minds and consider saving the symphony, and immediately, through last minute action," Hanrahan wrote.

He suggested that the current officers serve on an interim basis until the group is reorganized.

Hanrahan suggested that the "official symphony reorganization committee" by appointed by the Greater Baltimore Committee subcommittee on symphony problems.

Mayor D'Alesandro has called an emergency meeting tomorrow morning of members of the Greater Baltimore Committee and other civic leaders to make a last minute attempt to put over the orchestra's $100 per plate dinner Monday night.

The dinner committee has sold about $41,000 worth of tickets but must sell $20,000 more to keep the orchestra going.

Hanrahan declared the reorganization effort begun by Williams two weeks ago with a committee partly composed of board members "should be abandoned."

He said the committee resulting from this effort had a "nebulous and limited scope of authority and composition."

Hanrahan told Williams the course of action suggested would be a "courageous demonstration, typical of your selfless, thankless, unrelenting fight to preserve our symphony."

Judge Enters Race

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 26 (AP)—Judge John Raymond Fletcher, former State senator from Prince Georges County, today filed as a candidate for the 7th Circuit bench he was appointed to more than a year ago.

Change Recognized

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee has recognized that the Navy no longer keeps a deck under the feet of every sailor. The committee sent to the House with a favorable report a bill modifying the century-old rule that every line officer must pass an examination in seagoing abilities before being promoted.

FLINTSTONE WINNER—Joan Robosson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Robosson, Pleasant Valley Road, will represent Flintstone High School in the state Homemaker of Tomorrow contest. Discussing the written aptitude test, Joan said she was "really surprised," when told she won and does not know what will happen in the state contest. She considered the essay part of the test the hardest and the part on homemaking the easiest. Home economics and music are her favorite studies. She does quite a bit of cooking and making spaghetti is her favorite recipe.

Dr. Murray Is Honored On 80thBirthday

Mrs. F. A. G. Murray and her daughters, Mrs. Nancy Murray Tase and Miss Elizabeth Murray, entertained with a birthday party honoring Dr. Murray on his 80th birthday last evening at their home, Narrows Park.

Dr. Murray was born in Baltimore January 26, 1876, the son of the late Rev. and Mrs. G. Mosley Murray. He graduated from the University of Maryland Medical School in 1897 and served a residency at St. Joseph's Hospital, Baltimore. Dr. Murray began practice in Finzel and moved to Mt. Savage, from where he came to Cumberland in 1919. During World War I he served as a captain in the Medical Corps. Dr. Murray is the father of six children, Mrs. Mabel Allen, Gerard A. Murray, Gordon Murray, G. Walter Murray, Mrs. Tase and Elizabeth Murray.

Approximately 50 guests attended, including doctors, intimate friends and relatives.

Yesterday his neighbors presented Dr. Murray with a plaque in appreciation of his love and friendship. Flowers also were received.

Mrs. Richard Bender, 220 Greene Street, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Each state in the United States has jurisdiction over the holidays it will observe.

ST. MARY'S WINNER—Nora Egan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Egan, 212 Arch Street, will be the St. Mary's High School representative in the state Homemaker of Tomorrow contest. When asked about the written aptitude test the seniors took, Nora said she was really "shocked," for she did not think she had a chance. She considered the essay question the hardest part of the test and the questions pertaining to everyday things, college, buying and selling the easiest. Her favorite study in school is English and as she does not enjoy cooking, she has no favorite recipe.

Another Homemaker Contest Winner Named

Nancy Showman, senior at Fort Hill High School, received the highest score in the Homemaker of Tomorrow aptitude test in her school, Miss Yola Hudson, home economics instructor, reports. She was awarded a golden Homemaker of Tomorrow pin and her school receives a cook book.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Showman, 328 Reservoir Avenue, Nancy is a member of the National Honor Society, Alpha Tri-Hi-Y, co-feature editor of the Sentinel; co-literary editor of the Saber; secretary of the Public Relations and Student Council; and is chairman of the senior farewell assembly. She wants to begin a four-year nursing course at the University of Maryland next year.

She will compete in the state contest for the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow title. Each state winner received a $1,500 scholarship and educational trip to Washington, Williamsburg, Va., and Philadelphia. The state runner-up wins a $500 scholarship. The school of the state winner is to receive a set of Encyclopedia Brittannica.

Guests were Mrs. Jean Staggers, Miss Helen Cherry, Miss Jeanette Bonig, Miss Adelaide Hession and Mrs. Mary Blume.

February 16 was announced as the date for the next meeting to be held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, with Mrs. Lavin chairman; Mrs. Gerkins and Mrs. Kight on the committee.

FLINTSTONE WINNER—Joan Robosson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Robosson, Pleasant Valley Road, will represent Flintstone High School in the state Homemaker of Tomorrow contest. Discussing the written aptitude test, Joan said she was "really surprised," when told she won and does not know what will happen in the state contest. She considered the essay part of the test the hardest and the part on homemaking the easiest. Home economics and music are her favorite studies. She does quite a bit of cooking and making spaghetti is her favorite recipe.

Dr. Murray Is Honored On 80thBirthday

Mrs. F. A. G. Murray and her daughters, Mrs. Nancy Murray Tase and Miss Elizabeth Murray, entertained with a birthday party honoring Dr. Murray on his 80th birthday last evening at their home, Narrows Park.

Dr. Murray was born in Baltimore January 26, 1876, the son of the late Rev. and Mrs. G. Mosley Murray. He graduated from the University of Maryland Medical School in 1897 and served a residency at St. Joseph's Hospital, Baltimore. Dr. Murray began practice in Finzel and moved to Mt. Savage, from where he came to Cumberland in 1919. During World War I he served as a captain in the Medical Corps. Dr. Murray is the father of six children, Mrs. Mabel Allen, Gerard A. Murray, Gordon Murray, G. Walter Murray, Mrs. Tase and Elizabeth Murray.

A three-tiered birthday cake, decorated in all white and bearing 80 white candles, featured the refreshment table, which was centered with a floral arrangement.

Approximately 50 guests attended, including doctors, intimate friends and relatives.

ST. MARY'S WINNER—Nora Egan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Egan, 212 Arch Street, will be the St. Mary's High School representative in the state Homemaker of Tomorrow contest. When asked about the written aptitude test the seniors took, Nora said she was really "shocked," for she did not think she had a chance. She considered the essay question the hardest part of the test and the questions pertaining to everyday things, college, buying and selling the easiest. Her favorite study in school is English and as she does not enjoy cooking, she has no favorite recipe.

Another Homemaker Contest Winner Named

Nancy Showman, senior at Fort Hill High School, received the highest score in the Homemaker of Tomorrow aptitude test in her school, Miss Yola Hudson, home economics instructor, reports. She was awarded a golden Homemaker of Tomorrow pin and her school receives a cook book.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Showman, 328 Reservoir Avenue, Nancy is a member of the National Honor Society, Alpha Tri-Hi-Y, co-feature editor of the Sentinel; co-literary editor of the Saber; secretary of the Public Relations and Student Council; and is chairman of the senior farewell assembly. She wants to begin a four-year nursing course at the University of Maryland next year.

She will compete in the state contest for the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow title. Each state winner received a $1,500 scholarship and educational trip to Washington, Williamsburg, Va., and Philadelphia. The state runner-up wins a $500 scholarship. The school of the state winner is to receive a set of Encyclopedia Brittannica.

Catholic Organization's Efficiency Rating Surprises

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP) — As measured by efficiency experts, nonprofit service organizations today aren't usually run as skillfully as American business firms.

The analysts find there's generally more wasted motion, cumbersome procedures and top-heavy administrative costs in charitable agencies, colleges and churches than in the streamlined, competitive business world.

But the American Institute of Management, one of the major research firms in this field, came up this week with a surprising finding, namely:

That the Roman Catholic Church is more efficient than any nonprofit organization ever studied, and also more efficient than 99 out of 100 American private corporations.

The study, begun in 1948, is the second of a series the institute is making with plans to cover eventually all major denominations, Catholic, Jewish and Potestant.

"It's a long-range project," a spokesman said. "Completing work on one denomination a year is the best we can hope to do."

Right now, he said, preliminary studies are being made concerning phases of the nine-million-member Methodist Church, the country's largest Protestant body.

Prior to the Roman Catholic report, still in the process of being finished before its full publication next fall, the institute had covered only one other denomination, the American Baptist Convention.

That study, made for a fee at the denomination's request and issued a year ago, did not include over-all efficiency rating, since the denomination was in the process of overhauling administrative machinery.

"They were deficient in some categories and preferred to wait," an institute spokesman said.

As for the Roman Catholic study, church operations were tested in 10 broad categories, and came out with an over-all rating of 88 out of a possible 100 points. (75 is excellent.)

Comparatively, only about 40 of 4,000 private corporations analyzed rate that high or better. Of about 1,000 nonprofit organizations studied, none had such a high rating.

A total of 408 of the business firms—about 10 per cent—rate the minimum 75 points for excellence or better. A spokesman said the percentage of nonprofit groups scoring this minimum is far below that for businesses, although exact figures were unavailable.

"These (nonprofit) groups ought to be a lot more efficient," the spokesman said. "From an economic standpoint, they could get a whale of a lot more done for less money.

"Compared to private firms, their administrative costs usually are too high."

The Catholic report, while citing the church for highly effective methods in many respects, also contains numerous criticisms. Editors of the Catholic Digest, a monthly periodical, said of the report:

"Extremely interesting but incomplete.

"Grace supposes nature and the human nature through which divine grace operates is adequately audited and analyzed. However, divine grace cannot be subjected to any audit or analysis."

One of the report's sharpest criticisms is directed at the church's failure to make public any statement of its finances, either generally or in local dioceses.

"At least in those countries in which it has the benefit of tax exemption the church should reveal its finances as a public policy," is just too important to be secretive."

Included in the report is an estimate that the church in the United States has an annual (for 1954) expenditure of 240 million dollars, with this breakdown:

Salaries, 22 per cent; repairs and improvements, 11 per cent; debt payment, 9 per cent; other expenses and interest, 31 per cent; local charity, 6 per cent; missions, 2 per cent; headquarters, 3 per cent; other purposes, 16 per cent.

Worldwide, the church's annual budget was given as five billion dollars.

The report said that the Holy See's capital "has so long been largely invested in Italy," indicating that church officials either aren't aware of better investment opportunities elsewhere, or it is an advantage to a "certain few" to control enterprises nearer home.

Of church spending, however, the report said, "there is no overpayment of personnel and no extravagance," and no other organization does so much with so little.

"There is less extravagance and more painstaking work on an efficient basis at the Holy See than one would believe possible . . ." the report said.

Women In Aviation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP) — Women are achieving equality with men in aviation, says the magazine Planes.

It said more than 164,000 women are engaged in some phase of the industry. About 122,000 are in the actual manufacture of aircraft and another 20,000 are employed by the scheduled airlines.

A total of 11,564 women are active licensed pilots, of which 14 hold helicopter ratings, 14,138 are members of the Civil Air Patrol and nearly 10,000 are serving in military aviation.

First Satellite May Carry Instrument Load Of Two Pounds

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP) — The first man-made space satellite may carry an instrument load of only two pounds, J. A. Van Allen, head of the Physics Department of the State University of Iowa, said today.

Van Allen told the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences in a talk that the satellite will weigh 21 or 22 pounds. He said most of the weight will consist of structural material and tracking devices, with only about two pounds left for instruments such as Geiger counters and the like.

President Eisenhower has announced that a satellite will be launched to an altitude of more than 200 miles to orbit around the earth and provide scientific information on the earth and the atmosphere, during the International Geophysical Year from July 1, 1957, through December, 1958.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

A city-dweller friend of mine claims he can never bring himself to pass a herd of cattle without mentally noting whether they are all facing in the same direction.

He acquired the bothersome quirk, he said, when a chance acquaintance on a train made a casual comment that travel time seemed to pass faster for him when we checked on cows' tendency to head the same way.

For the remainder of that particular trip my friend resolutely inspected every herd within sight of the train. And now it's a habit.

Different Results

I sympathize completely with the poor fellow for I have acquired a similar compulsion of my own.

Often, when I am presented numerous arguments in support of an issue, I study them to see whether they are all pointed toward the same end.

Frequently they are not, even though the proponents feel that their approaches will all lead to an identical goal.

On the question of tax cuts, for instance, there are those who say that immediate reductions before the budget is balanced would help the general economy.

It seems to me, however, that in this era of widespread prosperity the government would be tempting inflation if it decided to slash taxes with one hand while the other was outstretched to borrow necessary operating expenses.

As we all know, there might be more money during a period of inflation but there would be less buying power. So ultimately the overall economy would suffer.

In other words, the objectives of those who advocate tax cuts might be perfectly praiseworthy but their methods just don't line up with the long-range plans advocated by most practical economists.

Own Money Returned

In addition to the tax matter, there are numerous other issues which I am still studying to see whether the many interested parties who have discussed them with me are really headed toward where they want to go.

Take the subject of federal aid to education as an example.

Quite a few Marylanders cite the need for additional classrooms when seeking aid from Washington, but they apparently forget that any government contribution would have to come from tax money which the state itself would pay.

Furthermore, in the case of Maryland, the return would probably be less than the original outlay.

I wonder if it might not be best for states like ours to keep our educational funds right within our borders from the beginning.

Are we perhaps heading into a system in which we'd be donating to others what we need ourselves? And are we heading toward another plan that smacks of socialism?

I wish our task in deciding such things were as easy as the one which pesters my friend who watches cows.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

A city-dweller friend of mine claims he can never bring himself to pass a herd of cattle without mentally noting whether they are all facing in the same direction.

He acquired the bothersome quirk, he said, when a chance acquaintance on a train made a casual comment that travel time seemed to pass faster for him when we checked on cows' tendency to head the same way.

For the remainder of that particular trip my friend resolutely inspected every herd within sight of the train. And now it's a habit.

Different Results

I sympathize completely with the poor fellow for I have acquired a similar compulsion of my own.

Often, when I am presented numerous arguments in support of an issue, I study them to see whether they are all pointed toward the same end.

Frequently they are not, even though the proponents feel that their approaches will all lead to an identical goal.

On the question of tax cuts, for instance, there are those who say that immediate reductions before the budget is balanced would help the general economy.

It seems to me, however, that in this era of widespread prosperity the government would be tempting inflation if it decided to slash taxes with one hand while the other was outstretched to borrow necessary operating expenses.

As we all know, there might be more money during a period of inflation but there would be less buying power. So ultimately the overall economy would suffer.

In other words, the objectives of those who advocate tax cuts might be perfectly praiseworthy but their methods just don't line up with the long-range plans advocated by most practical economists.

Own Money Returned

In addition to the tax matter, there are numerous other issues which I am still studying to see whether the many interested parties who have discussed them with me are really headed toward where they want to go.

Take the subject of federal aid to education as an example.

Quite a few Marylanders cite the need for additional classrooms when seeking aid from Washington, but they apparently forget that any government contribution would have to come from tax money which the state itself would pay.

Furthermore, in the case of Maryland, the return would probably be less than the original outlay.

I wonder if it might not be best for states like ours to keep our educational funds right within our borders from the beginning.

Are we perhaps heading into a system in which we'd be donating to others what we need ourselves? And are we heading toward another plan that smacks of socialism?

I wish our task in deciding such things were as easy as the one which pesters my friend who watches cows.

Hokkaido, Only Japanese Frontier, Awaits Pioneer

By JIM CAREY

SAPPORO, Japan, Jan. 26 (AP)—Hokkaido, Japan's only frontier, sprawls like a great bear athwart the Northern Sea—untamed, unconquered, a slumbering island awaiting the new pioneer.

It is an island of tremendous natural resources, and one of the great mysteries of the Orient is why the industrious Japanese, pinched as they are for space and resources on their other islands, have not been more successful in tapping Hokkaido's wealth.

Hokkaido, northernmost of the Japanese group, is an area of 30,132 square miles, with spiny interior mountains circumscribed by a low coastal plain.

It has the richest timber resources in all Japan—3,475,000 acres of cedar, pine, white oak, spruce, fir and cypress.

It has excellent pasturage.

It has 1,940,000 acres of potentially arable land, although some is of low fertility.

Its coastal waters teem with fish.

It has gold, silver, copper, manganese, lead, zinc, chrome, asbestos, quicksilver, barites and some platinum.

The Japanese have long sought to tap the island's resources. As early as the 13th Century, their fishing villages were dotting the southern coast, pushing back the Ainus who originally peopled the land.

From these early settlements was born the island's major port and oldest city, Hakodate.

The island dozed until the black ships of America's Commodore Matthew Perry stirred Japan in 1853, starting the process of opening up the nation into the outside world. In 1868 the Hokkaido Development Bureau was founded.

Great plans followed, but all foundered or fell short of their development goals.

Now, stripped of her empire but with a swelling population at home, Japan is trying again. Some of the things she hopes to accomplish by 1961 include:

Expand the economy to accommodate 10 million people rather than the present 4,800,000.

Develop the Ishikari River Basin in central Hokkaido by building dams, clearing peat areas for families there.

Convert the volcanic, fog-shrouded Konsen Plain in the southeast into an area for mechanized dairy farms.

Many months ago Japan recognized she must have new capital to even approach this staggering task. The World Bank's agricultural mission has visited Hokkaido and expressed interest in sponsoring "pilot farms" in the Konsen Plain. Plans for these are now being drawn.

The depth of Japanese determination to master Hokkaido may be judged from the fact that through intense application they have succeeded in growing rice—originally a tropical plant—in the island's harsh climate.

Quarles Says Defense Expense To Increase

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP) — Secretary of the Air Force Quarles predicted last night that defense will "become more and more expensive" as weapons grow more complex and technical competition from abroad gets tougher.

While dashing cold water on any hopes for reducing military costs in the near future, Quarles said "no other military organization on earth possesses an instant power equivalent to that of the United States Air Force."

In an address prepared for delivery to the Bond Club of New York, he also declared that the art of welfare has entered a revolutionary new era.

"We now have weapons roughly a million times as powerful, pound for pound, as those with which most of World War II was fought," he said. "And we have delivery systems that make the whole world a single battle field with most of our homes and places of business right in the midst of it."

View Thinking Powers Not Altered By Age Challenged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP) — A government psychologist today challenged the viewpoint of certain people that the thinking powers of individuals remain unchanged as they grow old.

Dr. Jack Botwinik of the National Institute of Mental Health told science writers making a tour of psychiatric institutes in the United States and Canada:

"The people involved with the social problems of aging have commonly taken the viewpoint that it is only the physiological aspects of the body such as the muscles that are altered by age and not the thinking powers of the brain.

"But psychological studies we are conducting here with the elderly indicate that speed of mental reaction is lowered by age, and we are of the opinion therefore that the thinking process itself is altered."

Botwinik said that in jobs involving accuracy, older people are often better than the young—presumably because of experience—but their over-all production is lower.

"The older person just slows down," he said. "I think it is wrong to butter him up too much by just saying 'you're fine'. Actually he is fine but he is an old man, and it's our (society's) job to make him happy."

The tour of science writers is sponsored by the National Mental Health Committee, a nonprofit agency interested in mental health, in consultation with the American Psychiatric Assn.

The National Institute of Mental Health's psychology laboratories were only one stop on the tour.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

Douglas MacArthur is a man of vivid imagination. His island-hopping counter attack demoralized the Japanese. His Inchon landing won what biographer Gen. Courtney Whitney calls the military war in Korea. His method of dealing with the Japanese after V-J Day added a great democracy to the free world.

But during a military career that spanned the history of arms from Indian arrows to the atomic bomb, MacArthur could never have envisioned that at the age of 76 he'd be known, in industrial circles, as the world's leading salesman of an "electronic brain" named UNIVAC.

The UNIVAC is a product of Remington Rand, one of many thousands of involved items which that company turns out. Certain branches of the government as well as firms which have need for multiple calculations, such as insurance companies, buy UNIVACS from MacArthur. They cost more than $1,000,000 each and the deals sometimes are tacitly sealed during a quiet dinner at his Waldorf apartment.

Unlike other salesmen, MacArthur asks for no commission. The $60,000 a year salary he receives as chairman of the board is about four times what he made while supreme commander of Allied forces in the Pacific.

MacArthur has packed so much action and lore into his 76 years that almost any remark a visitor makes can set him off on a related train of thought. When he was campaigning against the Truman administration I asked him one day what he felt might be a remedy for the political situation he found so depressing. He responded with a long and fascinating event that took place in the Napoleonic wars, having to do with a regiment that broke. One of Napolen's generals proposed to the emperor that the remnants of the regiment be formed in a hollow square, around which those who who did not break would march "so that all may look upon the face of "cowardice." Then the general suggested that the flags and eagles of the regiment be burned and every man in it reduced to the rank of orderly.

"No, my general," MacArthur said, quoting Napoleon, "you shall not burn the flag of France nor destroy its eagles. There is no such thing as a good regiment or a bad regiment. There is only good leadership and bad leadership. My suggestion to you, my general, is to go to that regiment and shoot its colonel."

MacArthur and his party had a terribly bumpy ride from New York to Jackson, Miss., where he spoke to the Mississippi Legislature after Mr. Truman pulled him off duty. Everybody was airsick. MacArthur asked that the others leave the plane first. The airport at Jackson swarmed with bands and National Guard units. MacArthur wiped his face with a fresh towel, combed his hair with his hands, snapped on his famous cap at a jaunty angle and came down the aisle.

"Now may I have the Air Medal" I asked him.

"No," said the general rising to the occasion like a fire horse. "But I'll give you the Purple Heart for the ride we just had."

He who had been an ill man a few minutes before, stepped down to the top rung of the plane's ladder, brought his right hand up to his hat . . . and if anybody had blown a bugle at that moment, everybody in sight would have enlisted.

. Happy birthday general, and stick around.

Local Damage Suit Settled In Court

A damage suit scheduled for a hearing yesterday in Circuit Court was settled shortly after the members of the jury had been selected and sworn.

The suit was brought by Ralph S. Uplinger, city, against Alfred George, also of Cumberland, as a result of an accident last April 1 on Thomas Street about 12:45 p. m. Uplinger, through his attorney Thomas N. Berry, claimed injuries to his neck, back and arms were suffered in the crash. He also claims his car was forced against the curb by the other machine.

George was represented by William C. Walsh and William Walsh. Neither side gave any details as to the settlement.

Real Bumper Need

Larry Allen Returns To States

Larry (Finzel) Allen, native of Allegany County and graduate of Beall High, Frostburg, widely known Associated Press foreign correspondent, has returned to the United States on home leave after five years in Southeast Asia on assignments which included the Indochina War. After vacation, he will join the Paris staff.

Allen has had more than his quota of adventure in 17 years as an AP foreign correspondent. He won a Pulitzer prize for war-time reporting from the British Mediterranean fleet, highlighted by coverage of the bombing of the carrier Illustrious, and nearly lost his life when the cruiser Galatea was sunk. Later, he was captured by Axis forces at Tobruk, North Africa. In 1950, he was seriously injured while covering riots in Singapore.

In 1952, the French high command awarded him the Croix de Guerre with bronze star in recognition of his frontline reporting of Indochina fighting. He also has had assignments in Czechoslovakia, Italy, Poland and Israel.

Delinquency Study

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Ford Foundation has granted $103,300 to the New York City Youth Board for a study of a delinquency prediction scale that may make it possible to identify potential juvenile delinquents before they are 6.

Soldiers Not Servants

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Ministry of Defense has banned officers in the Mexican armed forces from using soldiers as personal servants. The ministry said the order was issued because the practice had been abused by officers who had too many soldiers as domestics.

Local 26 Delegates To Attend Meeting

A skilled trades conference sponsored by the International Rubber Workers Union (CIO) today and Saturday in Cleveland will be attended by three delegates from Local 26, URWA.

They are James Stein, president; Leo Barkman and James Smith. This is the second annual conference of the group.

Big Ben, famous London landmark, was named for Sir Benjamin Hall.

The Emperor Constantine set the Vatican Hill apart as the property of the Christian church.

State To Assist In Filing Tax Returns

Edward V. Welsh, manager of the local Income and Sales Tax Division of State Comptroller's office, has announced the schedule which has been set up to assist taxpayers in filing state income tax returns.

Both delinquent and 1955 returns can be paid at the office at 9 Market Street from now through April 16, Welsh said. He added assistance in filing returns will be available for only part of that period.

Auditors will be at the local office from now through February 13, he explained, after which they will visit various communities in this area, before returning here on March 12.

On February 14, representatives will be at the Garrett County Court House, Oakland, and for the next two days at the City Building in Westernport. On Friday, February 17, auditors will be at First National Bank in Barton.

The auditors will be at the Liberty Trust Company in Lonaconing on Monday, February 20; at the Fidelity Savings Bank, Frostburg, on February 21 and February 23, and then for an extended stay at the Devon Club in Luke.

Welsh said representatives will be in Luke on February 24, 27, 28 and 29, and March 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9.

Beginning Monday, March 12, the auditors will be at the Market Street office to assist taxpayers. Welsh said, adding that the office will be open every day, except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. February 22, Washington's Birthday, is a legal holiday, he pointed out, and the local office will not be open that day.

Welsh also reminded taxpayers that they will have an additional day to file their returns this year since April 15 falls on Sunday.

The 1955 tax must be paid in full, he continued, since the state withholding law went into effect only last July.

Local Damage Suit Settled In Court

A damage suit scheduled for a hearing yesterday in Circuit Court was settled shortly after the members of the jury had been selected and sworn.

The suit was brought by Ralph S. Uplinger, city, against Alfred George, also of Cumberland, as a result of an accident last April 1 on Thomas Street about 12:45 p. m. Uplinger, through his attorney Thomas N. Berry, claimed injuries to his neck, back and arms were suffered in the crash. He also claims his car was forced against the curb by the other machine.

George was represented by William C. Walsh and William Walsh. Neither side gave any details as to the settlement.

Real Bumper Need

Larry Allen Returns To States

Larry (Finzel) Allen, native of Allegany County and graduate of Beall High, Frostburg, widely known Associated Press foreign correspondent, has returned to the United States on home leave after five years in Southeast Asia on assignments which included the Indochina War. After vacation, he will join the Paris staff.

Allen has had more than his quota of adventure in 17 years as an AP foreign correspondent. He won a Pulitzer prize for war-time reporting from the British Mediterranean fleet, highlighted by coverage of the bombing of the carrier Illustrious, and nearly lost his life when the cruiser Galatea was sunk. Later, he was captured by Axis forces at Tobruk, North Africa. In 1950, he was seriously injured while covering riots in Singapore.

In 1952, the French high command awarded him the Croix de Guerre with bronze star in recognition of his frontline reporting of Indochina fighting. He also has had assignments in Czechoslovakia, Italy, Poland and Israel.

Delinquency Study

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Ford Foundation has granted $103,300 to the New York City Youth Board for a study of a delinquency prediction scale that may make it possible to identify potential juvenile delinquents before they are 6.

Soldiers Not Servants

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Ministry of Defense has banned officers in the Mexican armed forces from using soldiers as personal servants. The ministry said the order was issued because the practice had been abused by officers who had too many soldiers as domestics.

Local 26 Delegates To Attend Meeting

A skilled trades conference sponsored by the International Rubber Workers Union (CIO) today and Saturday in Cleveland will be attended by three delegates from Local 26, URWA.

They are James Stein, president; Leo Barkman and James Smith. This is the second annual conference of the group.

State To Assist In Filing Tax Returns

Edward V. Welsh, manager of the local Income and Sales Tax Division of State Comptroller's office, has announced the schedule which has been set up to assist taxpayers in filing state income tax returns.

Both delinquent and 1955 returns can be paid at the office at 9 Market Street from now through April 16, Welsh said. He added assistance in filing returns will be available for only part of that period.

Auditors will be at the local office from now through February 13, he explained, after which they will visit various communities in this area, before returning here on March 12.

On February 14, representatives will be at the Garrett County Court House, Oakland, and for the next two days at the City Building in Westernport. On Friday, February 17, auditors will be at First National Bank in Barton.

The auditors will be at the Liberty Trust Company in Lonaconing on Monday, February 20; at the Fidelity Savings Bank, Frostburg, on February 21 and February 23, and then for an extended stay at the Devon Club in Luke.

Welsh said representatives will be in Luke on February 24, 27, 28 and 29, and March 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9.

Beginning Monday, March 12, the auditors will be at the Market Street office to assist taxpayers, Welsh said, adding that the office will be open every day, except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. February 22, Washington's Birthday, is a legal holiday, he pointed out, and the local office will not be open that day.

Welsh also reminded taxpayers that they will have an additional day to file their returns this year since April 15 falls on Sunday.

County Firemen Plan Convention At Westernport

Paul Davis Named Chairman

WESTERNPORT—Potomac Fire Company 2 is mapping plans for the annual Allegany-Garrett County Firemen's Association convention here in June.

President Ira Boyce has appointed Paul Davis as general chairman, assisted by J. Stuart Kuhnle and Donald Bateson.

Boyce also named William Mayles as committee chairman of the carnival which will be held in conjunction with the convention the week of June 4-9, Monday through Saturday.

Meetings of the Association will be held at the Potomac Club, Main Street, June 7. Firemen will meet on the second floor while the Ladies Auxiliary will meet on the ground floor.

These meetings are expected to get underway at 1 p. m. Immediately following the sessions delegates will attend a dinner in a nearby church.

A street parade will be staged. Invitations are being prepared for nearly 100 fire companies, bands and drum corps from the Tri-State area. These units will compete for $300 in prizes.

Mayles announced that contracts are in the mail for the program. The Thomas Joyland Shows will be presented at Memorial Park and Children's Day will be observed.

At a recent meeting of the fire company, Boyce appointed the following committees: Bingo—Harry Hackett, chairman, assisted by Lee Maphis, James Cirillo and Charles Johnson; entertainment — Clyde Sharpless, chairman, Paul Michael, Thomas Michael and Calvin Shingler; audit—Victor Keller, chairman, James Cirillo and Rev. Andrew Agnew. Paul Michael was appointed manager of the Potomac Club.

The company now has 50 active members and there are openings for at least 10 more. Applications for membership, subject to approval by the board of directors, may be secured from members of the company.

Lonaconing Blood Appeal Gets Little Response

200 Donors Needed For Mobile Unit

LONACONING—Nineteen pledge cards are all that have returned to the Lonaconing Blood Bank committee to date—and 200 blood donors are needed for scheduling on Tuesday, February 7.

Residents are asked to send in pledge cards to be signed by Volunteers from the Blood Bank committee before their next meeting, Tuesday, at 7:30 p. m. at the Red Cross room, when final plans will be made for the bloodmobile unit's visit.

In order to assure a supply of blood in Allegany County hospitals, the quota is needed when the unit is set up at the Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, VFW home, Lonaconing, for Barton to Midland donors.

There is no substitute for whole blood. Anyone from age 18 to 59 who weighs 110 lbs. or over, is considered for blood volunteers. It is a safe, simple and painless procedure with every protection given the donor, sponsors explain.

All blood donated by Allegany County residents is used in the county and for Allegany County residents who are hospitalized and in need of blood transfusions.

A blood donor gives only 30-minutes of his time from the moment he enters the bloodmobile unit, gives blood, eats lunch and rests. The blood he gives may save a life.

Everyone is urged to attend the meeting January 31, to aid in making the Blood Bank drive on February 7 a success!

A donation of $10 was made to the March of Dimes and plans are being formulated for the official visitation of District Deputy Eloise Stafford of Morning Star Temple No. 1 of Lonaconing for the February 16 meeting. Also discussed was the district convention of Pythian Sisters to be held in Midland with members of the local Sisterhood as hostesses. The date will be set for sometime in May.

The official visitation of the Grand Chief, Mrs. Marie Harding of Gaithersburg will be held the evening of May 3 in Red Men's Hall. The district comprises Temples from Oakland, Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing and Midland.

Plans Unfold For Piedmont Centennial

Parade Scheduled During Observance

PIEDMONT — Officials planning the centennial observance of the Town of Piedmont report that $1,000 will be given away in parade prizes. Eighty-three organizations are expected to participate in the march May 26.

A parade of floats and several musical units will be earlier during the week of May 20-27.

Edward Pendergast Jr., chairman of the parade committee, presented plans for the affair at a recent meeting. His assistants are Thomas Donnelly, William Hood, Robert Keller, Paul McKenzie, T. J. Martin and Raymond Lee, marshal.

Mrs. Virginia Suter is chairman of the "Sunbonnet Sues," assisted by Mrs. Harry K. Drane, contact, and Mrs. Carleton Bell, treasurer.

Mrs. Margaret Lee Hannon, chairman of the Queen committee, discussed plans for that part of the program. Her committee includes Mrs. Ormal Hoover, Mrs Wilbur Cather, Joseph Diaz, V. Browne Kooken, Mrs. Betty Brundige, O. D. Collett, Russell Brown, James Kelly, Miss Anna Lee Gleason, John Bissett and Fred Imhoff, James Kelly is secretary.

The name for those wearing beards is the "Rail-Splitters." Classifications for prizes will be fullbeard, vandyke, mustache or any combinations of the aforesaid. Clean shaven persons will be known as "Slickers." Those registering for beards will pay $1.50 and clean shavers, $2.50. They will wear a railroad cap at all times in public.

Organizations will have chapters and a "court" will be set up for violations.

Garland Cheshire, president of the Westernport and Luke Lions Club, stated that his club had been planning for three years to sell American flags on Memorial Day to merchants, and homes.

If the centennial committee feels that the club will infringe in any way on its program, he said, the club will postpone the activity at this time.

Wayne Haines and Theodore Combs, representing the Tri-Towns Fire Company, stated they will offer their services as co-chairman of a committee to operate a carnival for the fire company during the week of the celebration.

Different percentages for the fire company and centennial were discussed. It was agreed they would report back to the fire company and a committee from the organization will meet with a committee from the centennial to agree upon a plan.

Food Registration To Begin Monday

FROSTBURG — Registration for surplus food commodities will be held here Monday and Tuesday, January 30 and 31 in the fire hall, according to Mrs. J. C. Cobey, Red Cross branch chairman.

All persons who wish surplus food allotments in March, must register on one of those two days. Under federal regulations, dealing with distribution of surplus foods, it is necessary that the head of the family register for his or her own commodities, unless this is impossible due to illness or other reasonable excuse.

The registration earlier this month covered the February distribution, while the one scheduled next week is to cover the March distribution, officials explain.

The private school, located in the Woodsdale section of Wheeling, has three school buildings and an annex used as gymnasium and assembly room. It includes children in kindergarten through the eighth grade.

Bishop Campbell said executive boards of both groups met here yesterday to discuss the proposal, initiated by the school, and will meet again to work out further details. He said the aim is to "insure the stability and permanence of the school in the community."

Westernport To Use Vote Machines

Town Election Planned May 22

WESTERNPORT — William A. Wilson, president of the Board of Election Supervisors for Allegany County, has informed Westernport officials they may use voting machines for the town election May 22.

The only cost of using the machines is $10 each for transportation. Wilson's letter also stated the town would need one machine for each 500 registered voters.

At a meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and Town Commissioners last night, it was ordered that the offer be accepted and that three voting machines will be needed.

A bill was read for $569.60 for the hauling of shale placed on slippery streets. Melvin Lipscomb, Barnum, W. Va., was ordered paid for the work.

Mayor Michael reported that the secretary of the engineering firm of Glace and Glace of Harrisburg, Pa., informed him by telephone that the proposed increased water rates as suggested by the firm had been mailed to the Mayor and Commissioners here.

It was ordered that Philip Harig, Frostburg civil engineer, be contacted to survey a plot of ground on the new Bruce High School property on Philos Avenue for the placing of a storage water tank. The tank will provide water for the school and residents living in that area.

County Firemen Plan Convention At Westernport

Paul Davis Named Chairman

WESTERNPORT—Potomac Fire Company 2 is mapping plans for the annual Allegany-Garrett County Firemen's Association convention here in June.

President Ira Boyce has appointed Paul Davis as general chairman, assisted by J. Stuart Kuhnle and Donald Bateson.

Boyce also named William Mayles as committee chairman of the carnival which will be held in conjunction with the convention the week of June 4-9, Monday through Saturday.

Meetings of the Association will be held at the Potomac Club, Main Street, June 7. Firemen will meet on the second floor while the Ladies Auxiliary will meet on the ground floor.

These meetings are expected to get underway at 1 p. m. Immediately following the sessions delegates will attend a dinner in a nearby church.

A street parade will be staged. Invitations are being prepared for nearly 100 fire companies, bands and drum corps from the Tri-State area. These units will compete for $300 in prizes.

Mayles announced that contracts are in the mail for the program. The Thomas Joyland Shows will be presented at Memorial Park and Children's Day will be observed.

At a recent meeting of the fire company, Boyce appointed the following committees: Bingo—Harry Hackett, chairman, assisted by Lee Maphis, James Cirillo and Charles Johnson; entertainment — Clyde Sharpless, chairman, Paul Michael, Thomas Michael and Calvin Shingler; audit—Victor Keller, chairman, James Cirillo and Rev. Andrew Agnew. Paul Michael was appointed manager of the Potomac Club.

The company now has 50 active members and there are openings for at least 10 more. Applications for membership, subject to approval by the board of directors, may be secured from members of the company.

Lonaconing Blood Appeal Gets Little Response

200 Donors Needed For Mobile Unit

LONACONING—Nineteen pledge cards are all that have returned to the Lonaconing Blood Bank committee to date—and 200 blood donors are needed for scheduling on Tuesday, February 7.

Residents are asked to send in pledge cards to be signed by Volunteers from the Blood Bank committee before their next meeting, Tuesday, at 7:30 p. m. at the Red Cross room, when final plans will be made for the bloodmobile unit's visit.

In order to assure a supply of blood in Allegany County hospitals, the quota is needed when the unit is set up at the Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, VFW home, Lonaconing, for Barton to Midland donors.

There is no substitute for whole blood. Anyone from age 18 to 59 who weighs 110 lbs. or over, is considered for blood volunteers. It is a safe, simple and painless procedure with every protection given the donor, sponsors explain.

All blood donated by Allegany County residents is used in the county and for Allegany County residents who are hospitalized and in need of blood transfusions.

A blood donor gives only 30-minutes of his time from the moment he enters the bloodmobile unit, gives blood, eats lunch and rests. The blood he gives may save a life.

Everyone is urged to attend the meeting January 31, to aid in making the Blood Bank drive on February 7 a success!

Organizations will have chapters and a "court" will be set up for violations.

Garland Cheshire, president of the Westernport and Luke Lions Club, stated that his club had been planning for three years to sell American flags on Memorial Day to merchants, and homes.

If the centennial committee feels that the club will infringe in any way on its program, he said, the club will postpone the activity at this time.

Wayne Haines and Theodore Combs, representing the Tri-Towns Fire Company, stated they will offer their services as co-chairman of a committee to operate a carnival for the fire company during the week of the celebration.

Different percentages for the fire company and centennial were discussed. It was agreed they would report back to the fire company and a committee from the organization will meet with a committee from the centennial to agree upon a plan.

Food Registration To Begin Monday

FROSTBURG — Registration for surplus food commodities will be held here Monday and Tuesday, January 30 and 31 in the fire hall, according to Mrs. J. C. Cobey, Red Cross branch chairman.

All persons who wish surplus food allotments in March, must register on one of those two days. Under federal regulations, dealing with distribution of surplus foods, it is necessary that the head of the family register for his or her own commodities, unless this is impossible due to illness or other reasonable excuse.

Westernport To Use Vote Machines

Town Election Planned May 22

WESTERNPORT — William A. Wilson, president of the Board of Election Supervisors for Allegany County, has informed Westernport officials they may use voting machines for the town election May 22.

The only cost of using the machines is $10 each for transportation. Wilson's letter also stated the town would need one machine for each 500 registered voters.

At a meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and Town Commissioners last night, it was ordered that the offer be accepted and that three voting machines will be needed.

Bloodmobile Visits Keyser Next Tuesday

200 Volunteer Donors Sought

KEYSER—The first of two Red Cross bloodmobile unit visits to Keyser this year will be made Tuesday from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the Keyser High School gymnasium. Officials request 200 registrations.

Tuesday's quota is 160 pints of blood. In August, when the second and last visit will be made, another 160 pints will be sought.

If the quota is not secured next week, there will be no bloodmobile visit here during the remainder of the year, and it may be necessary to go back to the three assignments per year.

Women of the Moose, who have been steady workers in the blood bank operations, have begun preliminary work for next Tuesday. They have been making telephone calls and house-to-house calls to assure that there will be enough potential donors present when the bloodmobile personnel arrives.

In addition, Women of the Moose will furnish canteen workers for the entire time of the day's activities. Word has been received that a number of persons will be here from as far as Petersburg to give blood.

Miss Gay Mellon, local district Red Cross secretary, said she hopes this year's program will be a success as there are constant calls for blood.

W. Va. Senate Holds Line On Extraneous Legislation

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 26 (AP)—The Senate affirmed again today its resolve not to be sidetracked by extraneous legislation at this budget session.

During today's 14-minute session, the Senate sent to committee two resolutions asking permission to introduce legislation falling outside the scope of the agenda.

The sponsors of each made the motions to refer them to committee, which in effect disposes of them for this session.

It wes learned that the Rules Committee had considered both in private and agreed the proposals neither came within the purview of the call or could be considered in an emergency category.

One of the resolutions pertained to Sen. Martin's bill to reorganize the Racing Commission, and the other was designed by Minority Leader Stemple (R-Barbour) to include a new proviso in a constitutional amendment already submitted for a vote of the people this fall.

The Senate set for 2 p. m. Feb. 7 its secret session for consideration of executive appointments. Gov. William C. Marland this week sent up a list of 47 nominations asking Senate confirmation.

The nominations were made to fill various vacancies in state departments, agencies or institutions, or reappointments to terms which have expired since the Senate last met in May, 1955.

The Senate, before adjourning until 10 a. m. tomorrow, passed and sent to the governor two House-passed local bills.

One would enable Wellsburg to use funds for construction of a swimming pool; the other would permit Grant County to establish a memorial hospital. Both were passed 30-0, and made effective from passage.

The House met for an hour and 25 minutes before it also adjourned to 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Reported to the House floor by its Finance Committee as a bill sponsored by Speaker Flannery to give teachers a salary increase which would amount to $6,400,000 a year. The committee recommended passage of the bill, which had been approved yesterday by the Education Committee.

Bloodmobile Visits Keyser Next Tuesday

200 Volunteer Donors Sought

KEYSER—The first of two Red Cross bloodmobile unit visits to Keyser this year will be made Tuesday from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the Keyser High School gymnasium. Officials request 200 registrations.

Tuesday's quota is 160 pints of blood. In August, when the second and last visit will be made, another 160 pints will be sought.

If the quota is not secured next week, there will be no bloodmobile visit here during the remainder of the year, and it may be necessary to go back to the three assignments per year.

Women of the Moose, who have been steady workers in the blood bank operations, have begun preliminary work for next Tuesday. They have been making telephone calls and house-to-house calls to assure that there will be enough potential donors present when the bloodmobile personnel arrives.

In addition, Women of the Moose will furnish canteen workers for the entire time of the day's activities. Word has been received that a number of persons will be here from as far as Petersburg to give blood.

Miss Gay Mellon, local district Red Cross secretary, said she hopes this year's program will be a success as there are constant calls for blood.

Maple Festival Queen Contest Entries Include Princesses From Twelve Schools

MEYERSDALE—As the stage is being set for the 1956 annual Somerset County Maple Festival, twelve area high schools are selecting the school beauties who will compete for the coveted honor of being Pennsylvania's Queen Maple IX. The girls will be presented in the Maple Queen contest, Wednesday, February 22, at 8 p. m. in the Cochran Junior High School at Johnstown.

Two of the entries have already been announced. They are Miss Hazel Reckner, Salisbury Elk-Lick Junior Senior High School; and Miss Ila Gay Miller, of Stonycreek-Shanksville Joint High School.

Miss Ila Gay Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller of Stoystown RD 3, Maple Princess to represent Stonycreek-Shanksville School at the Maple Festival to be held in Meyersdale, March 22-25, is 17 years of age, five feet one inch in height and weighs 105 pounds. She has brown eyes and dark blonde hair. She is light-complexioned. Her measurements are: bust "34; waist, 25"; hips, 33".

The Shanksville-Stonycreek joint high school Princess will present as her talent, the reading, "Little Boy Blue". She will be accompanied by Beverly Deil.

Miss Miller is taking the commercial course. Her school activities include varsity cheerleader, a member of the joint high school chorus, Future Homemakers of America, Industrial Arts Club, yearbook staff and photography club.

School Had 1955 Queen

The Shanksville-Stonycreek princess has but one hobby—taking pictures, which she enjoys immensely. She is a member of the Evangelical United Brethren Church at Kantner.

Miss Miller has no plans to attend college following her graduation from high school. She does, however, hope to secure a secretarial job.

Thrilled with winning the Maple Princess contest at Shanksville-Stonycreek, Miss Miller is looking forward to the Maple Queen contest, remembering with pride that her school sent Miss Mona Lea Hillegass to the 1955 Maple Festival as Queen.

Salisbury Entry

Miss Hazel Reckner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Reckner of Salisbury, has been named to represent Salisbury-Elk Lick Junior-Senior High School in the festival.

The girls will be judged on personality, poise, beauty, charm, general appearance, talent and will return a second time to be judged on personality, which includes intellect and ability to appear in public.

Every representative will have a chance to participate in the Maple Festival. Besides the queen there are two Maids of Honor and the remaining girls will serve as princesses in the Queen's court. The winner of the contest will be awarded a $100 Senatorial scholarship and all the girls will receive numerous gifts.

Fair complexioned with blonde hair and blue eyes, 17-year-old Miss Reckner is five feet four inches tall and weighs 115 pounds. Her measurements are: bust 34; waist 26 and hips 36.

Wants To Be Nurse

With a talk about nursing entitled "Angels of Mercy," which she composed herself, Hazel won out over three other contestants in her high school contest. She was accompanied by Isabelle Maust, who supplied a musical background on the piano. Mrs. Lee Miller, school nurse, also assisted her.

In high school Miss Reckner is taking the general course and also takes part in numerous other activities. These include: feature editor, school newspaper; picture editor, yearbook; majorette, Salisbury band. She also had a part in the senior class play.

According to Hazel her favorite classes are bookkeeping and home economics and her favorite hobbies are painting, reading, sewing and needlework. She is also an active member of the Salisbury Church of the Brethren.

Plans after graduation for Hazel include working and then if possible entering nurses training. She states that she would like very much to become a nurse.

W. Va. Senate Holds Line On Extraneous Legislation

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 26 (AP)—The Senate affirmed again today its resolve not to be sidetracked by extraneous legislation at this budget session.

During today's 14-minute session, the Senate sent to committee two resolutions asking permission to introduce legislation falling outside the scope of the agenda.

The sponsors of each made the motions to refer them to committee, which in effect disposes of them for this session.

It wes learned that the Rules Committee had considered both in private and agreed the proposals neither came within the purview of the call or could be considered in an emergency category.

One of the resolutions pertained to Sen. Martin's bill to reorganize the Racing Commission, and the other was designed by Minority Leader Stemple (R-Barbour) to include a new proviso in a constitutional amendment already submitted for a vote of the people this fall.

The Senate set for 2 p. m. Feb. 7 its secret session for consideration of executive appointments. Gov. William C. Marland this week sent up a list of 47 nominations asking Senate confirmation.

The nominations were made to fill various vacancies in state departments, agencies or institutions, or reappointments to terms which have expired since the Senate last met in May, 1955.

The Senate, before adjourning until 10 a. m. tomorrow, passed and sent to the governor two House-passed local bills.

One would enable Wellsburg to use funds for construction of a swimming pool; the other would permit Grant County to establish a memorial hospital. Both were passed 30-0, and made effective from passage.

The House met for an hour and 25 minutes before it also adjourned to 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Reported to the House floor by its Finance Committee as a bill sponsored by Speaker Flannery to give teachers a salary increase which would amount to $6,400,000 a year. The committee recommended passage of the bill, which had been approved yesterday by the Education Committee.

Bear Uses Finland For Propaganda

Soviet Russia is basing a two-pronged propaganda attack on its return yesterday of the Porkkala military base to Finland. To the Finns Russia is saying in effect, you have nothing to fear from us as long as you allow us to protect our legitimate interests.

To the rest of the world, Soviet Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov said in September, when the intention to return Porkkala was announced: Other nations, namely the United States, could follow Russia's example and liquidate military bases on foreign soil.

The Finns are not likely to be duped. The record of Soviet-Finnish relations, which began auspiciously, has long been marked by aggression and counter-aggression.

The years until World War II were marked by vigorous suppression of Communists in Finland and a bloodless rightist uprising in 1932. In 1934 a non-aggression pact was made with the U.S.S.R.

With World War II erupting in 1939, Russia demanded a retrocession of Finnish areas near Leningrad, plus the port of Hango, in the southwest tip of Finland, viewed as necessary to Leningrad's defense. Finland rejected the Soviet bid, despite the offer of considerable compensation in territory, population, and funds. Russia invaded Finland on November 30, 1939.

The Finns held out for 105 days but Mannerheim decided to stop fighting after Soviet forces had cracked the line of defenses named in his honor. In the peace of March 12, 1940, Russia got 10 per cent of Finland's territory, including the large eastern city of Viipuri, the Karelian isthmus, an area around Lake Ladoga, and Hango.

Under German pressure, Finland reopened the fighting in June 1941. Initially, Finland regained all the territory lost a year earlier, but later reverses caused the Finns to withdraw from the war in September 1944. Under the peace terms Finland returned to her 1904 borders. This meant the loss of the Petsamo area, Viipuri, the Karelian region. Finland regained Hango at the cost of leasing to Russia the peninsula of Porkkala, also near Helsinki, for 50 years.

Finland also agreed to pay Russia an indemnity of $300 million in the equivalent of 1938 U. S. dollars. The payments were completed in 1952 at a cost, in present dollars, of at least $570 million.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Fussing And Fuming

It would seem to me that by now any intelligent man would know that the United States has had and is having lots of trouble over China. This trouble has been fairly continuous, in one form or another, since the Taiping Rebellion (1850-1864). It reached a crescendo of ugliness during the Boxer Rebellion (1900). It subsided and the United States became very popular during the Sun Yatsen Revolution (1911); then it got very bad again during the Student Movement (1919) as a protest against Woodrow Wilson's compromises with the Japanese during the Paris Peace Conference. Then our troubles subsided for a while and the Nationalist government came into existence. It was antagonistic to Japan and therefore at that time friendly to the United States. Then the Chinese Communist party seized the mainland of China (1949) and we had a permanent enemy. All that was left to us of friendship among the Chinese was on Formosa, also called Taiwan.

All the fussing and fuming about our being on the brink of war with Red China is political poppycock. We are always on the brink of war with Red China. That is now a permanent relationship. Surely we have not already forgotten that the Korean War was a war between the United States and Red China and that the United States did not win that war. We permitted ourselves an out: it was a United Nations police action and the Chinese we fought there were volunteers. If you are taken in by that kind of verbal gibberish, you live in an intellectual happyland and it does not much matter what the facts of a situation are anyhow.

The Democrats know all the facts about the troubles in China. Many of the recent ones have been of their making. Nobody comes out too well in the China story because the history of it goes back to the early 1920s when the Communists were organizing there and our government people were too dumb and starry-eyed to understand that a Marxist, whether Russian or Chinese, must hate the United States which had to play the historic role of the principal enemy of Marxism when the lines were drawn. For myself, I can say that I saw the picture as it had to develop and wrote about it as early, in China, as 1920. For it, I was attacked and smeared as pro-Japanese, which at that time was the smear word. There were others who saw the developing picture, but not among the top men in our government. It can be said that from the Washington Conference (1921-1922) to the present day, the China policy of the United States has been wobbly, uncertain, unfocussed and that because of this condition we have fought a major war with Japan and a minor war with Red China.

So when the politicians get fussing and fuming about anybody, John Foster Dulles, a Life reporter or a ghost-writer using the phrase "brink of war" with Red China, they are just stirring up the wind in the hope that out of it will come some political advantage. To one who is situated as I am at present, this is silly stuff. The time ought to be long passed when we lay banana peels about the streets of Washington in the hope that our statesmen will slip. We have been slipping too badly without any aid and one would imagine that election year or no, maturity would dictate a serious approach to serious problems. The United States cannot afford to come to terms with Red China on Red China's terms without losing the last scintilla of "face" and prestige in Asia. We might as well accept the isolationism that the Soviet Universal State offers us as the best result of a policy that started with Franklin D. Roosevelt and, in philosophy, has changed little since.

There is no advantage in denouncing this policy except as an objective historian might; from the standpoint of practical government, this is what we have and the results as they are in 1956 are what we have to deal with. We cannot alter anything that happened between 1946 and 1956; these are faits accomplis. They are the facts of our historic life. Short of war, we cannot change a single one of them. But we must go on and we must go on with patriotism and a sense of national dignity. If we cannot form ranks on a program of patriotism and national dignity, we have nothing really to say.

The New Scientific Approach

Advantages Of Parliamentary System Discussed

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — People abroad have always had difficulty in understanding why the United States government has such a rigid tenure for its presidents but never before have they been as bewildered as they are now. When they read the American newspapers today, they are confronted with these developments:

First, the Senate Rules Committee has proposed that a 10-man commission be appointed to study the question of when a President of the United States is unable to discharge his duties and should be displaced.

Second, President Eisenhower, in discussing his heart attack of four months ago, tells his press conference: "Now, I have to guess as to the next five years, and the problem is what will be the effect on the presidency, not on me, and that is the problem . . ."

Not Covered By Law

Here is the spectacle of the head of the most powerful nation in the free world trying to guess what his health may be in a whole year of his present term and in four years of a second term if he is re-elected.

Here is also a coordinate branch of the government, comprising the people's elected representatives, trying to find out what to do if the head of the government is too sick to carry on his duties for a while.

Plainly present laws do not cover the different contingencies that may arise, and it is doubtful if any law would be constitutional which sought to remove a president except by "impeachment" for having committed crimes and misdemeanors.

Only a constitutional amendment can extricate the people of the United States from the dilemma. There's a simple solution. It's one Canada has adopted. It's one Australia and New Zealand and South Africa, as well as Great Britain, have adopted. It is known as the parliamentary system, which grants to the people's elected representatives the right at any time to remove their chief executive and elect another person in his place.

Provides Flexibility

The question of whether a simple majority should be enough, as it is in many countries, or whether it should be by a two-thirds vote might be debated. But the system is flexible because, if the head of the government becomes ill, he can step down voluntarily or be retired from office, and yet he can come back to his post later if he recovers his health provided the constitutional majority of the national legislature desires him to do so.

There have been many objections on the part of people in this country to the adoption of the parliamentary system which works so well in Canada, but it cannot be denied that it provides a flexibility which the Constitution of this country does not furnish.

Why, moreover, under the present system, should any appointed or elected officer or committee of Congress decide whether a president is too ill to serve? Why should such authority be delegated to any group of physicians? Only the people's elected representatives should have that power, and this means the Congress.

It has been suggested that in most instances a president would voluntarily resign anyhow if really in bad health. But if he hoped to recover some day, why should he even for a little while give up his post if he can't get it back? A constitutional amendment that permits the vice president to become acting president would never suffice because nobody could tell just when he should cease his temporary duties and give the office back to the president who had been ill.

Amendment Overdue

It has also been suggested that, if any president refused voluntarily to leave his office when ill or mentally incapacitated, he could be removed by impeachment. But the Constitution limits the power of impeachment to "conviction of treason, bribery, or high crimes and misdemeanors." There is no clause in the Constitution at present implying even remotely that a president with integrity could be removed by Congress.

An amendment to the Constitution which eliminates the word "impeachment" has long been overdue. The power to "remove" a president could be vested in the Congress with a two-thirds vote required for that purpose. Along with this would have to go a provision to remove the Congress itself if a disagreement arises and to require a general election, as often happens under the parliamentary system.

Clearly under the existing constitution, the American people could have a disabled president, a sick president and even a deranged president, and they couldn't do anything about it.

Similarly, if a president has outlived his usefulness or no longer represents the will of the country and the people want an immediate transfer of power to a new party, the parliamentary system provides that opportunity. This change certainly would do away with the dangerous interregnum that occurs when a president or his party may be defeated in November of a presidential-election year and neither he nor the new Congress can take office till January. Two months is a long, long time in an atomic age.

Diet And Hormones Play Role In Arteriosclerosis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

We are beginning to believe that hardening of the arteries is a disease rather than part of the aging process. This means it could be prevented, treated, or cured. Aging has been blamed because the condition takes time to develop. But other factors, including hormones and diet, play a role.

The possible relationship between diet, calories, and arteriosclerosis stems from observations that the disease seldom occurs in nationalities and races that consume high protein diets devoid of fats. These individuals usually are thin, active, and often uncivilized.

The objection to bringing this group into the controversy is that they have a life expectancy of approximately 30 years of age because of their susceptibility to infection. In other words, they don't live long enough to develop arteriosclerosis. Hardening of the arteries is more prevalent in races with a high fat and cholesterol intake. We belong to this group.

As man becomes more civilized, his taste improves and he adds more fat to his meals. This nutriment is derived largely from dairy and poultry products, in contrast to the diet of primitive food gathering peoples.

Statistics show that Americans now obtain 40 per cent of their calories from fat. Their daily consumption is equivalent to 19 tablespoons in contrast to the Chinese who take less than two tablespoons. Much of this fat is invisible because it is hidden in eggs, milk, nuts, olives, fish, and pastry. Even the leanest has an appreciable amount between the muscle fibers.

On the other hand, we see the fats in olive oil, cream, butter, salad dressing, pork, peanut butter, and that trimmed from meat and fowl. Oleomargarine and shortening contain vegetable fat. With our longer life expectancy, these fats and calories are sticking to our arteries as well as to our ribs.

The high fat-high caloric diet is only one facet to the problem. It is not a coincidence that women are less susceptible to heart disease than are middle-aged men. It is true that women take stress and strain in their stride and are less inclined to want to conquer the world or make millions. But this is not the only reason why there are so many more widows than widowers.

We know that the female sex hormones (estrogens) discourage fatty molecules from lodging in the arteries and setting the stage for arteriosclerosis. In the future, more use will be made of hormone therapy along with the low fat diet in preventing heart attacks and treating the effects of coronary thrombosis.

PREGNANCY AND MURMUR

Mrs. D. writes: Does pregnancy make a heart murmur worse?

REPLY

Pregnancy adds an extra burden to the work of the heart but does not necessarily make a murmur worse.

USELESS

Mrs. W. writes: If a person with gray hair drinks a few drops of iodine every day, will it make his hair dark?

REPLY

This is a whopper. There is no relationship between loss of hair pigment and a deficiency of iodine.

SLEEP PARALYSIS

L. J. writes: In your article on sleep, you say that sleep paralysis is of emotional origin. Is this the conclusion reached by all physicians.

REPLY

I never made this statement. Sleep paralysis must not be confused with cataplexy, in which emotional reactions may make the person so weak he slumps to the floor.

FIXED EYES

R. C. writes: What causes staring eyes?

REPLY

This condition occurs in severe parkinsonism (shaking palsy) and in exophthalmic goiter when the eyeballs protrude. In the minor forms of epilepsy, such as petit mal, the victim has a blackout, at which times he stares into space.

NAPHTHA ODOR

L. B. writes: What is wrong with a person who craves the smell of naphtha?

REPLY

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

John Straley tells about the Wall Street trader who encountered an old classmate who had fallen on evil days, automatically reached into his wallet and handed the down-and-outer a five dollar bill. "What's this?" sneered the ungrateful recipient. "Two years ago you met me and gave me fifty bucks. Last year you retrenched to twenty. And now you hand me a measly five spot."

The trader, embarrassed, explained, "Two years ago I got married. Last year we had our first child. All those extra expenses and mouths to feed . . ."

"So that's it," roared the down-and-outer. "Raising a family on my dough, eh?'

The Indiana Bell Telephone Company reports that a little boy called Information in quite a tizzy one afternoon and demanded the number of the local movie house.

The operator said, "You will find that number listed in your telephone directory."

"I know," countered the little boy, "but I'm standing on it."

Gas Tycoons From Texas Have Built Empires With Special Tax Favors

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Real drive behind the natural gas bill now under hot debate in the Senate is a relatively small group of big oil-gas men. The Federal Power Commission has shown that 70 per cent of all gas purchased by the pipelines comes from only 42 oil-gas producers, as a result of which Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois has drafted an amendment to the gas bill exempting the smaller producers numbering several thousand from federal regulations.

The big producers, however, would still be regulated.

Simultaneously, Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon has drafted an amendment which, if the Fulbright-Harris bill passes, would require every unregulated company to forfeit the 27½ per cent oil depletion tax exemption, and also forfeit its right to deduct from taxes the cost of drilling wells.

These two lush tax bonanzas which don't go to any other American industry are the chief reason for the political power of the Texas oil millionaires and why today they can make some senators jump through the hoop at the beck and call of their little finger.

Roll Call Of Tycoons

Few people realize how vast are the empires built up by the Texas gas-oil tycoons, thanks to the fact that they are taxed 27½ per cent less than others and can write off the entire cost of drilling a well in one year. When a farmer builds a barn, in contrast, he can't write off the cost for 30 years. When he buys a tractor, he can't write the cost off in less than eight years. Even U.S. Steel has to spread tax amortizations on a new plant over five years — and this only if it gets special permission from the U.S. Treasury.

However, here are some of the empires built up by the tax-favored Texas tycoons who now want further special exemption from the Supreme Court ruling that their gas must be regulated:

H. L. Hunt — Former gambler from El Dorado, Ark., rated the wealthiest man in the world, has an income of $140,000 a day, and is worth two billions. He was a heavy backer of General MacArthur for president and Senator McCarthy for almost anything he wanted. . . . During the course of backing McCarthy, Hunt took over four different radio-TV programs, which he offered free to networks — Facts Forum, Answers for Americans, Reporters Round-Up, and State of the Nation. These were operated by foundations, therefore were tax-free. Some of them featured a book by Allan Zoll, whose American Patriots is on the attorney general's subversives list. . . . Facts Forum gave wide distribution to Senator McCarthy's book, accusing the Washington Post, St. Louis Dispatch, and other distinguished journals of following the Communist line. . . . Moderator for Facts Forum was Robert E. Lee, later appointed to the Federal Communications Commission. . . . Hunt backed Sen. Glenn Beall of Maryland with $3,000 during his election campaign. ## 1952 And 1956

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

"The difference between 1952 and this year is very simple and pretty important. In 1952, the President was really reluctant to become a candidate, because he hated the idea of getting into politics. But he had no doubt about his capacity to do the job, and when the call drew strong, he responded to it.

"This time, although he often hankers for retirement, Ike is not at all reluctant to become a candidate. But he has very grave doubts about his capacity to do the job, because of his heart attack. And doubts of this kind are not going to be resolved by any call from outside, however strong.

"In fact, he'll make up his own mind; and the only question he will have to answer will be the question about his health."

Wants To Be Candidate

Such is the best solution now obtainable to the enormous puzzle that completely dominates current American politics. It comes from one who should know the true state of the matter better than almost anyone else—an old, close presidential friend who was intimately involved in the draft-Eisenhower movement four years ago, and today is again intimately involved in the increasingly elaborate preparations to run the President for a second term "if his health permits."

On the positive side, this picture of the President's state of mind justifies the extreme public optimism that is now fashionable in the highest Republican circles. It is a vital fact that on balance, Eisenhower wants to be a candidate to succeed himself.

Furthermore, his reason for wanting to be a candidate is also vital. His task, as he sees it, is to bring to birth a new kind of American conservatism, more moderate, more enlightened and more ready to meet the challenges of a changing world than the American conservatism of the older style. To perform this task successfully, he feels he must re-make the Republican party in a rather thorough way.

Needs More Time

He thinks, apparently, that the transformation of his party is well started. But he also thinks that at least four more years hard work will be needed to complete the transformation, and to make it firm and enduring. Very obviously, those around him who want him to run again can truthfully and convincingly argue that only Eisenhower can complete this task which he regards as all-important.

On the other hand, it must also be remembered that those who are so optimistic about the President's intentions have a strong, natural interest in accentuating the positive at this time. In the main, the men who now head the Republican political regency are the same men who headed the draft-Eisenhower movement four years ago. The leading figures are veterans of the 1952 Commodore group, like former Governor Thomas E. Dewey, General Lucius D. Clay, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., and Senator James Duff of Pennsylvania.

It suits the regents to have the country believe the President will probably run again for two very obvious reasons. While the impression is abroad that Eisenhower will be a candidate, the Eisenhower wing's grip on the Republican party can be and is being quietly but firmly consolidated. With the potential opposition paralyzed, the regents are organizing a 1956 convention that Eisenhower can bend to his whim whether he is a candidate or not.

No Alternative Now

Furthermore, the ten or a dozen men who compose the political regency can agree about Eisenhower, but they cannot agree about anything else. The mere opening of a discussion of alternative Republican candidates would produce not one but several immediate splits in the group. So they are literally working on the curious rule that no alternative candidate can be discussed unless and until the time comes when the President decisively bows out.

In short, when the members of the regency authoritatively assert that the President will surely run again if his health permits, it is necessary to take the conditional chance very seriously. The members of the White House staff, who are in daily contact with Eisenhower, are far less hopeful about his final decision than the members of the regency, who are organizing the second term movement with no direct authority from the President.

There has been at least one occasion in the past weeks when the alarm spread that the President meant to bow out immediately. One of the Eisenhower medical advisors, Dr. Paul Dudley White, clearly feels that the presidential burden will not be too much for his patient. But the other two, Drs. Thomas Mattingly and Howard Snyder, are known to take a considerably more somber view.

In the circumstances, then, it is easy to understand why the President so movingly said that he "could devoutly wish there were some method by which the American people could point out the path of my true duty. But it appears that this is a question that first I alone must answer."

Bear Uses Finland For Propaganda

Soviet Russia is basing a two-pronged propaganda attack on its return yesterday of the Porkkala military base to Finland. To the Finns Russia is saying in effect, you have nothing to fear from us as long as you allow us to protect our legitimate interests.

To the rest of the world, Soviet Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov said in September, when the intention to return Porkkala was announced: Other nations, namely the United States, could follow Russia's example and liquidate military bases on foreign soil.

The Finns are not likely to be duped. The record of Soviet-Finnish relations, which began auspiciously, has long been marked by aggression and counter-aggression.

The years until World War II were marked by vigorous suppression of Communists in Finland and a bloodless rightist uprising in 1932. In 1934 a non-aggression pact was made with the U.S.S.R.

With World War II erupting in 1939, Russia demanded a retrocession of Finnish areas near Leningrad, plus the port of Hango, in the southwest tip of Finland, viewed as necessary to Leningrad's defense. Finland rejected the Soviet bid, despite the offer of considerable compensation in territory, population, and funds. Russia invaded Finland on November 30, 1939.

The Finns held out for 105 days but Mannerheim decided to stop fighting after Soviet forces had cracked the line of defenses named in his honor. In the peace of March 12, 1940, Russia got 10 per cent of Finland's territory, including the large eastern city of Viipuri, the Karelian isthmus, an area around Lake Ladoga, and Hango.

Under German pressure, Finland reopened the fighting in June 1941. Initially, Finland regained all the territory lost a year earlier, but later reverses caused the Finns to withdraw from the war in September 1944. Under the peace terms Finland returned to her 1904 borders. This meant the loss of the Petsamo area, Viipuri, the Karelian region. Finland regained Hango at the cost of leasing to Russia the peninsula of Porkkala, also near Helsinki, for 50 years.

Finland also agreed to pay Russia an indemnity of $300 million in the equivalent of 1938 U. S. dollars. The payments were completed in 1952 at a cost, in present dollars, of at least $570 million.

Fussing And Fuming

It would seem to me that by now any intelligent man would know that the United States has had and is having lots of trouble over China. This trouble has been fairly continuous, in one form or another, since the Taiping Rebellion (1850-1864). It reached a crescendo of ugliness during the Boxer Rebellion (1900). It subsided and the United States became very popular during the Sun Yat-sen Revolution (1911); then it got very bad again during the Student Movement (1919) as a protest against Woodrow Wilson's compromises with the Japanese during the Paris Peace Conference. Then our troubles subsided for a while and the Nationalist government came into existence. It was antagonistic to Japan and therefore at that time friendly to the United States. Then the Chinese Communist party seized the mainland of China (1949) and we had a permanent enemy. All that was left to us of friendship among the Chinese was on Formosa, also called Taiwan.

All the fussing and fuming about our being on the brink of war with Red China is political poppycock. We are always on the brink of war with Red China. That is now a permanent relationship. Surely we have not already forgotten that the Korean War was a war between the United States and Red China and that the United States did not win that war. We permitted ourselves an out: it was a United Nations police action and the Chinese we fought there were volunteers. If you are taken in by that kind of verbal gibberish, you live in an intellectual happyland and it does not much matter what the facts of a situation are anyhow.

The Democrats know all the facts about the troubles in China. Many of the recent ones have been of their making. Nobody comes out too well in the China story because the history of it goes back to the early 1920s when the Communists were organizing there and our government people were too dumb and starry-eyed to understand that a Marxist, whether Russian or Chinese, must hate the United States which had to play the historic role of the principal enemy of Marxism when the lines were drawn. For myself, I can say that I saw the picture as it had to develop and wrote about it as early, in China, as 1920. For it, I was attacked and smeared as pro-Japanese, which at that time was the smear word. There were others who saw the developing picture, but not among the top men in our government. It can be said that from the Washington Conference (1921-1922) to the present day, the China policy of the United States has been wobbly, uncertain, unfocussed and that because of this condition we have fought a major war with Japan and a minor war with Red China.

So when the politicians get fussing and fuming about anybody, John Foster Dulles, a Life reporter or a ghost-writer using the phrase "brink of war" with Red China, they are just stirring up the wind in the hope that out of it will come some political advantage. To one who is situated as I am at present, this is silly stuff. The time ought to be long passed when we lay banana peels about the streets of Washington in the hope that our statesmen will slip. We have been slipping too badly without any aid and one would imagine that election year or no, maturity would dictate a serious approach to serious problems. The United States cannot afford to come to terms with Red China on Red China's terms without losing the last scintilla of "face" and prestige in Asia. We might as well accept the isolationism that the Soviet Universal State offers us as the best result of a policy that started with Franklin D. Roosevelt and, in philosophy, has changed little since.

There is no advantage in denouncing this policy except as an objective historian might; from the standpoint of practical government, this is what we have and the results as they are in 1956 are what we have to deal with. We cannot alter anything that happened between 1946 and 1956; these are faits accomplis. They are the facts of our historic life. Short of war, we cannot change a single one of them. But we must go on and we must go on with patriotism and a sense of national dignity. If we cannot form ranks on a program of patriotism and national dignity, we have nothing really to say.

The New Scientific Approach

Gas Tycoons From Texas Have Built Empires With Special Tax Favors

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Real drive behind the natural gas bill now under hot debate in the Senate is a relatively small group of big oil-gas men. The Federal Power Commission has shown that 70 per cent of all gas purchased by the pipelines comes from only 42 oil-gas producers, as a result of which Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois has drafted an amendment to the gas bill exempting the smaller producers numbering several thousand from federal regulations.

The big producers, however, would still be regulated.

Simultaneously, Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon has drafted an amendment which, if the Fulbright-Harris bill passes, would require every unregulated company to forfeit the 27½ per cent oil depletion tax exemption, and also forfeit its right to deduct from taxes the cost of drilling wells.

These two lush tax bonanzas which don't go to any other American industry are the chief reason for the political power of the Texas oil millionaires and why today they can make some senators jump through the hoop at the beck and call of their little finger.

Roll Call Of Tycoons

Few people realize how vast are the empires built up by the Texas gas-oil tycoons, thanks to the fact that they are taxed 27½ per cent less than others and can write off the entire cost of drilling a well in one year. When a farmer builds a barn, in contrast, he can't write off the cost for 30 years. When he buys a tractor, he can't write the cost off in less than eight years. Even U.S. Steel has to spread tax amortizations on a new plant over five years — and this only if it gets special permission from the U.S. Treasury.

However, here are some of the empires built up by the tax-favored Texas tycoons who now want further special exemption from the Supreme Court ruling that their gas must be regulated:

H. L. Hunt — Former gambler from El Dorado, Ark., rated the wealthiest man in the world, has an income of $140,000 a day, and is worth two billions. He was a heavy backer of General MacArthur for president and Senator McCarthy for almost anything he wanted. . . . During the course of backing McCarthy, Hunt took over four different radio-TV programs, which he offered free to networks — Facts Forum, Answers for Americans, Reporters Round-Up, and State of the Nation. These were operated by foundations, therefore were tax-free. Some of them featured a book by Allan Zoll, whose American Patriots is on the attorney general's subversives list. . . . Facts Forum gave wide distribution to Senator McCarthy's book, accusing the Washington Post, St. Louis Dispatch, and other distinguished journals of following the Communist line. . . . Moderator for Facts Forum was Robert E. Lee, later appointed to the Federal Communications Commission. . . . Hunt backed Sen. Glenn Beall of Maryland with $3,000 during his election campaign. Beall is now leaning toward the gas bill, through the people of Maryland are heavy gas consumers. . . . Hunt and wife also ponied up $5,500 to pay for a politica' broadcast for Gen. Al Wedemeyer. . . . Hunt says, next to Communists, he hates liberals. His formula for making a million: "Play a good game of poker for the right stakes."

Clint Murchison — Rated about the third-richest oil-gas man in world, owns Henry Holt book publishing company, distributes extensive textbooks through Henry Holt; owns Field and Stream, plus part of Martha Washington Candies; operates Diversified Investments, Inc., of Minneapolis; put up part of the money to get control of the New York Central; owns Atlantic Life Insurance Co. of Richmond, Va.; also many motels, hotels, and drive-in theaters; plus the Del Mar race track, part of Transcontinental Bus and a West Coast steamship line. . . . Murchison has frequently entertained Senator McCarthy, helped finance McCarthy's campaign to defeat Senator Tydings of Maryland, paid for the tabloid featuring a fake picture of Tydings smiling at Earl Browder of the Communist party. His and Mrs. Murchison's $10,000 to help Senator Butler of Maryland seems important today, for Butler is voting for the natural gas bill despite the opposition of Maryland consumers. . . . Murchison hates Harry Truman, urged Ike to run for president, went to Paris to make that plea personally, was th house guest, with Ike and Mamie, when they visited at the home of Governor Shivers in Texas in 1953. . . . During the 1952 campaign, Murchison published a newspaper called "Native Texan" under the dateline Denison, Texas, where Eisenhower was born, which blasted Harry Truman for refusing to give tidelands oil to Texas and for vetoing the Kerr bill, forerunner of the Fulbright-Harris bill, to remove natural gas from federal regulation.

Roy Cullen — Hasn't much idea of his own worth, has given away about $175,000,000, including political contributions to key senators and gifts to General MacArthur's campaign committee. He backed Senator Malone of Nevada with $1,000, also Senator Barrett of Wyoming with $2,500, and the same amount to Senator Beall of Maryland, all Republicans. Malone and Barrett are now listed as behind the natural gas bill while Beall is leaning in that direction. . . . He also gave $1,000 to the campaign for Congressman Devereux of Maryland. Devereux voted for the gas bill. . . . Cullen also gave $1,000 to the campaign fund of Senator Watkins of Utah, listed as leaning toward the bill. . . . Cullen's son-in-law, Corbin Strong, contributed $5,000 each to Senators Barrett and Goldwater of Arizona. Both are backing the gas bill. . . . Cullen hated Truman and Roosevelt, once asked Vice President Garner to abolish all taxes except the sales tax and customs duties.

Advantages Of Parliamentary System Discussed

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — People abroad have always had difficulty in understanding why the United States government has such a rigid tenure for its presidents but never before have they been as bewildered as they are now. When they read the American newspapers today, they are confronted with these developments:

First, the Senate Rules Committee has proposed that a 10-man commission be appointed to study the question of when a President of the United States is unable to discharge his duties and should be displaced.

Second, President Eisenhower, in discussing his heart attack of four months ago, tells his press conference: "Now, I have to guess as to the next five years, and the problem is what will be the effect on the presidency, not on me, and that is the problem . . ."

Not Covered By Law

Here is the spectacle of the head of the most powerful nation in the free world trying to guess what his health may be in a whole year of his present term and in four years of a second term if he is re-elected.

Here is also a coordinate branch of the government, comprising the people's elected representatives, trying to find out what to do if the head of the government is too sick to carry on his duties for a while.

Plainly present laws do not cover the different contingencies that may arise, and it is doubtful if any law would be constitutional which sought to remove a president except by "impeachment" for having committed crimes and misdemeanors.

Only a constitutional amendment can extricate the people of the United States from the dilemma. There's a simple solution. It's one Canada has adopted. It's one Australia and New Zealand and South Africa, as well as Great Britain, have adopted. It is known as the parliamentary system, which grants to the people's elected representatives the right at any time to remove their chief executive and elect another person in his place.

Provides Flexibility

The question of whether a simple majority should be enough, as it is in many countries, or whether it should be by a two-thirds vote might be debated. But the system is flexible because, if the head of the government becomes ill, he can step down voluntarily or be retired from office, and yet he can come back to his post later if he recovers his health provided the constitutional majority of the national legislature desires him to do so.

There have been many objections on the part of people in this country to the adoption of the parliamentary system which works so well in Canada, but it cannot be denied that it provides a flexibility which the Constitution of this country does not furnish.

Why, moreover, under the present system, should any appointed or elected officer or committee of Congress decide whether a president is too ill to serve? Why should such authority be delegated to any group of physicians? Only the people's elected representatives should have that power, and this means the Congress.

It has been suggested that in most instances a president would voluntarily resign anyhow if really in bad health. But if he hoped to recover some day, why should he even for a little while give up his post if he can't get it back? A constitutional amendment that permits the vice president to become acting president would never suffice because nobody could tell just when he should cease his temporary duties and give the office back to the president who had been ill.

Amendment Overdue

It has also been suggested that, if any president refused voluntarily to leave his office when ill or mentally incapacitated, he could be removed by impeachment. But the Constitution limits the power of impeachment to "conviction of treason, bribery, or high crimes and misdemeanors." There is no clause in the Constitution at present implying even remotely that a president with integrity could be removed by Congress.

An amendment to the Constitution which eliminates the word "impeachment" has long been overdue. The power to "remove" a president could be vested in the Congress with a two-thirds vote required for that purpose. Along with this would have to go a provision to remove the Congress itself if a disagreement arises and to require a general election, as often happens under the parliamentary system.

Clearly under the existing constitution, the American people could have a disabled president, a sick president and even a deranged president, and they couldn't do anything about it.

Similarly, if a president has outlived his usefulness or no longer represents the will of the country and the people want an immediate transfer of power to a new party, the parliamentary system provides that opportunity. This change certainly would do away with the dangerous interregnum that occurs when a president or his party may be defeated in November of a presidential-election year and neither he nor the new Congress can take office till January. Two months is a long, long time in an atomic age.

Diet And Hormones Play Role In Arteriosclerosis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

We are beginning to believe that hardening of the arteries is a disease rather than part of the aging process. This means it could be prevented, treated, or cured. Aging has been blamed because the condition takes time to develop. But other factors, including hormones and diet, play a role.

The possible relationship between diet, calories, and arteriosclerosis stems from observations that the disease seldom occurs in nationalities and races that consume high protein diets devoid of fats. These individuals usually are thin, active, and often uncivilized.

The objection to bringing this group into the controversy is that they have a life expectancy of approximately 30 years of age because of their susceptibility to infection. In other words, they don't live long enough to develop arteriosclerosis. Hardening of the arteries is more prevalent in races with a high fat and cholesterol intake. We belong to this group.

As man becomes more civilized, his taste improves and he adds more fat to his meals. This nutriment is derived largely from dairy and poultry products, in contrast to the diet of primitive food gathering peoples.

Statistics show that Americans now obtain 40 per cent of their calories from fat. Their daily consumption is equivalent to 19 tablespoons in contrast to the Chinese who take less than two tablespoons. Much of this fat is invisible because it is hidden in eggs, milk, nuts, olives, fish, and pastry. Even the leanest has an appreciable amount between the muscle fibers.

On the other hand, we see the fats in olive oil, cream, butter, salad dressing, pork, peanut butter, and that trimmed from meat and fowl. Oleomargarine and shortening contain vegetable fat. With our longer life expectancy, these fats and calories are sticking to our arteries as well as to our ribs.

The high fat-high caloric diet is only one facet to the problem. It is not a coincidence that women are less susceptible to heart disease than are middle-aged men. It is true that women take stress and strain in their stride and are less inclined to want to conquer the world or make millions. But this is not the only reason why there are so many more widows than widowers.

We know that the female sex hormones (estrogens) discourage fatty molecules from lodging in the arteries and setting the stage for arteriosclerosis. In the future, more use will be made of hormone therapy along with the low fat diet in preventing heart attacks and treating the effects of coronary thrombosis.

REPLY

This condition occurs in severe parkinsonism (shaking palsy) and in exophthalmic goiter when the eyeballs protrude. In the minor forms of epilepsy, such as petit mal, the victim has a blackout, at which times he stares into space.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

John Straley tells about the Wall Street trader who encountered an old classmate who had fallen on evil days, automatically reached into his wallet and handed the down-and-outer a five dollar bill. "What's this?" sneered the ungrateful recipient. "Two years ago you met me and gave me fifty bucks. Last year you retrenched to twenty. And now you hand me a measly five spot."

The trader, embarrassed, explained, "Two years ago I got married. Last year we had our first child. All those extra expenses and mouths to feed . . ."

"So that's it," roared the down-and-outer. "Raising a family on my dough, eh?"

The Indiana Bell Telephone Company reports that a little boy called Information in quite a tizzy one afternoon and demanded the number of the local movie house.

The operator said, "You will find that number listed in your telephone directory."

Quick Hopping John

You won't need a rabbit's foot for good luck if you eat Hopping John during the New Year's season. Hopping John is eaten by everyone on the island of Jamaica in the West Indies. It probably originated in the Carribean and then was brought to Charleston, South Carolina where it was first eaten in the United States.

This recipe is quick and easy because it uses canned black-eyed peas and cooks in a short time.

Ingredients:

- 8 slices bacon
- 1 large onion, chopped (about 1 cup)
- 1 1 lb. 4 oz. can black-eyed peas
- spray celery leaves
- 1½ cups water
- 1 bay leaf
- 1½ teaspons salt
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper

Method: Fry the bacon until crisp. Remove from the skillet. Drain off all but about 2 tablespoons of the fat. Add the onions and cook until onions are tender and yellow.

In a large saucepan, put the onions, rice, black-eyed peas, celery, water, bay leaf, salt and pepper. Bring to a vigorous boil over a high heat. Turn the heat down and simmer 25 minutes or until the rice is tender. Add water if a thiner mixture is desired.

Leftover Magic

Leftover turkey makes excellent salad. Marinate it in french dressing for several hours, then drain off the dressing and add the other ingredients. You won't need quite as much mayonnaise because some of the french dressing adheres to the meat.

Crisp Corn Cakes Make Brighter Breakfasts

To add a new golden zest to a favorite breakfast treat, try serving quick and easy, wonderfully different, corn pancakes or waffles. They're crisp and tasty, extra good with ham, bacon or country sausage.

Corn Pancakes Or Waffles

1 12-oz. pkg. Corn Muffin Mix
1 egg
1¼ cups milk
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Empty contents of package into bowl; add egg, milk and shortening, and beat until smooth. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes. Bake on hot griddle or waffle iron until golden brown. Makes about 6 waffles, or 16 4-inch pancakes.

Slices of pound cake, heaped with sugared canned apple slices, topped with a swirl of whipped cream, adds up to a zesty finale for a meal. And for a cheerful color accent, add chopped maraschino cherries to the whipped cream!

Apple Macaroon Tarts Delicate, Rich

These tarts are so extra special you'll probably feel an urge to reserve them for parties and guest meals. But they're so delicious, you'll end, we predict, by moving them right over into mak-oftens for the family.

The rich and delicate shells cradle creamy froths tasting of almonds and macaroons and, unexpectedly, of apples! That's because canned apple sauce is the base that carries these lovely flavors, that gives lush consistency to the fillings.

You might pass a big tray of the tarts for "coffee and dessert" occasions. You might set them out on the buffet table for guests to help themselves, which they will . . . with repeats. You might offer them as refreshment for a young folks gathering, with tall glasses of chilled apple juice. And, of course, members of the family will fall to with glee any time you make these treats for them.

APPLE MACAROON TARTS

1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 cups canned apple sauce
1½ Cups macaroon crumbs
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese
¼ cup shotening
Cold water
Strawberry Jam

Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt. Add ¼ cup milk, stirring until blended. Scald remaining milk; add to sugar mixture. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thick. Cover; cook 10 minutes. Add almond extract, apple sauce and macaroon crumbs. Chill. Sift together flour and salt. Cut in cream cheese and shortening with 2 knives or pastry blender. Add enough water to hold ingredients together. Roll out dough; cut in rounds 1½" wider than diameter of tart pans. Fit each round in tart pan; trim edges. Prick bottom and sides with tines of fork. Bake in hot oven, 425° F., 5-10 minutes, or until brown. Cool. Fill tarts with apple sauce mixture. If desired, top each with teaspoon of strawberry jam. Yields 8 3½" tarts.

Brandied Apricot Topped Cake

You just pour on the glamour when you serve Brandied Apricot Topped Cake. Start with a bakers' uniced 8- or 9-inch cake layer, purchased from bakery or food shop. To make the sauce: Combine 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, ¾ cup apricot nectar and ½ cup brown sugar in a sauce pan. Bring to a boil over low heat and stir constantly. Simmer 15 minutes, then blend in ⅓ cup apricot brandy and ½ cup caramel sauce. Top cake wedges with ice cream and pour brandied apricot sauce over all.

Chicken Trick

When cooking chicken for use in creamed chicken or chicken salad, steam in its own juice in a tightly covered pan in moderate oven for about one to one and a half hours. This preserves the fine flavor and the juice formed can be used in the cream sauce to make it rich.

Cranberry-Coconut Topping For Pie

Wintertime puts a frosty touch on all the world about us, so let's add a CRANBERRY - COCONUT TOPPING to the custard pie, purchased from bakery or food shop. To make: top the pie with jellied cranberry sauce which has been beaten until slightly smooth. Now "frost" with 1 cup of lightly toasted, shredded coconut.

Party Beans

Company string beans: Cook a package of frozen string beans. In a separate pan saute a can of sliced, drained mushrooms, drain and add string beans. Finally stir in three tablespoons of shaved or chopped almonds.

Apple Macaroon Tarts Delicate, Rich

These tarts are so extra special you'll probably feel an urge to reserve them for parties and guest meals. But they're so delicious, you'll end, we predict, by moving them right over into mak-oftens for the family.

The rich and delicate shells cradle creamy froths tasting of almonds and macaroons and, unexpectedly, of apples! That's because canned apple sauce is the base that carries these lovely flavors, that gives lush consistency to the fillings.

You might pass a big tray of the tarts for "coffee and dessert" occasions. You might set them out on the buffet table for guests to help themselves, which they will . . . with repeats. You might offer them as refreshment for a young folks gathering, with tall glasses of chilled apple juice. And, of course, members of the family will fall to with glee any time you make these treats for them.

APPLE MACAROON TARTS

1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 cups canned apple sauce
1½ Cups macaroon crumbs
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese
¼ cup shotening
Strawberry Jam

Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt. Add ¼ cup milk, stirring until blended. Scald remaining milk; add to sugar mixture. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thick. Cover; cook 10 minutes. Add almond extract, apple sauce and macaroon crumbs. Chill. Sift together flour and salt. Cut in cream cheese and shortening with 2 knives or pastry blender. Add enough water to hold ingredients together. Roll out dough; cut in rounds 1½" wider than diameter of tart pans. Fit each round in tart pan; trim edges. Prick bottom and sides with tines of fork. Bake in hot oven, 425° F., 5-10 minutes, or until brown. Cool. Fill tarts with apple sauce mixture. If desired, top each with teaspoon of strawberry jam. Yields 8 3½" tarts.

Brandied Apricot Topped Cake

You just pour on the glamour when you serve Brandied Apricot Topped Cake. Start with a bakers' uniced 8- or 9-inch cake layer, purchased from bakery or food shop. To make the sauce: Combine 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, ¾ cup apricot nectar and ½ cup brown sugar in a sauce pan. Bring to a boil over low heat and stir constantly. Simmer 15 minutes, then blend in ⅓ cup apricot brandy and ½ cup caramel sauce. Top cake wedges with ice cream and pour brandied apricot sauce over all.

Chicken Trick

When cooking chicken for use in creamed chicken or chicken salad, steam in its own juice in a tightly covered pan in moderate oven for about one to one and a half hours. This preserves the fine flavor and the juice formed can be used in the cream sauce to make it rich.

French Fries, Homestyle

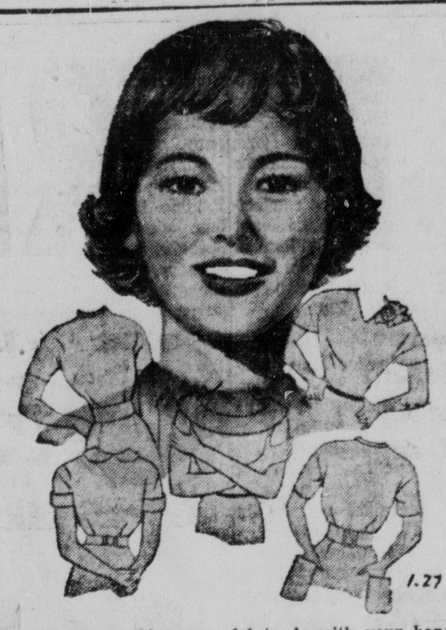
You'd probably feel pretty silly today calling out the militia to guard your potato patch, but M. Parmentier didn't. Of course, his potato patch was in France, and his plants were the first ever to be seen in that country which would make a difference. This happened in the late 18th century, sometime after potatoes were discovered by the Spaniards in Peru. M. Parmentier, who was a pharmacist by trade, and had been a war prisoner of the Germans, had discovered the potato during his prison days, and had brought them to France as a substitute for grain in time of famine. And as soon as the guard was withdrawn from his potato patch, the plants were stolen as he expected. But from then on, potatoes grew all over France and became a mainstay food and a delicacy.

To M. Parmentier also goes credit for French fries and other potato dishes, some of which bear his name. The whole world recognizes "French fried" as a very definite and delicious way of serving potatoes. Good French fries are never soggy or greasy. They're never tough and chewy. Prepared properly in disgestible hot shortening, they are soft and luscious inside a crisp brown surface. Americans who usually team French fries with steak and hamburger are learning that this delightful food can team up in many ways—as canapes, as a bread substitute with salads, as the chip served with fish. Also, since potatoes are high in minerals and vitamins, they are both a healthy and tasty part of a diet.

Though French fries can be cooked to a turn in any kettle deep enough to hold the fat, the new electric deep fryers are making the job almost as easy as turning a switch. And to make quick work of cutting a potato into uniform strips for frying, a new gadget is currently being offered as a premium by a manufacturer of a famous high grade vegetable shortening. One stroke of this French fry cutter and the strips are ready for dropping into bubbling fat.

To get the right texture in your French fries in the manner M. Parmentier and other gourmets recommend, soak them in cold water for a few minutes after you strip them. Heat the shortening to 365° F. in a deep kettle. If you don't have a frying thermometer, you can check the temperature by dropping a one inch cube of bread in the kettle. If the bread browns in 60 seconds, the shortening is the right temperature. Then dry the potato strips in a towel or on absorbent paper, and drop in the hot fat a few at a time. Remove when golden brown, and drain on absorbent paper. A French fry basket makes removing the potatoes easy, but a slotted spoon will do just as well.



There's always something graceful to do with your hands—even when they're doing nothing.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Handle The Pose Gracefully

One of the best things you teenage charmers can learn right away is what to do with your hands when there's nothing to do with them. Hands can help very much with the very thing that may bother you a lot—how to be composed and sure of yourself in a grown-up way.

One thing is certain about the movie star or the popular older girl you admire so much. She never flings her arms about or keeps switching her hands awkwardly from one position to another or handles the nearest object because she doesn't know what to do with her hands. And neither will you if you give the matter of the five arm and hand positions sketched some thought followed by practice. All of them look graceful and make you look beautifully at ease.

1. Fist on hips. A fist with one hand, easy, not clenched, just behind your hip bone. Drop the other hand, fingers naturally curled, from a relaxed arm and slightly behind you.

2. Thumbs in belt. Tuck your thumbs in your belt at points slightly forward, curl your fingers upward and slant the knuckles diagonally downward and outward. Careful there, not to pull your belt or distort your skirt.

3. Arms akimbo. Cross the wrists and grasp your upper arms with your hands, thumbs underneath and the fingers falling into natural curves in front.

4. In pockets. Close and extend the fingers, insert them into your pockets and leave the thumbs outside. Or tuck just one hand in your pocket and drop the other arm as in position 1.

5. Clasped. Place the back of one hand in the palm of the other, fingers turned upward and relaxed. Bring the hands to rest just below the waistline and a little off-center.

Dress Up Lamb With Jelly Glaze

How many times during these first few days of 1956 have you caught yourself writing 1955 on statements and letters?

Also, how many times have you caught yourself serving the same stereotyped meals you served in '55?

A bit in ingenuity in planning week-day meals during 1956 is suggested. Let your extra planning culminate in a dish like lamb rounds with jelly glaze.

Lamb Rounds With Jelly Glaze

2 pounds ground lamb; 1 cup soft bread crumbs; 2 tablespoons grated onion; 1 egg, beaten; 2 teaspoons salt; ¼ teaspoon pepper; 3 tablespoons minced sweet pickles; ½ cup milk; 2 to 3 tablespoons lard or drippings; ¼ cup currant jelly.

Combine bread crumbs, onion, egg, salt, pepper, pickles and milk. Add to meat and mix thoroughly. Shape into 8 patties. Brown on each side in lard or drippings. Top each patty with ½ tablespoon currant jelly. Cover tightly and cook slowly for 30 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Easy Dessert

This is an easy and delicious dessert: Jell a package of lime gelatin according to directions on the package. When firm beat with an egg beater, then fold in a half pint of vanilla ice cream which has been cut into pieces. Last, stir into the mixture a package of thawed frozen peaches. Fill five dessert dishes and allow to become firm again.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26—(INS)—The old suspension was lifted from Eleanor Parker's shapely shoulders yesterday when she was told she is to be the star of Somerset Maugham's "Painted Veil" at MGM. Garbo was starred in this romantic drama, one of Maugham's best, some years ago.

It's a fascinating story about a woman's search for love and understanding, with such picturesque backgrounds as Hong Kong and London.

The choice of Eleanor proves another point—that Ava Gardner is not coming back as soon as MGM expected. She was supposed to do "Painted Veil" and was expected to report in Hollywood for it. Instead she lingers on in Spain. However, Producer David Lewis is very happy to get Eleanor whose "Interrupted Melody" is one of the really good performances of the year.

I asked Mitzie Gaynor what next after "Anything Goes" in which she's so good.

"Well, I have been at RKO several evenings looking at comedies Ginger Rogers made. They're not the Rogers-Astaire musicals but just bright comedies that Ginger made some years ago.

"Then Paramount has an original story for Donald O'Connor and me. I have been talking with Donald about it and we both want to do it. It will be just a straight story without big musical numbers. Paramount has the story—it isn't named yet, but it's ready, so I have an idea this will be our next."

"Ten Commandments" did it for Debra Paget. Y. Frank Freeman Jr., took a look at her scenes as Lilia, the water girl in the C. B. DeMille epic and decided she was just the right charmer to play Sharain, the queen of Persia, in his "Omar Khayaam."

For awhile, Debra's career seemed to be slipping. I think she did the wrong thing when she appeared in such daring costumes as she wore (or didn't wear) in her Las Vegas nightclub stint. Recently, Debra has reverted to the nice, wholesome young girl she was when we first knew her at 20th Century-Fox.

Irene Hervey, who has really been blue and unhappy following Allen Jones second unexpected walk out on their marriage, at last has something to cheer her up. Lunching with a girl friend at the Vine Street Brown Derby the other day, Irene was surprised when a stranger walked up and said, "I'm Don Fedderson, producer of 'The Millionaire' program on TV. Miss Hervey, I think you are just right for our next chapter 'Candy Caldwell'. An old friend of yours, Al Greene, is directing. How about it?"

The next day she made a test—and the starring role is hers!

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The Bernice Turrell who Dick Haymes has been escorting lives with his ex, Nora Flynn Haymes. Well, Errol Flynn stayed with Dick Haymes when he was here.

Attorney Frank Delaney, who figured so strongly in Marilyn Monroe's break from 20th, is no longer in the picture, 'tis said.

Leo Durocher, who celebrated his 9th wedding anniversary last Sunday, says that when he and Laraine Day were married people were saying it wouldn't last nine days. Nice that the public was wrong.

The Jimmy McHugh - Harold Adamson songs for "Strip For Action" were played at a dinner given by the Adamsons. Bretaigne Windust, who produced the original play for Lindsey-Crouse, was most complimentary about the songs. Producer Richard Whorf and Director Tim Whelan were other enthusiasts—so was Lisa Kirk who sang for us.

Quipped Bennett Cerf when they gave him the bridal suite at the Beverly Hilton: "I know exactly how Grace Kelly feels."

Greg Peck and his bride, the former Veronique Passani, are going on a golf binge in Palm Springs as soon as Greg completes "The Man In The Gray Flannel Suit."

(Copyright 1956 by INS).

Keep them guessing! What gives the bread crumb-topped casserole dishes a distinctive flavor? The secret is to use soft bread crumbs from fresh bread and add a generous amount of grated Parmesan cheese. It is made to order for breading fish, chicken, veal or eggplant, too.

"Ten Commandments" did it for Debra Paget. Y. Frank Freeman Jr., took a look at her scenes as Lilia, the water girl in the C. B. DeMille epic and decided she was just the right charmer to play Sharain, the queen of Persia, in his "Omar Khayaam."

For awhile, Debra's career seemed to be slipping. I think she did the wrong thing when she appeared in such daring costumes as she wore (or didn't wear) in her Las Vegas nightclub stint. Recently, Debra has reverted to the nice, wholesome young girl she was when we first knew her at 20th Century-Fox.

Irene Hervey, who has really been blue and unhappy following Allen Jones second unexpected walk out on their marriage, at last has something to cheer her up. Lunching with a girl friend at the Vine Street Brown Derby the other day, Irene was surprised when a stranger walked up and said, "I'm Don Fedderson, producer of 'The Millionaire' program on TV. Miss Hervey, I think you are just right for our next chapter 'Candy Caldwell'. An old friend of yours, Al Greene, is directing. How about it?"

The next day she made a test—and the starring role is hers!

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The Bernice Turrell who Dick Haymes has been escorting lives with his ex, Nora Flynn Haymes. Well, Errol Flynn stayed with Dick Haymes when he was here.

Attorney Frank Delaney, who figured so strongly in Marilyn Monroe's break from 20th, is no longer in the picture, 'tis said.

Leo Durocher, who celebrated his 9th wedding anniversary last Sunday, says that when he and Laraine Day were married people were saying it wouldn't last nine days. Nice that the public was wrong.

The Jimmy McHugh - Harold Adamson songs for "Strip For Action" were played at a dinner given by the Adamsons. Bretaigne Windust, who produced the original play for Lindsey-Crouse, was most complimentary about the songs. Producer Richard Whorf and Director Tim Whelan were other enthusiasts—so was Lisa Kirk who sang for us.

Quipped Bennett Cerf when they gave him the bridal suite at the Beverly Hilton: "I know exactly how Grace Kelly feels."

Greg Peck and his bride, the former Veronique Passani, are going on a golf binge in Palm Springs as soon as Greg completes "The Man In The Gray Flannel Suit."

"That's all today. See you tomorrow."

Keep them guessing! What gives the bread crumb-topped casserole dishes a distinctive flavor? The secret is to use soft bread crumbs from fresh bread and add a generous amount of grated Parmesan cheese. It is made to order for breading fish, chicken, veal or eggplant, too.

Bar-Mitzvah Services Set Saturday

The Bar-Mitzvah of Martin Sigel, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Sigel, 111 North Chase Street, will be celebrated at services Saturday at 10:30 a. m. at B'er Chayim Temple, according to Rabbi Daniel Lowy.

In honor of the occasion, young Sigel will recite the blessings and read portions from the Scroll of the Law and the Book of Judges. He will also address the congregation on "What is a judge in Israel," after which Rabbi Lowy will give the charge and present Sigel with a Bar-Mitzvah certificate and a Bible, the latter a gift from the B'er Chayim Sisterhood.

Young Sigel will also assist at services today at 8 p. m. when he will lead the congregation in a portion of the prayers. Rabbi Lowy will speak on "The story of the Pharisee."

The Temple Choir will participate in both services, while Mrs. Harry Parker will be soloist and Mrs. Florence Nugent, organist.

LaVale Cable Protest Made

Four petitions have been circulated in LaVale protesting interference caused by the television cable being erected by So-Mar Enterprise in a part of that section.

Two of the petitions were sent this week to the Maryland Public Service Commission and the Federal Communications Commission.

So-Mar Enterprises has a cable system that extends westward on Route 40 from the bridge at Long.

The petitions charge that the So-Mar cable that has been strung on utility poles along the highway is causing interference wtih television sets in the vicinity of the line that rely on antennae for reception.

The petitions declare the cable system causes ghosts, radiant lines on the side of the picture, and unsteady pictures.

So-Mar has its antenna on Haystack Mountain and the petitions point out that Johnstown is the station most affected by the interference.

LaSalle And Allegany To Battle For City Lead Tonight

Pennsylvania Officials To Handle Game

SS. Peter-Paul Court Is Scene Of Action; Sentinels Play Away

SS. Peter and Paul gym on Fayette street will be the scene of battle tonight as LaSalle High's Sentinels square off with Allegany's High's Campers for the first time this season and to the winner will go first place in the annual race for the city scholastic basbetball championship.

The first two games of the intracity triangular series have been close and exciting and another one of those "stay at home if you have a weak heart" affairs is expected tonight.

Allegany turned back Fort Hill in the opening battle that went two overtime periods, 56-54, at Campobello. Four days later LaSalle eked out a last minute 58-55 decision over Fort Hill on the Sentinels' court. Last year the city race ended in a triple tie, all three schools winding up the campaign with 2-2 records. The Explorers bagged the series opener last season at Campobello by the score of 60-57 but Allegany reversed the decision by winning on LaSalle's court, 66-62.

Johnstown (Pa.) officials will handle both games of the LaSalle-Allegany series. Those assigned to tonight's contest are George J. Visnovsky and Eugene Whitefield. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Sentinels At Martinsburg

Fort Hill, which has established a reputation for losing closely-contested games, will be striving to shake the jinx when it meets Coach George Whitacre's Martinsburg High Bulldogs on the West Virginians' court. Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's aggregation opened the current campaign with a 47-36 decision over Martinsburg on December 28. The Bulldogs (5-4) lost to Front Royal's Wildcats on Monday, 48-45, and snapped Harpers Ferry's 7-game string on Tuesday, 54-43. Fort Hill now owns a 5-7 record.

Piedmont and Bruce will conclude their Tri-Towns championship series tonight on the Westernport team's court. Coach William "Huck" Miers' Lions took the opener on their home floor, 62-54.

Valley Seeks Sweep

Johnny Meyers' Valley High Black Knights will be gunning for their fourth straight victory tonight when they tackle Southern's Highlanders in Oakland. The Knights hold a 68-51 verdict over the Garrett countians.

Keyser could throw the P.V.C. race in triple tie for second place by beating the Romney Pioneers tonight on the Keyser court. Circleville leads the race with a 4-1 record for .800. Moorefield and Piedmont are knotted for the runner-up spot with 7-2 marks and a .778 average. Keyser has won six and lost two.

Other P.V.C. games find Ridgeley at the West Virginia School for the Deaf (Romney), Moorefield at Petersburg, Wardensville at Capon Bridge and Franklin at Mathias.

Mt. Savage's Indians, now batting .500 with a 6-6 record should roll over Paw Paw at Mt. Savage. The Pirates are winless in 14 games.

Elk Garden tests Mountaineer High School at Thomas. Beall High invades Fort Ashby, Bedford is at Hyndman, Parsons High at Morgantown to tangle with University's Hilltoppers, Bayard at Northern in Garrett county and Flintstone at Oldtown in the first meeting of schools that made their basketball debut this season.

Baltimore Poly tests unbeaten Frederick High School tonight in Frederick. Homer Brooks' Cadets made it seven in a row Tuesday night by trimming Westminster, 69-54.

Potomac Hosts Altoona

On the collegiate front, Potomac State's Catamounts will be striving to break a 6-game losing streak when they oppose Altoona (Pa.) Center on the Keyser court at 8 o'clock. The Catamounts won in Altoona, December 14, by the score of 81-73, and they have been unable to crash the victory column since that game. Tonight's game is the 13th for the Keyserites. They've won two and lost ten.

Shepherd College's Rams invade Pennsylvania tonight to play the Shippensburg Teachers.

Pastrano 2-1 Over Spieser

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 26 (AP) — Hard-hitting Chuck Spieser, who has been clamoring for a return match since Willie Pastrano beat him in Chicago last July 27, gets his chance tomorrow night but the odds are 2-1 that Willie will outpoint him again.

Their fight will be televised and broadcast nationally (NBC) from the Miami Beach Auditorium starting at 10 p. m.

SPORT SLANTS

Ike Receives Grouse • • • A Rare Hole-In-One

Fort Hill Surprised • • • Jo Ann, Kathy Lead

By C. V. BURNS

THE WHITE HOUSE has acknowledged with thanks the grouse that Harry J. Barton, the Pinto dairyman-sportsman, sent to President Eisenhower.

Mr. H. J. bagged the grouse in Allegany county and they were forwarded to Washington with the recommendation of Senator J. Glenn Beall.

A hunter of big and small game, Barton believes that shooting grouse is great sport because they are the swiftest of the game birds and are hard to hit.

PURCHASE of nine acres of land by the Cumberland Country Club recently was done with the object of rebuilding and increasing the length of the 13th hole at the CCC golf course in the near future.

WE LIKE the story Carroll Boggs, the CCC pro, tells about the visitor who went out on the local course to play a round of golf, took one swing and canned his only shot on hole No. 1.

It actually happened at the Cumberland Country Club and the fellow who scored the ace was Drew Johnson, of Pittsburgh, who married Nancy Spier, of this city.

After making the hole-in-one, Johnson was so pleased over the achievement that he quit right then and there. Turning to his caddie, he remarked:

"That's all for the day, son," handed the lad a $10 bill and departed.

Carroll met "One Shot" Johnson in Florida several years ago and the latter's hole-in-one was the chief topic of conversation. Boggs says there have been a good many aces scored at the Country Club but Johnson's was the rarest of all.

WE ASKED Boggs of the whereabouts of the pros who had been connected with the Cumberland Country Club for the past 50 years and he seemed to have a good line on practically all of them.

Perhaps the fellow who landed the best job of all is the dapper Henry Johnson, now pro at the swanky Hyde Park Country Club in Jacksonville, Fla. Frank Goss is pro at Fort Benning, Ga., and Eddie Morgan is employed by Sears Roebuck and Company in Miami, Fla.

Joe Fungy, who came to Cumberland via Martinsburg, W. Va., is dead as is Stanley Currie, one of the early pros here. Carroll, however, has lost track of Jimmy Beveridge, who served here in the early 1920s and was well known as golf coach at Tome School, Port Deposit, Md.

THE BOARD of Regents at the University of Maryland yesterday made it official by approving the appointment of Tommy Mont as head football coach and William W. Cobey as athletic director.

The two will assume their posts February 1 at salaries of $12,000.

Bill Cobey is a native of Florida and is a first cousin of W. Earle Cobey, Cumberland attorney.

IF AL MARTIN can obtain his release from the Evangeline League of Louisiana he hopes to land a job as umpire in the Provincial League in Canada. Both are Class "C" circuits but the Canadian loop is considered a bit faster and the pay rate is higher.

Martin made his debut as minor league umpire in the Kitty League in 1953 and worked in the Evangeline League the past two years. The Kitty folded last year after being in operation almost a half century.

FORT HILL High School got a "big surprise" the other day when Lary Becker, Allegany track coach, informed Bill Hahn that the Campers will not compete against the Sentinels in the City and Fort Hill Invitational meets this year.

BILLY EVANS, the popular major league umpire of yesteryear, who died the other day, always said that Jimmy Williams, New York infielder, did him the favor that helped him most.

That was the day Evans broke in as an arbiter. He was nervously pacing the infield when Williams spoke to him .

"Don't be scared," Jimmy said. "The bases are the same distance apart as they are in the minors. The runners are either safe or out. The pitches are either balls or strikes. Just call 'em the way they look to you."

Evans stayed in the American League 22 years.

JO ANN CONNOR, co captain of Valley High School's basketball team, is leading the female scorers of the area with 128 points in six games, an average of 21.3 points per contest.

The Valley star has scored 56 field goals and meshed 16 of 37 free throws.

Kathy is a daughter of Tom Mullaney, who played basketball at LaSalle in the early 1920s. She is a sister of Tom and Marty Mullaney, outstanding athletes at LaSalle in recent years.

When Kathy was younger her dad asked her what game she preferred to play and they had to give him the smelling salts when she said:

"I would like to play football for LaSalle."

A MEASURE has been proposed that would increase the tax on betting pools at race tracks in West Virginia from four to five per cent. The bill also would change the law to allow the state to take half the "breakage," all of which now is retained by the tracks.

In Maryland half the "breakage" is retained by the tracks while the state takes the other half.

In case you don't know, parimutuel results are calculated to the penny, but the actual payoff to the bettor is the next lowest multiple of ten cents. The odd cents in between are called "breakage." For instance, if a horse wins and returns $3.86 for $2 the bettor receives $3.80. The six pennies are split 50-50 by the track and state in Maryland. In West Virginia the tracks get the six cents.

The tracks operating in the Mountain State are expected to wage a stubborn fight against the new legislation.

The unbeaten league leaders played without the services of Bob Shaw, their scoring ace, who has the measles but is expected to return to action in a few days.

Oakland led St. Frances at halftime, 14-9, but the Mineral Counties racked up 37 points in the final half to put the game on ice.

Mike Melody sparked the winners with nine goals and 18 points. Wine, of Oakland, chalked up 16.

St. Mary's of Cumberland posted its third win of the week by turning back St. Michael's of Frostburg on the Oldtown Road court, 50-26. # LaSalle And Allegany To Battle For City Lead Tonight

Pennsylvania Officials To Handle Game

SS. Peter-Paul Court Is Scene Of Action; Sentinels Play Away

SS. Peter and Paul gym on Fayette street will be the scene of battle tonight as LaSalle High's Sentinels square off with Allegany's High's Campers for the first time this season and to the winner will go first place in the annual race for the city scholastic basbetball championship.

The first two games of the intra-city triangular series have been close and exciting and another one of those "stay at home if you have a weak heart" affairs is expected tonight.

Allegany turned back Fort Hill in the opening battle that went two overtime periods, 56-54, at Campobello. Four days later LaSalle eked out a last minute 58-55 decision over Fort Hill on the Sentinels' court. Last year the city race ended in a triple tie, all three schools winding up the campaign with 2-2 records. The Explorers bagged the series opener last season at Campobello by the score of 60-57 but Allegany reversed the decision by winning on LaSalle's court, 66-62.

Johnstown (Pa.) officials will handle both games of the LaSalle-Allegany series. Those assigned to tonight's contest are George J. Visnovsky and Eugene Whitefield. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Sentinels At Martinsburg

Fort Hill, which has established a reputation for losing closely-contested games, will be striving to shake the jinx when it meets Coach George Whitacre's Martinsburg High Bulldogs on the West Virginians' court. Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's aggregation opened the current campaign with a 47-36 decision over Martinsburg on December 28. The Bulldogs (5-4) lost to Front Royal's Wildcats on Monday, 48-45, and snapped Harpers Ferry's 7-game string on Tuesday, 54-43. Fort Hill now owns a 5-7 record.

Piedmont and Bruce will conclude their Tri-Towns championship series tonight on the Westernport team's court. Coach William "Huck" Miers' Lions took the opener on their home floor, 62-54.

Valley Seeks Sweep

Johnny Meyers' Valley High Black Knights will be gunning for their fourth straight victory tonight when they tackle Southern's Highlanders in Oakland. The Knights hold a 68-51 verdict over the Garrett countians.

Keyser could throw the P.V.C. race in triple tie for second place by beating the Romney Pioneers tonight on the Keyser court. Circleville leads the race with a 4-1 record for .800. Moorefield and Piedmont are knotted for the runner-up spot with 7-2 marks and a .778 average. Keyser has won six and lost two.

Other P.V.C. games find Ridgeley at the West Virginia School for the Deaf (Romney), Moorefield at Petersburg, Wardensville at Capon Bridge and Franklin at Mathias.

Mt. Savage's Indians, now batting .500 with a 6-6 record should roll over Paw Paw at Mt. Savage. The Pirates are winless in 14 games.

Elk Garden tests Mountaineer High School at Thomas, Beall High invades Fort Ashby, Bedford is at Hyndman, Parsons High at Morgantown to tangle with University's Hilltoppers, Bayard at Northern in Garrett county and Flintstone at Oldtown in the first meeting of schools that made their basketball debut this season.

Baltimore Poly tests unbeaten Frederick High School tonight in Frederick. Homer Brooks' Cadets made it seven in a row Tuesday night by trimming Westminster, 69-54.

Potomac Hosts Altoona

On the collegiate front, Potomac State's Catamounts will be striving to break a 6-game losing streak when they oppose Altoona (Pa.) Center on the Keyser court at 8 o'clock. The Catamounts won in Altoona, December 14, by the score of 81-73, and they have been unable to crash the victory column since that game. Tonight's game is the 13th for the Keyserites. They've won two and lost ten.

Shepherd College's Rams invade Pennsylvania tonight to play the Shippensburg Teachers.

Pastrano 2-1 Over Spieser

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 26 (AP) — Hard-hitting Chuck Spieser, who has been clamoring for a return match since Willie Pastrano beat him in Chicago last July 27, gets his chance tomorrow night but the odds are 2-1 that Willie will outpoint him again.

Their fight will be televised and broadcast nationally (NBC) from the Miami Beach Auditorium starting at 10 p. m.

SPORT SLANTS

Ike Receives Grouse ... A Rare Hole-In-One

Fort Hill Surprised ... Jo Ann, Kathy Lead

By C. V. BURNS

THE WHITE HOUSE has acknowledged with thanks the grouse that Harry J. Barton, the Pinto dairyman-sportsman, sent to President Eisenhower.

Mr. H. J. bagged the grouse in Allegany county and they were forwarded to Washington with the recommendation of Senator J. Glenn Beall.

A hunter of big and small game, Barton believes that shooting grouse is great sport because they are the swiftest of the game birds and are hard to hit.

PURCHASE of nine acres of land by the Cumberland Country Club recently was done with the object of rebuilding and increasing the length of the 13th hole at the CCC golf course in the near future.

WE LIKE the story Carroll Boggs, the CCC pro, tells about the visitor who went out on the local course to play a round of golf, took one swing and canned his only shot on hole No. 1.

It actually happened at the Cumberland Country Club and the fellow who scored the ace was Drew Johnson, of Pittsburgh, who married Nancy Spier, of this city.

After making the hole-in-one, Johnson was so pleased over the achievement that he quit right then and there. Turning to his caddie, he remarked:

"That's all for the day, son," handed the lad a $10 bill and departed.

Carroll met "One Shot" Johnson in Florida several years ago and the latter's hole-in-one was the chief topic of conversation. Boggs says there have been a good many aces scored at the Country Club but Johnson's was the rarest of all.

WE ASKED Boggs of the whereabouts of the pros who had been connected with the Cumberland Country Club for the past 50 years and he seemed to have a good line on practically all of them.

Perhaps the fellow who landed the best job of all is the dapper Henry Johnson, now pro at the swanky Hyde Park Country Club in Jacksonville, Fla. Frank Goss is pro at Fort Benning, Ga., and Eddie Morgan is employed by Sears Roebuck and Company in Miami, Fla.

Joe Fungy, who came to Cumberland via Martinsburg, W. Va., is dead as is Stanley Currie, one of the early pros here. Carroll, however, has lost track of Jimmy Beveridge, who served here in the early 1920s and was well known as golf coach at Tome School, Port Deposit, Md.

THE BOARD of Regents at the University of Maryland yesterday made it official by approving the appointment of Tommy Mont as head football coach and William W. Cobey as athletic director.

Bill Cobey is a native of Florida and is a first cousin of W. Earle Cobey, Cumberland attorney.

IF AL MARTIN can obtain his release from the Evangeline League of Louisiana he hopes to land a job as umpire in the Provincial League in Canada. Both are Class "C" circuits but the Canadian loop is considered a bit faster and the pay rate is higher.

Martin made his debut as minor league umpire in the Kitty League in 1953 and worked in the Evangeline League the past two years. The Kitty folded last year after being in operation almost a half century.

FORT HILL High School got a "big surprise" the other day when Lary Becker, Allegany track coach, informed Bill Hahn that the Campers will not compete against the Sentinels in the City and Fort Hill Invitational meets this year.

BILLY EVANS, the popular major league umpire of yesteryear, who died the other day, always said that Jimmy Williams, New York infielder, did him the favor that helped him most.

That was the day Evans broke in as an arbiter. He was nervously pacing the infield when Williams spoke to him .

"Don't be scared," Jimmy said. "The bases are the same distance apart as they are in the minors. The runners are either safe or out. The pitches are either balls or strikes. Just call 'em the way they look to you."

Evans stayed in the American League 22 years.

JO ANN CONNOR, co captain of Valley High School's basketball team, is leading the female scorers of the area with 128 points in six games, an average of 21.3 points per contest.

Kathy is a daughter of Tom Mullaney, who played basketball at LaSalle in the early 1920s. She is a sister of Tom and Marty Mullaney, outstanding athletes at LaSalle in recent years.

A MEASURE has been proposed that would increase the tax on betting pools at race tracks in West Virginia from four to five per cent. The bill also would change the law to allow the state to take half the "breakage," all of which now is retained by the tracks.

In Maryland half the "breakage" is retained by the tracks while the state takes the other half.

In case you don't know, parimutuel results are calculated to the penny, but the actual payoff to the bettor is the next lowest multiple of ten cents. The odd cents in between are called "breakage." For instance, if a horse wins and returns $3.86 for $2 the bettor receives $3.80. The six pennies are split 50-50 by the track and state in Maryland. In West Virginia the tracks get the six cents.

America Leads With Two Trump Cards In Winter Olympics

Canada Tops Germany In Hockey Test

Andrea Lawrence, Bud Washbond Vie In Contests Today

By TED SMITS

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy, Jan. 26 (AP)—America leads with a pair of her trump cards—Skier Andrea Mead Lawrence and bobsledder Waightman (Bud) Washbond—tomorrow when the seventh winter Olympic Games shift from pageantry to grim competition.

Mrs. Lawrence, 23-year-old mother of three and double gold medalist in the 1952 games at Oslo, defends her women's giant slalom championship on the barren Canalone slopes of Tofana Hill—a substitute site because of the crags and rocks on Faloria Mountain.

Washbond, a stocky gauge maker from East Harford, Conn., attempts to crack the Italians' pre-Olympic mastery on the risky bobsled run. The first two heats of the two-man event are scheduled tomorrow with the final two Saturday.

Canadians Triumph

Fans got an early taste of the forthcoming competition—but only an appetizer—with two ice hockey games which saw Canada's defending champions smother Germany easily 4-0 and Italy and Austria play to a 2-2 tie in a preliminary round robin.

Torch Bearer Tumbles

Two minor incidents marred the brilliant opening day pageantry. Italy's champion speed skater, Guido Caroli, tripped on some wires and fell headlong on the track while carrying the Olympic torch into the stadium. He righted himself quickly, never dropped the torch and skated on to light the flame which will burn steadily until the end of the games Feb. 4.

Just before the ceremonies an unidentified German, dressed in white nightgown, veil, dunce cap and ski shoes, created a commotion outside the stadium with a demand for a world sports organization to oppose atomic bombs. He was shooed away.

The program tomorrow opens with the first two runs in the two-man bobsled competition, followed by the 30-ki.ometer (18 miles, 1,128 yards) cross country ski race for men and the giant slalom for ladies.

U. S. Team Makes Debut

The United States' ice hockey team also makes its debut against the formidable team from Czechoslovakia. There are three other hockey games—Canada vs. Austria, Italy vs. Germany and Russia vs. Sweden.

Canada's aggressive body-checkers are favored in the round robin tournament, but strong opposition is anticipated from Russia, which beat Canada's best two years ago. The U.S. and Czechoslovakia are expected to battle for third place.

Mrs. Lawrence, whose ski training has been hampered by duties as a housewife, hasn't shown the sharp form displayed four years ago at Oslo, and is rated no better than an outsider in tomorrow's giant slalom.

Five Horses Die In Blaze At Tropical

Wild Stampede, Auto Crashes Mark Fire

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 26 (AP)—A spectacular flash fire roared through a barn at Tropical Park Race Track today, killing an estimated five thoroughbreds and touching off a wild stampede that injured several more and caused two automobile crashes.

"It was like a wild west show for a while," said officer Billy Stephens of the Coral Gables Police Department, who helped round up the 40 fear-maddened horses who charged out of the park and galloped in a body up heavily-traveled Bird Road.

"Two of the horses were hit by cars and one of them had to be shot. Most of the rest of them were bleeding badly from cuts and bruises on the legs.

Before the herd was rounded up a mile from the park, Stephens said the stampede caused two automobile accidents on the busy 4-lane road. None of the occupants of the cars was injured.

The fire, believed to have been started by a short in an electric wire, quickly destroyed barn No. 3, which housed some 80 horses, most of them now in competition at Hialeah Race Course. Tropical Park's 40-day meeting closed Jan. 16.

21 Buccos Signed, Surkont In Fold

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 26 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today 21 players are under contract with the signing of pitchers Max Surkont and Jack McMahan.

Surkont, 34-year-old veteran who had a 7-14 mark last year with a 5.58 earned run average, signed the first contract offered. Whether he took a salary cut is something General Manager Jo Brown didn't reveal.

McMahan is a southpaw drafted from the Yankee farm club at Denver in the American Assn. He pitched for Birmingham of the Southern Assn. last season, winning 11 of 16 decisions.

Hartack Wins Three, Double Pays $762.90

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 26 (AP)— Willie Hartack, 1955's riding champion, completed his second triple in as many days as the sensational West Virginian drove Calumet Farm's Tollesboro to a popular victory in the $6,000 Gold Coast Purse at Hialeah Park today.

Earlier, Hartack, had scored in the opening on McKean's gold, ($43.20), which figured in the season's largest daily double of $762.-90, and on Do Report ($4.30), in the sixth. The triple brought Hartack's total here to 13 winners.

Basilio-Saxton Bout Postponed

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—The International Boxing Club today announced the scheduled welterweight championship fight between Carmen Basilio and Johnny Saxton has been postponed until March 14 at Chicago Stadium.

The fight originally was scheduled for Feb. 15, but an International spokesman said Basilio was suffering from a "mild case of influenza" and had been advised to stay in bed.

The spokesman said the club was attempting to fill the open date with a match between Eduardo Lausse, of Buenos Aires and Bobby Boyd of Chicago, both middleweights.

A's Sign Craddock, Of Mt. Hope, W. Va.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 26 (AP)—Two pitchers and an infielder were signed today by the Kansas City Athletics.

The hurlers are Bill Bradford, 32, Fairfield, Calif., who won 12 and lost 5 last season with San Francisco, and Walt Craddock, 24, Mt. Hope, W. Va., who won 8 and lost 13 last year with Savannah.

Pope Inks Pact With Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP)—Dave Pope, Baltimore outfielder who holds one of the best fielding averages in baseball, today became the 15th Oriole to sign for the 1956 American League season.

After batting .294 over parts of two seasons with the Indians, Pope dropped to .264 last year. Oriole Manager Paul Richards insists the Negro outfielder had an off season and is counting on him to stage a comeback this year.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—No. 32 to sign a Chicago White Sox 1956 contract today was catcher Les Moss, 30, of Toledo, Ohio. Acquired from the Baltimore Orioles last June, Moss appeared in 61 games and had a combined .296 batting average for the Pale Hose and Orioles.

Rains Wash Out Fight On Coast

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26 (AP)—Tonight's scheduled lightweight fight between Brooklyn's Paddy DeMarco and Don Jordan of Los Angeles was postponed today because of heavy rains.

It will be held next Thursday.

The sponsoring Olympic Auditorium said that the rain would ruin the gate for the non-televised main event. DeMarco is the former world's lightweight champion.

No Need to Feel so Grumpy. This young lady feels that way because her morning has been spent downtown stopping here, there and everywhere, paying end-of-the-month bills. Looking at a sink full of dishes isn't helping any, either. She would find life much easier if she simply sat down at her desk, paid her bills with THRIFTICHECKS, and let the postmen be her messengers. The modest cost of only a few cents for each THRIFTICHECK would be a real bargain in more gracious living. She could open a THRIFTICHECK Account with any amount, keep as much or as little on deposit as she wished, have her name attractively printed on her checks at no extra cost. No wonder so many smart housewives have THRIFTICHECK Accounts of their own at . . .

Daily Bridge Lesson

THE ULTIMATE IN FALSE-CARDING

IN EVERY phase of bridge, whether it be opening leads, magnificently conceived squeezes or coups, or a host of other "departments," there are hands that have become classic illustrations. Take the hand below for example. It contains the ne plus ultra in the line of false-card plays.

South dealer.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| | ♠ 6 3♥ Q J 4♦ K 10 8 6♣ Q 10 9 8 | |
| ♠ A Q 10 9 7 4♥ 8 5 2♦ 7♣ 6 3 2 | NW ES | ♠ 8 2♥ 10 6 3♦ J 9 5 4 3 2♣ K J |
| | ♠ K J 5♥ A K 9 7♦ A Q♣ A 7 5 4 | |

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♣ | 1 ♠ | 2 ♣ | Pass |
| 3 NT | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Some Wests opened the queen of spades, others the ten, and the various declarers took one of two courses. After winning the first trick, some cashed the ace and queen of diamonds, then went over to the heart queen and led the club ten with the intention of passing it to West, the non-dangerous hand. Others laid down the club ace with the intention of leading another club and playing West for the king. When, however, they saw East play the jack, these declarers lost their nerve, they rightly feared that another club lead would let East get in for a heart return, and rather than face that extreme danger, they cashed in their nine cold tricks.

The East-West top on the board was earned by an astute East, who, clearly reading the situation, made a remarkable play. When the ace of clubs was led against him, he dropped the king! Poor South could not be blamed for falling. Apparently, four club tricks were there for the taking, so of course he finessed against the club jack—and the consequence was something that South will not soon forget!

Incidentally, to give credit where it is due, this particular defensive hoax was written up many years ago in the Bridge World magazine, and so it is possible that East, instead of being highly ingenious, simply had a good memory.

Card of Thanks

We desire to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives, who were so kind and sympathetic to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved husband and father, George T. Coleman, Mt. Savage, Md. We especially wish to thank Rev. Schwinn for his comforting words, Mr. Charles George, Undertaker, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and cards, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, and all others who in any way rendered assistance.

Harris, Stewart To Battle For Top TWUA Post

All Other Officers Named In Annual Poll

Melvin Harris and James Stewart topped a list of six candidates for the presidency of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, and were qualified for a runoff election slated to get under way on Monday.

All other officers of the Celanese local were elected in the annual poll, held Monday through Wednesday at the union hall and at the Amcelle plant, according to George Lyons, chairman of the five-man election committee.

Win On 1st Ballot

Irvin A. Lewis, vice president, unopposed.

Charles F. Davis, secretary-treasurer.

Francis Harvey, warden.

Lyons said the runoff election will be held Monday through Wednesday on the same schedule as was used this week.

Harris, who lives at 11 Mill Street, Frostburg, is completing his first term as president of the local. He served as secretary-treasurer and business agent in 1950, 1953 and 1954.

Vote Was Close

Stewart lives at 321 Columbia Street. He served as vice president in 1948. He has been active in union affairs and is employed in the Preparation Department at the Celanese plant.

Union officials recalled this is the first time in a number of years that a runoff has been unnecessary for the Executive Board.

Lyons termed the Executive Board election "very close" but that six of the 12 candidates received majorities.

Paper Company Electricians State Position

Officials of Local 1653, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, last night took issue with a company statement.

The union statement by George Wolfe, president, and Lonnie Marsh, vice president, followed a company announcement that the IBEW union has rejected a wage increase offer at the plants.

The company, Marsh said, quoted rates for the Covington mill only, and did not give the rates for the Luke and Williamsburg mills.

All three mills Marsh said, were put under one bargaining unit, at the company's insistence, before the National Labor Relations Board in 1950.

Last year, he said, the company tried to split the union by giving Covington electricians a three-cent increase over Luke and Williamsburg.

This year, he added, the company wants to increase the spread to seven cents for Covington journeymen electricians.

The proposed rate for Covington, he said, is $2.43 for leadmen, $2.33 for journeymen electricians and $2.07 for four-year apprentices.

At Luke and Williamsburg, the proposed rates are $2.35 for leadmen, $2.36 for journeymen and $2.03 for four-year apprentices.

Local 1635, at Luke, covers 49 workers at Luke and Williamsburg and Local 51, at Covington, 51 electricians at the Virginia plant.

Heart Campaign Leaders Confer

At a dutch treat luncheon, some of the city leaders in the February Heart Fund drive discussed plans for the campaign. Left to right are Clyde Arbogast, Baltimore, director of the Maryland Heart Association, Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, general chairman for the Allegany-Garrett campaign; Thomas F. Conlon Jr., city chairman; Rev. Arthur Scrogum, chairman for South Cumberland, Simon Rosenbaum, chairman for the West Side, and Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis secretary of the association.

Heart Campaign Workers Plan Kickoff Meeting

The Allegany-Garrett County Heart Association fund campaign during the month of February will be launched with a dinner meeting Monday at 6:30 p. m. at Central YMCA for campaign leaders and workers in the two counties.

Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, general campaign chairman, said reservations for the "dutch" treat dinner should be made by calling the Heart Association office.

The goal of the campaign in Allegany County is $12,300, with $2,160 requested from Garrett County. This makes a total goal for the association of $14,460.

These funds, Dr. Skitarelic explains, are used annually to continue the many services of the association in helping combat 24 different kinds of heart disease, provide care, treatment, hospitalization and rehabilitation of persons already stricken, and to finance the preventative program of rheumatic fever.

He explained that an extensive organization has been set-up to cover a program of benefits by organizations, distribution of coin containers, direct mail solicitation and participation in the nationwide Heart Sunday drive.

All of these leaders and the details of their part in the drive will be outlined at the dinner meeting.

Dr. Skitarelic said he has also been advised that the Maryland Heart Association is arranging to send a speaker here for the meeting.

Correction

The Hafer funeral home and Hafer furniture store in Frostburg have no connection with the Hafer funeral homes in Cumberland and at the Six Mile House, as incorrectly reported in The Cumberland News on Wednesday.

Both the funeral home and the furniture store in Frostburg are owned by Mrs. Pearl Mattingly and Mrs. Beulah Montesant. The Hafer funeral homes in Cumberland and at the Six Mile House are owned by John J. Hafer.

The Hafer funeral home and furniture store in Frostburg were established by Jacob Hafer in 1907. Some years later Jacob Hafer opened a furniture store in Cumberland and still later a funeral home here, both of which were operated under the management of John Hafer.

Subsequently the furniture business in Cumberland was sold to the Wolf Furniture Company. John Hafer continued as manager of the furniture business and funeral home in Frostburg and the funeral home in Cumberland until 1941 when the business association with his father was discontinued.

Since 1941, John Hafer has operated the Cumberland funeral business which he purchased, and some months ago opened another funeral home on Route 40 six miles west of Cumberland. In the meantime, he also has operated two restaurants, one on Route 40 west of Frostburg and another at 228 Baltimore Avenue. The latter will be closed on Saturday and John Hafer will open a furniture business at that location in March.

Parking Situation Plans Aired At Ridgeley Meet

Plans for alleviating hazardous parking and easing the traffic situation in Ridgeley were discussed at length this week during a special meeting of the Mayor and Council of that community.

City officials decided on several proposed plans and have submitted them to the town attorney, Harry Drane, to formulate into ordinances.

Mayor Charles H. Fryer said that following the discussion period he and the members of the council decided to curtail parking on the right-hand side of Main Street from Mineral Street to the city limits.

Parking on Main Street from Mineral Street to the city limits will be restricted on the left side to loading and unloading purposes with a 10-minute limit, Mayor Fryer added.

It was also decided to make Knobley Street one-way from Mineral Street to Second Avenue. A similar plan of one-way traffic on Lyons Street from Potomac Street to Blocker Street was decided upon.

Mayor Fryer said the plans have been submitted to Attorney Drane who will draw up the necessary ordinances. They will be read at three council meetings and then go into effect.

Residents of Ridgeley who are not agreeable to the proposed plans may attend the meetings and voice their opinions, Mayor Fryer added.

New A&P Market On West Side To Open Feb. 14

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company will open its new supermarket in the 600 block of Greene Street February 14 at 10 a. m.

The store will be managed by George N. Taylor, 520 Riehl Avenue, who is assistant manager of the A & P Supermarket on Wineow Street. He has been with the company for almost 20 years.

Workers began placing fixtures in the new store on Monday as other workers began putting the finishing touches on the L shaped building erected by the John I. Vandegrift Company.

Equipment for the store will be the most modern available.

The front of the new store is about 100 feet wide and has six large plate glass windows with brick facing.

The market will have a sales area of 82 by 123 feet and contain about 13,000 square feet of floor space. A 70 by 50 foot warehouse stands at the rear of the one-story building.

The store, according to R. H. Reuse, LaVale, district manager, will be air conditioned and seven checkout stations will be placed in the front section of the building.

Adequate parking space has been provided for customers to the front and one side of the building.

The company only recently remodeled its big downtown supermarket.

Dentists Will Hear Talk On Hypnosis

The Allegany-Garrett Dental Society will meet Wednesday, February 1, at 6:30 p. m. at the Cumberland Country Club.

GOP Delegates Must Select Floor Leader

Several Named As Candidates

The post of minority leader in the House of Delegates in the past 48 hours seems to have become one of the most sought-after positions anywhere.

When the Republican bloc of delegates holds its caucus Tuesday, the first order of business will be to elect a minority floor leader. This situation developed sometime ago, when Del. Melvin H. Derr, (R-Frederick) announced that he would resign from the job and would not actively seek it again.

Speculation here and elsewhere in the state has turned up many possible candidates for the post, including half of Allegany County's solidly Republican delegation.

The oldest delegate in Maryland's General Assembly in point of service is Ray Barnes, Republican from Carroll County, who is beginning his 28th year in the legislature.

Next oldest in the House is Lester B. Reed, Republican from Allegany County and chairman of his delegation, who has served 17 years.

Would Accept

Chairman Reed last night confirmed that several members of the Republican bloc in the House contacted him in recent weeks relative to his acceptance of the position. Reed said he told them all the same thing: "If the post is offered me, I will accept it, but I have not announced myself as a candidate."

Chairman Reed also said last night that he has noted that two members of the local delegation are seeking the post. He added, "It is a little early to try to predict what might happen between now and Tuesday."

In an Associated Press story yesterday, the names of two Allegany County delegates were mentioned as seeking the position of minority floor leader.

Driscoll, Hughes Want Job

Delegate Fred B. Driscoll, midway through his second term in the House and a member of the Legislative Council and George R. Hughes Jr. both confirmed the AP report that they want the job. Hughes is a first-termer.

The Associated Press also reported that Delegates Jacob B. Berkson of Washington County and Milton K. Larmore of Wicomico County also want the minority leadership.

The Republicans are outnumbered 21 to eight in the State Senate and 98 to 25 in the House.

In the Senate, veteran Sen. Harry T. Phoebus, (R-Somerset) and Sen. Jacob R. Ramsburg, (R-Frederick) have been prominently mentioned for the minority leadership.

Sen. Phoebus took over the job between sessions after the resignation of Robert B. Kimble of this county to become head of the Department of Employment Security.

Ample support to assure re-election of Sen. Louis L. Goldstein as president of the Maryland Senate was claimed by supporters of the Calvert County Democrat.

Session Opens Wednesday

The General Assembly opens a 30-day session next Wednesday.

T. Barton Harrington, state party chairman, yesterday issued a call for caucuses by Democratic members of the Senate and House of Delegates on Wednesday morning.

However, these legislators, who hold overwhelming majorities over the Republicans in both houses, are expected to select their officers at informal meetings Tuesday night.

Del. John C. Luber (D-Balto 5th) is believed safe in his bid for another session as House speaker. Forces who opposed him in the organization battle last year have shown no signs of renewing their opposition.

Port Of Baltimore Film Is Available

A Port of Baltimore film will be loaned to the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce beginning Monday and will be shown to interested organizations in the next week or 10 days, according to Allan R. Williams.

Representatives of organizations interested in seeing the film should contact the Jaycee office in the Liberty Trust Building. Williams said the only definite commitment is that the film will be shown Tuesday at Fort Hill High School.

Mothers Plan Dimes March In Ridgeley

Mothers in nearby Ridgeley will be on the march next Tuesday evening making a house-to-house canvass soliciting funds to be used in the battle against polio.

Mayor Charles H. Fryer is director of the community polio drive again this year and announces that the "Mothers-On-The-March" will visit each home in Ridgeley and Carpenters Addition sometime between 7 p. m. and 9 p. m. Tuesday.

The Ladies Auxiliary unit of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, under the direction of Mrs. Esta Bowers, president, will canvass Ridgeley in an effort to raise the funds.

Residents are asked to leave their porch lights on as a reminder they are willing to contribute. Mayor Fryer pointed out that last year citizens of Ridgeley cooperated in the drive and it is hoped full cooperation again this year will make 1956 campaign a success.

Butler Files For Renomination To U. S. Senate

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 26 (AP) — Sen. John Marshall Butler, the Baltimore lawyer who unseated Millard E. Tydings from the Senate in a hotly contested campaign six years ago, filed for renomination today.

James P. Brock, administrative assistant to the secretary of state, handled the proceedings.

"This action has been taken after careful deliberation and in the humble belief that the people of my state should be accorded the opportunity to endorse or reject the record I have made as their senator during the past five years," a prepared statement read.

Thus Butler became the third Republican officially to file his candidacy. One opponent is D. John Market of Frederick, who polled more votes than Butler in the 1950 primary, only to lose in Maryland's unit vote system. Markey had 34,791 votes to Butler's 32,902.

The other Republican candidate is Henry J. Laque Jr., Linthicum junkyard dealer.

Four Democrats have filed. George P. Mahoney, Baltimore County paving contractor who was defeated in a Senate bid by Sen. J. Glenn Beall two years ago and who has twice lost gubernatorial bids, is one of them.

Andrew J. Easter, Baltimore-Washington draftsman; Kenneth E. lee, Baltimore attorney, and George Washington Williams, another Baltimore lawyer, also have filed.

There has been speculation that Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore would throw his hat into the ring before the filing deadline Feb. 27.

Youth Leader To Talk In Churches Of Area

Rev. Floyd Ankenberg, Chicago, regional vice president of Youth for Christ International, will speak at a number of area churches on Sunday.

Rev. Ankenberg will speak at the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Hyndman, Pa., Sunday at 9:30 a. m. At 11 a. m. he will preach at the Gravel Pit Evangelical United Brethren Church five miles north of Hyndman.

He will speak at the Gladdens Church in the Kennells Mills area at 2:30 p. m., at a special rally marking the eighth anniversary of the Sunday school. The program will include vocal and instrumental music.

On Sunday at 7:30 p. m., he will preach at First Methodist Church here.

ICC Discloses Added Facts In Fatal Crash

Driver Experience Need Is Emphasized

This report stated that the primary cause of the accident was a rupture of the air hose to the right rear brake chamber of the tractor and loss of air through this opening, which permitted the tractor-semitrailer to run down the long step grade from the crest of Big Savage Mountain at high speed without effective brakes. A secondary cause cited was faulty driving.

Renewed Vigor

Aside from recommending renewed vigor in the enforcement of systematic inspection and maintenance of all essential parts of motor vehicles used in interstate commerce, the ICC offers a second recommendation.

It reads:

"The large commercial motor vehicle of today is not a simple machine which can safely be driven by anyone able to start, stop and steer it on good level roads when all parts are functioning perfectly. Its great weight makes it incumbent on the driver to exercise sound judgment when operating on mountain roads. Its braking equipment is complex and must be thoroughly understood if the driver is to use it effectively under all conditions and is ready to recognize symptoms of malfunctioning.

"Every motor carrier is required by Section 191.4 to use only drivers who have had sufficient experience and training to operate safely each type of vehicle he drives. The required training must include instruction in methods of meeting such special problems as may stem from the characteristics of the highways to be traveled, as well as a detailed explanation of the brake system on each vehicle or combination to be driven, and instructions in the functioning and the use of such brake system."

Driving Third Day

The report states that the accident occurred on the third day that Paul Stewart Myers Jr., 25, RFD 2, Dover, Pa., had been driving the truck.

On October 14, 1955 he was laid off at the Standard Steel Company, York, Pa., because of a reduction in force. His record with the company was deemed satisfactory.

He began driving for Ray Wells, also of Dover, Pa., the following Monday, October 17, although he had driven tractor-semitrailer combinations since 1951. The vehicle was operating in the service of Daniels Motor Freight, Inc., under a "permanent" lease arrangement with Wells.

Myers picked up a load of freight in Baltimore October 17 and delivered the load to a consignee in Cleveland, Ohio, the next day. He was returning from Warren, Ohio, with a 40,910 pound load of galvanized sheet steel bound for Lonaconing when the accident occurred.

The report also discloses that Wells himself had wrapped the airhose to the right rear brake chamber of the tractor with friction tape to prevent its being burned by the exhaust pipe. Inspection of the hose after the accident revealed, however, that the tape itself had been severely burned and chafed by contact with the exhaust pipe over an extended period of time and the hose beneath the tape and near it was burned, hardened and cracked.

"The faulty condition of this air hose should have been apparent to any competent mechanic upon visual inspection before the accident," the report stated.

Bridges To Take Most Of Flood Bond Money

$600,000 Issue To Be Sold Jan. 31

The City of Cumberland will sell a $600,000 flood control bond issue next Tuesday.

The greater part of the money will be needed to pay for the new Baltimore and Market Street bridges, and most of the rest will go to pay local costs in connection with the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project which is slated for completion in 1958.

About $300,000 of the new flood control issue will be needed to build the new Baltimore Street Bridge and to advance to the government local costs connected with Section IV of the Wills Creek channel improvement program, slated to be advertised about March.

$270,000 For Bridge

The city's share of the final section of the creek channel is estimated at about $30,000. The Baltimore Street Bridge, which the city has asked the Corps of Engineers to build as part of the job, will cost in the neighborhood of $270,000. About $25,000 of this represents the cost of a temporary bridge which will be built to keep traffic moving during construction.

The new flood control bonds must also provide about $90,000, the balance on the city's share of construction costs of Channel Sections II and III, which got under way recently.

Most of the rest of the money will be needed to finance the Market Street Bridge, now under construction. The span is being built under a $179,963 contract. The city has already paid for the plans, but engineering and contingency costs may boost the figure by about 10 per cent.

$2,500,000 Spent

The city's Flood Control fund, which is depleted after the expenditure of $1½ millions of city and $1 million of county funds, will be boosted slightly when the government turns over its share of the cost of some properties purchased jointly for the city and the government, according to Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

The city's share of other contracts to be let on the project total about $45,000, not including land and right of way costs.

Fire Engineering Has Account Of LaVale Tragedy

An account of the highway tragedy of October 19, 1955, in which five persons were killed in LaVale when a runaway tractor-trailer went out of control descending Big Savage mountain, roared through Frostburg and hit two vehicles in LaVale appears in the January issue of Fire Engineering.

The publication is the journal of the fire protection profession since 1877. The local story appears on the feature page headed "The Watch Desk," overhauling the fire news of the day.

Two Postmaster Nominations Made

Two West Virginia women from nearby communities were included in a list of nominations for postmasters sent to the Senate yesterday by President Eisenhower.

They were Dorothy R. Blank for Capon Springs and Mary Virginia Earman for Harpers Ferry.

Baltimore Pike Firemen Answer Nine 1955 Alarms

The Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company responded to nine fire calls during 1955 but no chargeable financial loss resulted, according to the annual activity report of Harry M. DeHaven, chief, and J. Bruner, assistant chief.

There were three house fire alarms in the list but one of them was to assist Flintstone and another to aid District 16 at North Branch. A flue fire December 15 was in the district but it was so slight that no loss was suffered. Three grass fires, two forest fires and one automobile fire also were extinguished by the Baltimore Pike firemen.

Other activities cited in the report included participation in five parades between June 9 and October 26. The Baltimore Pike firemen also provided stand-by service for the sports car races at the Cumberland Airport. One fire drill also was cited in the record.

DeHaven reported that the fire apparatus was kept busy during the last three or four months of 1955 hauling water to families whose cisterns or well had gone dry. No record of these trips was kept.

The chief also noted in his report that in the five years he has been chief $1,427.80 has been spent for new equipment. Chief items included $540 for a portable pump, two sections of suction hose and control valve for the pump, $250 for a two-way radio set for the truck and $150 for 150 feet of one-inch booster hose. Six coats, helmets and six pairs of firemen's boots also were listed.

Mayor Roy Eves To End Service With Railroad

Testimonial Dinner To Be Held March 8

Mayor Roy W. Eves will be honored on March 8 at a testimonial dinner marking his retirement as superintendent of the Bolt and Forge Shops here and from the service of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The dinner will be held March 8 at 6:30 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club and will follow a reception held in his honor at 6 p. m.

T. J. Klauenberg, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, will be general chairman for the testimonial event, with W. N. Kaylor, assistant superintendent of the Bolt and Forge Shop as co-chairman. J. H. Brown will be secretary and J. J. Carney Jr., treasurer.

Mayor Eves, official B & O retirement will take place on March 11 when he becomes 70. He will actually end his official duties in mid-February, when a three-weeks vacation begins.

Mayor Eves has had over 40 years of service with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, starting as an electrician at the Chillicothe, Ohio, shops.

He has been a resident of Maryland for 29 years and is in his 26th year as a citizen of Cumberland. During this time he has served as superintendent of the Bolt and Forge Shop. At the time of consolidation of the Rolling Mill and the Bolt and Forge Shop six years ago, he was made superintendent of shops.

At the time Eves came to Cumberland in October 1930 there were less than 100 men employed in the Bolt and Forge shop. This force was gradually built up to 600 men through a plan to provide employment for the many furloughed B & O employes here.

This program was building freight cars in various company shops with material manufactured in the Cumberland shops. Additional machinery was also provided to permit the manufacture and repair of car and locomotive parts previously obtained from other sources.

He was born in Evansville, Ind., March 11, 1886. He and Mrs. Eves reside at 101 Washington Street.

Active in civic affairs, he has served as president of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Cumberland Engineers' Club, the Salvation Army Advisory Board and chairman of the Allegany County Welfare Board.

He was elected mayor of Cumberland in 1952 and was reelected for a four-year term in 1954.

Woman Burned In Home Fire

A local resident who burned her arm when a small frame house in the rear of 906 Gay Street caught fire yesterday morning was given first aid by firemen of South End Company who answered the call.

Firemen said the cause of the blaze at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Dittlywick was an overheated stove.

Mrs. Dittlywick, in an attempt to extinguish the fire, burned her arm. South End firemen, who received the call at 10:20 a. m., said the ceiling around the kitchen stove was scorched.

In another call yesterday afternoon, South End firemen checked an emergency when the water line at 29 West Roberts Street broke.

After arriving on the scene they cut off the water supply in front of the house until repairs could be made. The call was received at 2:50 p. m.

S. A. Is Preparing For Spiritual Drive

Officers and soldiers of the Salvation Army are busy this week making home visitations in preparation for the evangelistic campaign to be held at the Salvation Army Citadel February 5 through 12.

Capt. Daniel Biggs, commander of the Citadel, said the Salvation Army is extending personal invitations, during the visits, to attend the services.

Melvin Harris and James Stewart topped a list of six candidates for the presidency of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, and were qualified for a runoff election slated to get under way on Monday.

All other officers of the Celanese local were elected in the annual poll, held Monday through Wednesday at the union hall and at the Amcelle plant, according to George Lyons, chairman of the five-man election committee.

Win On 1st Ballot

Harris, who lives at 11 Mill Street, Frostburg, is completing his first term as president of the local. He served as secretary-treasurer and business agent in 1950, 1953 and 1954.

Vote Was Close

Stewart lives at 321 Columbia Street. He served as vice president in 1948. He has been active in union affairs and is employed in the Preparation Department at the Celanese plant.

Union officials recalled this is the first time in a number of years that a runoff has been unnecessary for the Executive Board.

Lyons termed the Executive Board election "very close" but that six of the 12 candidates received majorities.

To be elected, a candidate must receive a majority of the votes cast.

Paper Company Electricians State Position

Officials of Local 1653, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, last night took issue with a company statement.

The union statement by George Wolfe, president, and Lonnie Marsh, vice president, followed a company announcement that the IBEW union has rejected a wage increase offer at the plants.

The company, Marsh said, quoted rates for the Covington mill only, and did not give the rates for the Luke and Williamsburg mills.

All three mills Marsh said, were put under one bargaining unit, at the company's insistence, before the National Labor Relations Board in 1950.

Last year, he said, the company tried to split the union by giving Covington electricians a three-cent increase over Luke and Williamsburg.

This year, he added, the company wants to increase the spread to seven cents for Covington journeymen electricians.

The proposed rate for Covington, he said, is $2.43 for leadmen, $2.33 for journeymen electricians and $2.07 for four-year apprentices.

At Luke and Williamsburg, the proposed rates are $2.35 for leadmen, $2.36 for journeymen and $2.03 for four-year apprentices.

Local 1635, at Luke, covers 49 workers at Luke and Williamsburg and Local 51, at Covington, 51 electricians at the Virginia plant.

The union said it has given the company a 10-day notice of intentions to terminate its contract on January 31.

Several Named As Candidates

The post of minority leader in the House of Delegates in the past 48 hours seems to have become one of the most sought-after positions anywhere.

When the Republican bloc of delegates holds its caucus Tuesday, the first order of business will be to elect a minority floor leader. This situation developed sometime ago, when Del. Melvin H. Derr, (R-Frederick) announced that he would resign from the job and would not actively seek it again.

Speculation here and elsewhere in the state has turned up many possible candidates for the post, including half of Allegany County's solidly Republican delegation.

The oldest delegate in Maryland's General Assembly in point of service is Ray Barnes, Republican from Carroll County, who is beginning his 28th year in the legislature.

Next oldest in the House is Lester B. Reed, Republican from Allegany County and chairman of his delegation, who has served 17 years.

Would Accept

Chairman Reed last night confirmed that several members of the Republican bloc in the House contacted him in recent weeks relative to his acceptance of the position. Reed said he told them all the same thing: "If the post is offered me, I will accept it, but I have not announced myself as a candidate."

Chairman Reed also said last night that he has noted that two members of the local delegation are seeking the post. He added, "It is a little early to try to predict what might happen between now and Tuesday."

In an Associated Press story yesterday, the names of two Allegany County delegates were mentioned as seeking the position of minority floor leader.

Driscoll, Hughes Want Job

Delegate Fred B. Driscoll, midway through his second term in the House and a member of the Legislative Council and George R. Hughes Jr. both confirmed the AP report that they want the job. Hughes is a first-termer.

The Associated Press also reported that Delegates Jacob B. Berkson of Washington County and Milton K. Larmore of Wicomico County also want the minority leadership.

The Republicans are outnumbered 21 to eight in the State Senate and 98 to 25 in the House.

In the Senate, veteran Sen. Harry T. Phoebus, (R-Somerset) and Sen. Jacob R. Ramsburg, (R-Frederick) have been prominently mentioned for the minority leadership.

Sen. Phoebus took over the job between sessions after the resignation of Robert B. Kimble of this county to become head of the Department of Employment Security.

Ample support to assure re-election of Sen. Louis L. Goldstein as president of the Maryland Senate was claimed by supporters of the Calvert County Democrat.

Session Opens Wednesday

The General Assembly opens a 30-day session next Wednesday.

T. Barton Harrington, state party chairman, yesterday issued a call for caucuses by Democratic members of the Senate and House of Delegates on Wednesday morning.

However, these legislators, who hold overwhelming majorities over the Republicans in both houses, are expected to select their officers at informal meetings Tuesday night.

Del. John C. Luber (D-Balto 5th) is believed safe in his bid for another session as House speaker. Forces who opposed him in the organization battle last year have shown no signs of renewing their opposition.

Mothers Plan Dimes March In Ridgeley

Mothers in nearby Ridgeley will be on the march next Tuesday evening making a house-to-house canvass soliciting funds to be used in the battle against polio.

Mayor Charles H. Fryer is director of the community polio drive again this year and announces that the "Mothers-On-The-March" will visit each home in Ridgeley and Carpenters Addition sometime between 7 p. m. and 9 p. m. Tuesday.

The Ladies Auxiliary unit of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, under the direction of Mrs. Esta Bowers, president, will canvass Ridgeley in an effort to raise the funds.

Residents are asked to leave their porch lights on as a reminder they are willing to contribute. Mayor Fryer pointed out that last year citizens of Ridgeley cooperated in the drive and it is hoped full cooperation again this year will make 1956 campaign a success.

Butler Files For Renomination To U. S. Senate

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 26 (AP) — Sen. John Marshall Butler, the Baltimore lawyer who unseated Millard E. Tydings from the Senate in a hotly contested campaign six years ago, filed for renomination today.

Neither Gov. McKeldin nor Secretary of State Blanchard Randall were in when their fellow Republican arrived at the Statehouse with his necessary documents and wrote a check for $270 as a state-wide candidate.

James P. Brock, administrative assistant to the secretary of state, handled the proceedings.

"This action has been taken after careful deliberation and in the humble belief that the people of my state should be accorded the opportunity to endorse or reject the record I have made as their senator during the past five years," a prepared statement read.

Thus Butler became the third Republican officially to file his candidacy. One opponent is D. John Market of Frederick, who polled more votes than Butler in the 1950 primary, only to lose in Maryland's unit vote system. Markey had 34,791 votes to Butler's 32,902.

The other Republican candidate is Henry J. Laque Jr., Linthicum junkyard dealer.

Four Democrats have filed. George P. Mahoney, Baltimore County paving contractor who was defeated in a Senate bid by Sen. J. Glenn Beall two years ago and who has twice lost gubernatorial bids, is one of them.

Andrew J. Easter, Baltimore-Washington draftsman; Kenneth E. lee, Baltimore attorney, and George Washington Williams, another Baltimore lawyer, also have filed.

There has been speculation that Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore would throw his hat into the ring before the filing deadline Feb. 27.

Driver Experience Need Is Emphasized

Additional background facts concerning the tragic crash which took five lives in LaVale last October 19 are revealed in the complete motor carrier investigation report of the accident prepared by the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington.

This report stated that the primary cause of the accident was a rupture of the air hose to the right rear brake chamber of the tractor and loss of air through this opening, which permitted the tractor-semitrailer to run down the long step grade from the crest of Big Savage Mountain at high speed without effective brakes. A secondary cause cited was faulty driving.

Renewed Vigor

Aside from recommending renewed vigor in the enforcement of systematic inspection and maintenance of all essential parts of motor vehicles used in interstate commerce, the ICC offers a second recommendation.

It reads:

"The large commercial motor vehicle of today is not a simple machine which can safely be driven by anyone able to start, stop and steer it on good level roads when all parts are functioning perfectly. Its great weight makes it incumbent on the driver to exercise sound judgment when operating on mountain roads. Its braking equipment is complex and must be thoroughly understood if the driver is to use it effectively under all conditions and is ready to recognize symptoms of malfunctioning.

"Every motor carrier is required by Section 191.4 to use only drivers who have had sufficient experience and training to operate safely each type of vehicle he drives. The required training must include instruction in methods of meeting such special problems as may stem from the characteristics of the highways to be traveled, as well as a detailed explanation of the brake system on each vehicle or combination to be driven, and instructions in the functioning and the use of such brake system."

Driving Third Day

The report states that the accident occurred on the third day that Paul Stewart Myers Jr., 25, RFD 2, Dover, Pa., had been driving the truck.

On October 14, 1955 he was laid off at the Standard Steel Company, York, Pa., because of a reduction in force. His record with the company was deemed satisfactory.

He began driving for Ray Wells, also of Dover, Pa., the following Monday, October 17, although he had driven tractor-semitrailer combinations since 1951. The vehicle was operating in the service of Daniels Motor Freight, Inc., under a "permanent" lease arrangement with Wells.

Myers picked up a load of freight in Baltimore October 17 and delivered the load to a consignee in Cleveland, Ohio, the next day. He was returning from Warren, Ohio, with a 40,910 pound load of galvanized sheet steel bound for Lonaconing when the accident occurred.

The report also discloses that Wells himself had wrapped the air-hose to the right rear brake chamber of the tractor with friction tape to prevent its being burned by the exhaust pipe. Inspection of the hose after the accident revealed, however, that the tape itself had been severely burned and chafed by contact with the exhaust pipe over an extended period of time and the hose beneath the tape and near it was burned, hardened and cracked.

"The faulty condition of this air hose should have been apparent to any competent mechanic upon visual inspection before the accident," the report stated.

Bridges To Take Most Of Flood Bond Money

$600,000 Issue To Be Sold Jan. 31

The City of Cumberland will sell a $600,000 flood control bond issue next Tuesday.

The greater part of the money will be needed to pay for the new Baltimore and Market Street bridges, and most of the rest will go to pay local costs in connection with the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project which is slated for completion in 1958.

About $300,000 of the new flood control issue will be needed to build the new Baltimore Street Bridge and to advance to the government local costs connected with Section IV of the Wills Creek channel improvement program, slated to be advertised about March.

$270,000 For Bridge

The city's share of the final section of the creek channel is estimated at about $30,000. The Baltimore Street Bridge, which the city has asked the Corps of Engineers to build as part of the job, will cost in the neighborhood of $270,000. About $25,000 of this represents the cost of a temporary bridge which will be built to keep traffic moving during construction.

The new flood control bonds must also provide about $90,000, the balance on the city's share of construction costs of Channel Sections II and III, which got under way recently.

Most of the rest of the money will be needed to finance the Market Street Bridge, now under construction. The span is being built under a $179,963 contract. The city has already paid for the plans, but engineering and contingency costs may boost the figure by about 10 per cent.

$2,500,000 Spent

The city's Flood Control fund, which is depleted after the expenditure of $1½ millions of city and $1 million of county funds, will be boosted slightly when the government turns over its share of the cost of some properties purchased jointly for the city and the government, according to Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor.

The city's share of other contracts to be let on the project total about $45,000, not including land and right of way costs.

Fire Engineering Has Account Of LaVale Tragedy

An account of the highway tragedy of October 19, 1955, in which five persons were killed in LaVale when a runaway tractor-trailer went out of control descending Big Savage mountain, roared through Frostburg and hit two vehicles in LaVale appears in the January issue of Fire Engineering.

The publication is the journal of the fire protection profession since 1877. The local story appears on the feature page headed "The Watch Desk," overhauling the fire news of the day.

Mayor Roy Eves To End Service With Railroad

Testimonial Dinner To Be Held March 8

Mayor Roy W. Eves will be honored on March 8 at a testimonial dinner marking his retirement as superintendent of the Bolt and Forge Shops here and from the service of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The dinner will be held March 8 at 6:30 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club and will follow a reception held in his honor at 6 p. m.

T. J. Klauenberg, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, will be general chairman for the testimonial event, with W. N. Kaylor, assistant superintendent of the Bolt and Forge Shop as co-chairman. J. H. Brown will be secretary and J. J. Carney Jr., treasurer.

Mayor Eves, official B & O retirement will take place on March 11 when he becomes 70. He will actually end his official duties in mid-February, when a three-weeks vacation begins.

Mayor Eves has had over 40 years of service with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, starting as an electrician at the Chillicothe, Ohio, shops.

He has been a resident of Maryland for 29 years and is in his 26th year as a citizen of Cumberland. During this time he has served as superintendent of the Bolt and Forge Shop. At the time of consolidation of the Rolling Mill and the Bolt and Forge Shop six years ago, he was made superintendent of shops.

At the time Eves came to Cumberland in October 1930 there were less than 100 men employed in the Bolt and Forge shop. This force was gradually built up to 600 men through a plan to provide employment for the many furloughed B & O employes here.

This program was building freight cars in various company shops with material manufactured in the Cumberland shops. Additional machinery was also provided to permit the manufacture and repair of car and locomotive parts previously obtained from other sources.

He was born in Evansville, Ind., March 11, 1886. He and Mrs. Eves reside at 101 Washington Street.

Active in civic affairs, he has served as president of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Cumberland Engineers' Club, the Salvation Army Advisory Board and chairman of the Allegany County Welfare Board.

He was elected mayor of Cumberland in 1952 and was reelected for a four-year term in 1954.

Woman Burned In Home Fire

A local resident who burned her arm when a small frame house in the rear of 906 Gay Street caught fire yesterday morning was given first aid by firemen of South End Company who answered the call.

Firemen said the cause of the blaze at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Dittlywick was an overheated stove.

Mrs. Dittlywick, in an attempt to extinguish the fire, burned her arm. South End firemen, who received the call at 10:20 a. m., said the ceiling around the kitchen stove was scorched.

In another call yesterday afternoon, South End firemen checked an emergency when the water line at 29 West Roberts Street broke.

After arriving on the scene they cut off the water supply in front of the house until repairs could be made. The call was received at 2:50 p. m.

Parking Situation Plans Aired At Ridgeley Meet

Plans for alleviating hazardous parking and easing the traffic situation in Ridgeley were discussed at length this week during a special meeting of the Mayor and Council of that community.

City officials decided on several proposed plans and have submitted them to the town attorney, Harry Drane, to formulate into ordinances.

Mayor Charles H. Fryer said that following the discussion period he and the members of the council decided to curtail parking on the right-hand side of Main Street from Mineral Street to the city limits.

Parking on Main Street from Mineral Street to the city limits will be restricted on the left side to loading and unloading purposes with a 10-minute limit, Mayor Fryer added.

It was also decided to make Knobley Street one-way from Mineral Street to Second Avenue. A similar plan of one-way traffic on Lyons Street from Potomac Street to Blocker Street was decided upon.

Mayor Fryer said the plans have been submitted to Attorney Drane who will draw up the necessary ordinances. They will be read at three council meetings and then go into effect.

Baltimore Pike Firemen Answer Nine 1955 Alarms

The Baltimore Pike Volunteer Fire Company responded to nine fire calls during 1955 but no chargeable financial loss resulted, according to the annual activity report of Harry M. DeHaven, chief, and J. Bruner, assistant chief.

There were three house fire alarms in the list but one of them was to assist Flintstone and another to aid District 16 at North Branch. A flue fire December 15 was in the district but it was so slight that no loss was suffered. Three grass fires, two forest fires and one automobile fire also were extinguished by the Baltimore Pike firemen.

Other activities cited in the report included participation in five parades between June 9 and October 26. The Baltimore Pike firemen also provided stand-by service for the sports car races at the Cumberland Airport. One fire drill also was cited in the record.

DeHaven reported that the fire apparatus was kept busy during the last three or four months of 1955 hauling water to families whose cisterns or well had gone dry. No record of these trips was kept.

The chief also noted in his report that in the five years he has been chief $1,427.80 has been spent for new equipment. Chief items included $540 for a portable pump, two sections of suction hose and control valve for the pump, $250 for a two-way radio set for the truck and $150 for 150 feet of one-inch booster hose. Six coats, helmets and six pairs of firemen's boots also were listed.
